QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his question of privilege.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the matter will be submitted for the consideration of the Speaker, and for the consideration of the House.

Custom, Mr. Speaker, is the greatest law; indeed, custom is law. We build up certain lines of procedure in this House, an honorable tradition, a tradition which no member of this body, not even the Speaker, is privileged to violate.

Whether or not the Speaker is guilty of discourtesy to the membership, is the matter I submit.

Indeed, I raise the question of whether he can with propriety preside today. On all previous occasions, from the time since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, the Speaker of this House has appeared properly appareled with a carnation in his buttonhole. That carnation was a tribute, not only to the asthetic sense of this membership, but I have no doubt was also a tribute to the galaxy of beauty which surrounds the membership of this House, and for you, Mr. Speaker, simply because there are only a few members here, to appear without your carnation, I raise the question of whether the Speaker has been intentionally discourteous to the membership.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that he is sufficiently embarrassed without any reference being made by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. It was only when the Speaker arrived on the second floor this morning, in the rush to be here at the minute of twelve, that he discovered that the apparel he usually carries was lacking. It was too late to secure one. The florist evidently had forgotten his standing order. Therefore, the Speaker slunk into the House feeling just the same as if he had come with only parts of his dress.

RESOLUTION

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

Mr. STOCKHAM offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted:

In the House of Representatives, May 5, 1939.

Yesterday there came to a member of this House the news of the death of his sister-in-law.

Mrs. Arline McKinney of Bartlesville, Oklahoma, wife of a brother of the Hon. John H. McKinney of Venango County, died on May 4th at her home in Bartlesville, therefore be it Resolved, That the members of this House hereby extend to the Hon. John H. McKinney their most sincere sympathy upon the loss which has come to him and direct the Chief Clerk of this House to transmit to him a copy of this resolution.

INTERROGATION

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin, the majority floor leader of the House, advise this House if he has received any communication or has been in touch with the Secretary of Forests and Waters regarding the report which the Secretary of Forests and Waters is supposed to make to this House on the policy of flood control?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I have not contacted the Secretary of Forests and Waters personally, nor do I know of any communication that was directed personally to me concerning the resolution. There are a lot of communications on my desk that I haven't examined personally.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, does the majority leader of the House feel that the Secretary of Forests and Waters should be permitted to make statements to the press on the program of flood control and completely ignore this House, when we have requested that he make a report to the House?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Allegheny would be one of the first men in this House to object if we were to suggest that any man did not have the right to say anything concerning any subject to the press. This is the good sound American principle of free speech in which we all believe.

ADDRESS BY MR. HOLLAND

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on March 24, six weeks ago, this House passed a Resolution requesting the Secretary of Forests and Waters to make a report of the conditions, accomplishments, and expenditures of the Flood Control Fund. We have not had any report from Mr. Stewart up to date. Although Mr. Stewart continues to make numerous statements through the press, on the State's stand on Flood Control, no doubt Mr. Stewart feels that this Honse does not rate this report. I think the members of this House are entitled to a statement that definitely defines this Administration's position and future activities in controlling the flood waters of Pennsylvania, and I believe that when this statement is issued that the Governor of this State should give his executive approval to this statement for after what has happened in the House this week, when the majority leader of this House stated that the relief bill passed by this House was the illegitimate child of his party and that no member of the Republican party would admit his parentage to the Bill. We do not want this to happen on the Flood Control program. Surely the Governor can make one decision and be held responsible, for the decision on Flood Control is a decision that means the saving of life and property in this Commonwealth.

Mr. Stewart speaking at the annual dinner of the North Boroughs Sportsmen Association in Pittsburgh tried to convey the thought to the people of Pittsburgh that his interest was in the people of Pittsburgh only—as he stated, "However, if we can permit the Government to exercise complete control over our waters, the result might be that cities like Pittsburgh will have to go on bended knees some day to the Government for permission to obtain drinking water supply." I do not believe that it will be necessary for me to even comment on this statement. It certainly shows ignorance and lack of knowledge of Federal laws regarding the control of our rivers that have been on the books at Washington for 50 years. He also further quotes in his address that water under Federal control might be diverted to other states.

Now after these statements were made by Mr. Stewart, he was answered by Congressman Snyder, Chairman of the Congressional Sub-committee on Flood Control, who pointed out that if Secretary Stewart continues his stand, and I believe it is more of a utility one, Pennsylvania would be deprived of $16,000,000, their share of Flood Control money. Of course, I must admit that this State is controlled politically by the utilities, for in Governor James' and Sec. Stewart's stand that the Federal Government might develop hydro-electric power, they are only running true to form and carrying out more protection to the utilitles as they have given them in the question of exempting them from taxation on their real estate. Of course, our utilities must be protected as their money is needed in political campaigns and political favors must be paid back.

Yesterday, Mr. Stewart who refuses to take time out in his attack on the Federal Government to make a report on Flood Controls of this House, again makes a few asinine statements. This time he was not talking in Pittsburgh, and like a true politician, makes political statements that he knows applies to the district in which he is trying to gain favor. Mr. Stewart, in speaking of plans to impound the waters of the Allegheny River for Flood Control, stated that he felt that some consideration was due communities called upon to make sacrifice "in order that the people of Pittsburgh might gain benefit," he was referring to the loss of taxes by local community by the acquisition of land for Flood Reservoirs. However, this House persists in exempting the dams owned by the water companies of Pennsylvania. So again I say to Mr. Stewart, why don't you raise your voice over the loss of real estate taxes by water companies who make excessive profits on our water resources? However, I want to point out that when Mr. Stewart was in Pittsburgh talking he tried to convey the impression that his stand on Flood Control was taken to protect the people of Pittsburgh, when he gets away from Pittsburgh, he tries to convey the impression to the rest of the State that the only city profiting from Flood Control is Pittsburgh. Mr. Stewart also states, "Such reservations as we may ask will not affect or hamper Flood Control in the least, but will be only such as will protect what we can see to the interests of the people of our Commonwealth." I wonder what he means by "we" as he refuses to take this House as well as the Senate into his conferences. Maybe the "we" means James, Stewart and the utilities. Now in this morning's Pittsburgh paper, an editor who knows nothing of what he is talking about, heads their editorial "Suspicious New Threat to Flood Control" and goes on to say that "there is something suspicious about the regularity with which attacks from Washington crop up just when it appears as if everything were going alright for Flood Control." I wonder if this paper knows that the Federal change in the Flood Control plans resulted in this Governor's permitting $2,900,000 appropriated to Flood Control to lapse and be placed in the General Fund. I wonder if this paper also knows that the control of rivers is held by the Federal Government and has always been held by the Federal Government. Does this paper know that Pennsylvania and the peanut State, Vermont, through their Governors who are trying to get National publicity as presidential nominees are the only two States who have been objecting and their objections are based solely on their desire to protect utility interest. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I think it is the duty of the majority leader of this House to see that the Secretary of Forest and Waters immediately discontinue giving statements to every other person in Pennsylvania on his stand on Flood Control—until he gives the members of this House a complete report as demanded by the resolution passed unanimously by this House. This session, I understand, and again I only know what I read in the papers, will close in ten days. No more time should be wasted by the Secretary of Forest and Waters in getting this report to the House promptly. Certainly six weeks should be sufficient time to have his report approved by the utilities.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for the benefit of the gentleman from Allegheny I feel it is only fair to say to the members of the House that the Secretary of Forests and Waters assured me that this report will be forthcoming. I introduced the resolution in good faith and I am sure such a report will be forthcoming, but I don't know on what date.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, who art wisdom and understanding and without whose help both Capital and Labor are useless, without whose light search for reasonable and permanent mediation upon all matters of controversy are vain, let Thy truth and righteousness prevail today in, perhaps, one of the most bitterly-fought battles in the history of organized labor.

Is this conference convened with the high goal of bettering labor conditions or is it merely to gain the ascendency to greater power for the further bartering of real American labor and the trafficking in the further subjugation of the laborer's destiny for the enhancement of a leader's ungodly ambition? Should women and children suffer especially in paying the price of another great strike in the bituminous coal fields when the status of our unemployment is already staggeringly tragic? O God, have we already arrived, in this land of freedom and independence, at the unthinkable position that men who want to work to support their families and take their rightful places in society are arbitrarily denied that privilege by a few whose Americanism has long been challenged?

God give us men in high places who are humble enough to ask Divine guidance; who are wise enough to open wide the windows of their spirits and be filled full of light; who will put on the whole armor of God, stand fast in the faith, quit themselves like men, be strong; men who love Thee and our country who gave them birth either physical or political or both, that our land may not be shackled by the practice of any other "ism" except Americanism.

God help us to return to the fundamentals of the simple faith and practice in our daily lives for only by putting "first things first" may we be able to set right a dislocated society. We pray in the name of Him who said:—"I am the light of the world." Amen.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 456, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That section one article nine of the Constitution of Pensylvania is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Except as hereinafter specifically provided all taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects with the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax and shall be levied and collected under general laws but the General Assembly may by general laws exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes actual places of religious worship places of burial not used or held for private or corporate profit institutions of purely public charity and real and presonal property owned occupied and used by any branch post or camp of honorably discharged soldiers sailors and marines

Income inheritance and estate taxes shall be levied and collected under general laws but such laws may grant exemptions and may impose graded or graduated rates but no intangible personal property shall be subject to any other State or local tax either on income or capital values during any time that the income therefrom is taxed under any law imposing an income tax on individuals

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President and members of this Senate, when this bill, No. 456, was before the Senate last week I was advised by some of my wiser friends to say nothing. I said nothing and the bill failed by two votes; and therefore, on this occasion I am going to say something.

I do not mind revealing the secret that this is a graduated income tax bill but there is no thought of imposing an income tax on top of personal property tax.

There is a joint resolution which has passed the Senate by only two votes and, I hope is on its way through the House, and it will come up to a vote in 1939; and if approved by them would open the door for the repeal of the personal property tax and, therefore, open the door for a subsequent graduated income tax. This is the first call and, therefore, has to be passed by a subsequent legislative session and will not come before the voters until 1941. Therefore, you have ample opportunity to change your minds if you do not like it.

Thirty-six states have a graduated income tax and only one, Louisiana, has any limit, and that state has a limit of six per cent, which we have taken out.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, does this amendment remove intangible personal property from the assessed valuation for taxing purposes?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the final paragraph is the important one: "Income inheritance and estate taxes shall be levied and collected under general laws but such laws may grant exemptions and may impose graded or graduated rates but no intangible personal property shall be subject to any other State or local tax—"

Does that answer the question of the Senator from Fayette?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the question is this: In the making up of assessed valuation for taxing purposes, like in the City of Philadelphia, personal property is added to the assessed valuation of real estate for taxing purposes.

Mr. WOODWARD. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will this amendment to the constitution eliminate personal property from that arrangement?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the former joint resolution, which is now in the House, separated personal property items from real estate items for borrowing purposes and, therefore, enables us to get rid of the personal property tax in order to open the door for the income tax. You certainly do not want an income tax on top of personal property tax.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, that may be true, but at the same time I cannot see why we ought to make a distinction between the man who owns $10,000 worth of intangible personal property and the man who might own $10,000 worth of real estate. The only difference in those two natures of properties is that the man who owns $10,000 worth of stocks and bonds can take those and hide them in a safety deposit box, and the man that owns real estate worth $10,000 cannot put that in a safety deposit box, and the tax collector and the levying powers seize upon it. Now, if this amendment has the tendency to eliminate intangible personal property from the same classification as real estate, I think it is a very bad amendment to make to the constitution.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not think it is the intention of these amendments to prohibit the taxing of personal property by the city?

Mr. WOODWARD. No, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, whether that would follow or not, after the passage of these amendments, would depend upon whether or not the other amendment passes.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, there are two personal property taxes, the local and the State.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does not my colleague from Philadelphia think it would be much better to amend this Act to provide that personal property shall not be taxed where an income tax is passed.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I think this language covers it pretty well.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I do not think so, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the bill states: "No intangible personal property shall be subject to any other State or local tax—"

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, under those circumstances does not the Senator think it would be better by amendment to remove the words "or local?"

Mr. WOODWARD. Personally, Mr. President, I believe in these words. I think the dependence of the locality upon the personal property tax—we all know, it is very badly collected in the counties and is uncertain in its returns. And I am equally opposed to the State tax and the local tax.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am heartily in favor of the amendments proposed but I also know that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania prohibits the counties from taxing the same subject matters that the State taxes.

If we are going to prohibit the counties from taxing the same subject matters and then prohibit the county from taxing other matters, I think we are going to run into difficulties where we are trying to manage the budgets of the particular localities.

If the other amendment passes to which the gentleman has referred, that might save us some trouble; but if we pass this amendment in its present form and then we do not pass amendments eliminating personal property from the borrowing capacity, I am sure my colleague, the gentleman from Philadelphia, can see the difficulty we are in.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

I therefore ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 456 go over in its order; but suggest that we consider, between now and tomorrow, the question of amending the bill so as to remove such a difficulty.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

Section 4 This Act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill originally gave the right to State authorities—to local authorities, rather, to engage in water projects and sewer projects. It was then amended so as to make the bonds of those authorities subjects of investment for trust funds. It was then amended to make these bonds negotiable instruments. And then it was amended to take out the trust fund portion, so that these bonds are no longer investments for trust funds. Now it is amended so as to include not only the purchase of water works from municipalities but also from private owners.

Ordinarily this bill might not mean anything but if you read the rest of the bills that are coming through the Senate, there was one bill that came from the House last week which makes these bonds, municipal authority bonds, proper for deposit to secure bank deposits.

In other words, there is a bill—I think it is 1114 or 1144—coming from the House which provides that the deposits of State money in banks in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh may be secured by authority bonds or even by tax anticipation notes.

If we pass these bills and we continue to allow these State authorities to issue these bonds we will find ourselves in a position where we just as well might have permitted the amendment in the bill; and I think this bill is a bad bill because it does not stand alone but is aligned with other bills that are coming over to the Senate for passage, which will make the bonds acceptable as security—give the State a great deal of security which may turn out to be of no value, and for that reason I am voting against this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it may be that some of the Senators might find it necessary to vote for this bill but I cannot let this bill pass without saying a word in condemnation of the whole principle that is in back of this bill.

Last year we passed in the Special Session—included in the call for the Special Session and passed in that Session—a bill which provided for the State taking over the care, the absolute responsibility for the care of, insane persons. I think that was a step in the right direction—all socially minded people will agree with that—I think it was time the State did it. As a matter of fact it should have done it long ago.

Most of the local institutions are run in a very bad manner—and to put it that way is to put it mildly. The institution in Philadelphia was a disgrace to the community, and with all due respect to my colleagues who come from different counties, I say also that some of the institutions in their districts are also a disgrace to their counties.

During an investigation that was held in Philadelphia in connection with these matters we received information from institutions in other counties which will prove the fact I am stating now. There are many reasons for that, the most important one of which is that the counties do not have the money with which to furnish proper care for the institutions. Some other reasons are, the political affiliations of those in charge with the local communities so that most of the institutions are run on the basis of political appointments. That was true of Philadelphia and it is true elsewhere.

I want to say here now that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will rue the day that it began to carry out the program which the Governor has inaugurated, namely, to reverse that position and to defer for another two years the taking over of those institutions by the Commonwealth. I hope it will not happen, but I am afraid within two years there will be repercussions from this action which will be a disgrace to the Commonwealth, and as the only way I can voice my protest I am going to vote "no" on this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 537

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 537, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one article eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was defeated.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I voted "nay."

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I voted "nay."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I move that this bill be sent back to committee. I cannot understand why an income tax bill should be tied up with a personal property tax in any way; we do not know what the emergency may be in our State in the future.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, may I correct the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis? He has the wrong bill.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am sorry; I will withdraw the motion.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I would like the Senator from Philadelphia to explain the contents of the bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it is all in the last paragraph, paragraph 4: "If twenty-two years of age and upwards he or she shall have paid within two years a county, municipal or school tax which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election."

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, what is the purpose of this bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I do not want to make the same speech I made before. I stood up here last week and spoke a few words in behalf of the underprivileged rich, the people who pay the taxes. I also said there were fifty-one per cent of the people who had savings funds or insurance and had some stake in the government, and forty-nine per cent who did not—approximately those percentages—and that anyone who owned anything—either a small capitalist or a large capitalist, ought to be interested in having some limit to those who have the right to vote—it is certainly apparent what it is all about. Of course if you do not like it you will vote against it.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, what will happen to those people who are unable to pay that money?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, of course in most counties they have an occupation tax which is very small —I think it is fifty cents or seventy-five cents—we do not have it in Philadelphia—and of course that will enable them to vote.

Mr. STIEFEL. As a matter of fact, Mr. President, that will be a drain on the political parties?

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, Mr. President, I do not understand what the Senator means.

Mr. STIEFEL. Well, Mr. President, I mean the politicians will pay the tax.

Mr. WOODWARD, Well, Mr. President, that has been done in the past.

Mr. STIEFEL. Why should it be permitted in the future, Mr. President?

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, Mr. President, the issue is very plain, of course.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if I understood the argument of the gentleman from Philadelphia when he spoke about this bill last week he said one of his reasons for introducing this bill was that there were too many voters. I, of course, cannot go along with that proposition in a Democracy.

I believe it was the Hamiltonian concept of government to have fewer voters and restrict them to a certain class.

It was well known, in the old days, when we had the so-called poll tax, that those who were able to spend large sums of money paid the poll tax of many voters and thereby were able to control their votes. I think when we repealed that Act we came down to a good democratic form of government. Nobody should ever take away from the citizen his right to vote, and predicating his right to vote upon an ability to spend money or pay taxes is not, of course, my conception of a Democratic form of government.

Whether it be fifty cents or one dollar, or whatever it may be—there is not restriction in the act to set any minimum amount, to be set up by the counties, and this is the first nail to be driven into the coffin of those persons who are on relief because of economic conditions should be deprived of their greatest privilege—the right to vote.

I think all decent Americans should vote against this bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate my distinguished colleague from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is it not true that poll tax requirements were repealed two years ago?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. And, Mr. President, this will restore the same situation?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to say a word in connection with this bill, which I think is of serious import. My experience in practical politics has shown every time you have a poll tax imposed the committeeman goes around and pays the tax for the people who are too poor to pay it—we know that when we repealed the poll tax law, and we did it because we got tired of having evasions of the law and making the so-called poor people dependent on the committeeman. I think we had a great deal of experience on that bill. It was because of our past experience that we thought we would be better off without such a law, and now to restore that condition again seems to be rather an anomaly. That situation became unendurable.

We have lived under the new situation only a few years and I think it is a much better sight to see these ladies and gentlemen walking into the polling place without being stopped a block away by a committeeman, and having him talk to them a few minutes and then having a shaking of the hand—and the knowledge on the part of most of us—although we cannot prove it—that the poll tax was being paid by somebody else.

This will restore the same condition which we wiped out and I do not think we ought to make it easy for a crime to be committed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, as I understand from the argument of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, last week, he said, I believe, something to this effect: that the greater percentage of voters that cast votes are non-property holders—in other words, non-taxpayers.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I said there were too many voters.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know the Senator said there were too many voters.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I did not say the other thing.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, would it be reasonable to assume that the Senator from Philadelphia would take the attitude that only property owners should vote?

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, Mr. President, I think this occupation tax—I know a man and his wife right here in Harrisburg who pay an occupation tax, amounting to less than a dollar for the two of them, and I do not think that is a very great hardship.

Mr. DENT. Except, Mr. President, when the person does not have the dollar.

Mr. WOODWARD. I consider the occupation tax a very small tax. Yes, I believe people, who have a stake in the Government, ought to have some preference in voting.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, then the Senator from Philadelphia believes that the person owning property should be given preference in voting?

Mr. WOODWARD. I do not think this taxicab driver owns anything. He does not own anything and his children are going to school. He does not own anything—his wife has to pay, I think, ninety-seven cents.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, does he have to pay rent?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, he pay taxes.

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President does he buy cigarettes and other things?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, he pays taxes.

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Now, Mr. President, we are getting around to the question I wanted answered in the first place. Does the Senator from Philadelphia personally believe a person ought to own property before he or she be permitted to vote?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I object to "owning property." That is misleading. I think everyone who votes should pay something for the privilege of voting. They do not necessarily have to own property—it may be a poll tax or an occupation tax. It is a very unpopular position to be in, I admit that. You can tear it to shreds, but when you go home and are in the confines of your own home, you will know that I am right.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, of course, I cannot say that, in the privacy of my home, I would prescribe to that political philosophy. However, the Senator has answered the question by saying that a person in order to vote should pay for the privilege. That, I repeat, is not my idea of a Democratic government, so I will enjoy the privilege of voting "No."

The PRESIDENT. The vote is on the motion to recommit the bill to committee.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, are we now voting on the bill or on the motion?

The PRESIDENT. We are now voting on the motion to recommit.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I submit that has already been decided. The motion to recommit was made in error and then withdrawn.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct. The vote is on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "No."

The PRESIDENT. It will be so recorded.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—26

Bartlett,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Stevenson,

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 22, entitled:

An Act to prohibit the sale offering or exposing for sale of fireworks defining fireworks and authorizing cities boroughs towns and townships to regulate the manner of using fireworks therein and providing penalties

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Senator James.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Bucks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, on today's calendar, on page eight, there is a bill at the top of the page, Senate Bill 619, Printer's No. 642. I desire to ask the gentleman from Bucks whether that bill contains the same provisions as Senate Bill No. 22, now before the Senate for final action.

Mr. JAMES. It does, Mr. President. The two bills contain the same provision. The other bill was passed by the House and contains the same provisions as Senate Bill No. 22.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, in view of the statement made by the gentleman from Bucks to the effect that these two fireworks bills are the same, and that the bill on page eight, known as the Hamilton-Tahl Bill, has already passed the House, while the bill on page three, now under consideration, and known as Senate Bill No. 22, has not yet been in the House, I am willing, in order to save time and be sure that we get a bill passed, to have my bill go over in its order, and pass the Hamilton-Tahl Bill that is also on tonight's calendar.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL NO. 22 GO OVER IN ITS ORDER

Mr. REED. Now, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 22 go over in its order and that Senate Bill No. 619, on page eight of the calendar, be called up.

The PRESIDENT. I think we had better dispose of the bill of the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed and then I think the Senate will agree to consider the other bill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Washington permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I just want to ask the Senator from Washington if he has any objection to passing both of these bills, and I wish to call his attention to the fact that the House Bill has been amended, so that it will require action by the House on the House Bill, and I suggest to him that the House will then have the privilege of accepting either one of these bills.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I am a little afraid of that procedure. I am afraid there will be a mixup and we will not get either one. In view of the fact that bill, the Hamilton-Tahl bill, has already passed the House, and even though the House will have to pass upon the amendments, it is pretty much a matter of short procedure and I believe the better practice would be—and I hope the Senate takes this view—to put my bill over in its order and take action on the other bill in order that we may be sure that this bill is passed at this Session.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator from Washington.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Washington permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, will the Senator object to considering this bill, if it does go over in its order, immediately after the passage of the House Bill, so that we act on both of them?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, in answer to the question of the Senator from Tioga, I see no need of passing two bills that are identical.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill going over in its order for the present.

The PRESIDENT: The Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, moves that Senate Bill No. 22 go over in its order.

Is there objections? The Chair hears none.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 619, (House Bill No. 305), on page 8 of the Calendar of third reading bills.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 619, (House Bill No. 305), entitled:

An Act relating to fireworks defining fireworks prohibiting the sale offering or exposing for sale and use of fireworks except in certain cases, authorizing cities, boroughs, towns and townships to issue permits for fireworks displays and to regulate the same imposing duties on the Pennsylvania Motor Police sheriffs police officers and constables and providing penalties

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—45

Bartlett,	Frey,	Lanius,	Scarlett,
Chapman,	Gelder,	Letzler,	Shapiro,

NAYS—2

Cavalcante,	Haluska,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 50, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article twelve of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I regret having to appear so often on these bills—it is no fault of my own—and I would like to announce to the Senate that this is a Joint Resolution, and the final section provides, "Appointments and promotions in the civil service of the State Government shall be according to merit and fitness, to be ascertained so far as practicable by competitive examination."

Now, anyone that wants to may vote for this. Of course, civil service is on the up-grade and also, it is a very interesting fact, if you look into the Constitution of Pennsylvania, Article 18, you will find a no-man's land, and in that no-man's land there is an amendment to the Constitution, which was adopted twenty-four years ago. Now, the Legislature never took advantage of this amendment which was to enforce the merit system, and for twenty-four years it has been dormant in the Constitution, and if you do not vote for this Senate Bill No. 50—if you do not want civil service, then this amendment can lie dormant twenty-four more years in no-man's land.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Yes, sir, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, since I have been here in Harrisburg I have always noticed the sponsor of legislation pertaining to civil service is the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward—I take it he believes in it.

Mr. WOODWARD. I do, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the Senator from Philadelphia state whether it makes any difference whether civil service is sponsored by Democrats or Republicans.

Mr. WOODWARD. No, Mr. President, it does not.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, I take it the Senator from Philadelphia will vote against the civil service ripper in the Van Allsburg bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. I will, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—47.

Kostellow, whose term expired.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I am also reporting out all of the County Boards of Public Assistance, with certain exceptions which are indicated. The Governor, in sending over these nominations, sent on one sheet three counties, Erie, McKean and York. I am asking that these be confirmed today, and on the other lists I am going to make a motion that they lay on the table, except as to Chester County, about which there is a special request for confirmation. All the other boards, excepting Erie, McKean, York and Chester will be laid on the table.

CONSIDERATION OF EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of nominations appointment as Notaries Public, sent to the Senate, May 8, 1939 by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, also nominations just reported from Committee.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. EDMONDS and Mr. HOMSHER that Rule 38 which requires nominations made by the Governor be referred to an appropriate committee be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting on the foregoing nominations.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. EDMONDS and Mr. HOMSHER that the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Somerset desire that the Senate act separately in confirming these nominations.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I suggest the first name be read.

The PRESIDENT. The clerk will read the first nomination from the Governor.

Kostellow, whose term expired.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination just read?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I suggest that all these nominations be taken up, except the Boards of Assistance, and that we take them up separately.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the nomination of Mr. Cret, as an architect for the Art Commission in Philadelphia, is to fill a vacancy that exists at the present time and I ask my colleagues to support that nomination.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to know what the preference is, whether the Senator from Somerset wants them taken up singly or acted on together.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think as the gentleman from Somerset calls them up, we should act on them separately.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Paul T. Cret, as Member of the State Art Commission?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—47

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, there are two counties where there is just one name to each.

The PRESIDENT. In order that there will be no mistake the Chair is going to request that the Journal Clerk read the nominations of the counties as he took them down and the way on which they will be voted.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask, if there is no objection, that we vote for all counties as one as they have been read off.

The PRESIDENT. That will be satisfactory but we want to read them off so that there will be no errors.

The Clerk will repeat the counties on which we are acting.

The Clerk read the following:

Adams

Berks
Blair
Bradford
Bucks
Cumberland
Carbon

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "present."

The PRESIDENT. It will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to explain my vote and I think in making this explanation I am speaking for most of the members on this side of the House. This, in my opinion, is a right-about-face to the position we have taken before on these nominations, and I do not mind saying so because those are the facts, but in the main this is done because there is a great deal of agitation and some legislation which we will be called upon to discuss very shortly in connection with the local boards.

I call attention to the members on the other side and to my colleagues, some of whom are aware of several instances where Boards suggested by the Governor are in violation of the provision of the law that requires all of the members of the Board shall not be of the same political faith, and yet in several instances there are seven members of a Board and seven of them are Republicans. Some of those named on these lists actively engage in politics. In several instances practically the majority of the Board are active in politics, either on patronage committees or in other ways politically engaged and politically known in the community in which they live; but in view of the effort being made in the Van Allsburg Bill to transfer control of relief of the various counties and in view of the fact that we do not want our attitude to be used as an excuse for the passage of this bill, and in view of the fact, if the Van Allsburg Bill passes, which I do not think it will—it will very soon develop that the making of appointments of this kind are bad and should not be made.

It is because of that feeling that these nominations are being confirmed. In some instances some are being withheld because of specific objections to a specific appointee. Investigation as to their qualification and standing is being made, but in the main these boards are political and the reason back of the Governor's own statement that politics should be kept out of relief will be soon found when these boards begin to work.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, there are three more Boards that have yet to be acted upon and I ask that they be taken up now. They are Butler, Mercer and Clinton Counties.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the nominations for the Counties of Butler, Mercer and Clinton—just those that have been approved:

BUTLER COUNTY

R. J. Ferguson, Butler, until December 31, 1941, vice Mrs. Florence C. Von Krogh.

J. Brady Murrin, Butler, until December 31, 1939, vice Mrs. Maude N. Patterson.

Ike Levy, Evans City, until December 31, 1940, vice Harry Daly.

Mrs. Daisy Riddle, Butler, until December 31, 1940, vice Mrs. Callie Knox.

Miss Helen Campbell, Butler, until December 31, 1940, vice Harry T. Rattigan.

Mrs. Anita Williams, Butler, until December 31, 1939, vice Mrs. Elizabeth L. Campbell.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I have just heard the Clerk read all of the nominations of the proposed new County Assistance Board of Butler County. The name of F. Carl Anderson has not been read, I assume for the reason that I have let it be known that I object to Mr. Anderson as a Member of the County Assistance Board of that County.

I want to make a record of my objection here for the Journal, along the same lines as I told the people of Butler County.

Mr. Carl Anderson is a friend of mine, he is a fine gentleman. However, he is one of the three members of the patronage committee of the Republican Party of Butler County. I want to save the new County Assistance Board of Butler County from itself. I want to save it from being open to the objection that it has too much political color, by having on it, as it would, if Mr. Anderson were confirmed, a member of the patronage committee of the Republican Party.

I would object to Mr. Anderson serving on the County Assistance Board even if he were a member of the patronage committee on the Democratic Party, and all that I ask of Mr. Anderson to receive my O. K. is simply to resign from the patronage committee of the Republican Party of that County, so it is up to him to say which he loves the more, being a member of the patronage committee or a member of the County Board of Assistance.

I repeat that I am trying to save the Board from criticism and I would make this same objection even if Mr. Anderson were a member of the patronage committee of my party.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will proceed to read the nomination of Mercer County:

MERCER COUNTY

R. E. English, Grove City, until December 31, 1941. (Reappointment)

Dr. W. W. Richardson, Mercer, until December 31, 1941. (Reappointment)

Chas. D. Rissel, Greenville, until December 31, 1940. Reappointment)

Mrs. Mildred Clark, Sharpsville, until December 31, 1939. (Reappointment)

Mrs. Jane Dear, Farrell, until December 31, 1940, vice Geo. Frankel.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will read the nominations for Clinton County;

CLINTON COUNTY

E. J. Culmann, Lock Haven, until December 31, 1941, vice George Betts.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "present."

The PRESIDENT. It will be so recorded.

Two-thrids of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered. That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the gentleman from Washington and myself have voted present on all of these Public Assistance Boards. I do not know the reason that the gentleman from Washington may have but I do wish to explain my vote "present." In addition to knowing that many of the persons appointed to those Public Assistance Boards are engaged in politics, I have specific information about my own board in Fayette county.

Shortly before the Governor made his nominations there came to my office a political ward heeler of my county and he told me that he had been sent to my office by the Republican County Chairman, that they were picking the persons for the Public Assistance Boards and that they had left one place vacant and they wanted me to name a Democratic woman that would be acceptable to the Republican County Chairman, and after I read the riot act to that Republican ward heeler, I assure you that he left my office in not as pleasant a mood as when he came in.

Then, a month or so after the Governor had made his appointment I had the pleasure to attend a political meeting in the form of a banquet tendered to the Republican County Chairman and at that meeting the Republican County Chairman publicly stated that he felt himself particularly honored that the Governor of this state had permitted him to select the persons on the Public Assistance Board and that they would be confirmed notwithstanding and objections by the Senator of that particular district.

Now, that is my reason for voting "present" on all these nominations. I want to be consistent with myself. When I know a thing to be wrong, I am not going to vote for it. Since I know that so many of these boards were selected purely on a political basis, and since I know that both parties—I mean the really good members of both parties—are opposed to politics in this relief administration, I would feel very much inconsistent with myself and the best interests of the people of the state should I vote for the confirmation of members of county boards whom I know were selected purely on a political basis.

I will not vote for anything that I know is wrong. I think that I speak also on that score the sentiments of my colleague from Washington county.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I had not intended to make any explanation of my vote on these confirmations, but in view of the fact that the Senator from Fayette has deemed it wise to say something on this important subject, I wish to have the opportunity of making a short explanation as to why I voted "present" on these confirmations.

Early in the session, when this question first came up, one of the members of the other side of the chamber made a long speech condemning the action of the Chief Executive in nominating certain persons to some of those boards. Later on I think the gentleman from Adams also voiced his objections to certain members on his board, and later in the session I think the gentleman from Cumberland likewise raised objections, and I think there were several other Senators made objections to some of the people who had been named for confirmation, and I think all of those objections were political in nature.

Now, in order to determine whether these statements were true, I introduced a resolution in the Senate asking that an investigation be made of the various persons nominated or suggested, and that resolution never received any action or any attention and so, Mr. President, I thought in view of the fact that politics can play such a disastrous part in the administration of welfare that I would take no part one way or the other, and for that reason I voted "present."

Mr. DEITRICK. Mr. President, in view of what has been said on the other side with regard to some of the remarks made on the floor of the Senate some months ago, I feel first I should say that after listening to the remarks of the Democratic floor leader I think that the Democrats themselves should be complimented on looking over the boards and feeling that so many of them really are fit to carry on the duties which will be required of them, should this Van Allsburg bill go through, in which we all know the duties of the board will be greatly increased should the Van Allsburg bill be passed.

There is still, of course, a reasonable doubt as to whether or not it will go through, but when the minority themselves go through and scrutinize the lists of the different boards and confirms so many of them, it seems to me they have taken a broad view, and feel the boards they have confirmed will not be political. I am also glad the Republicans feel where some of the boards are shown to be politically inclined that they should not be confirmed at this time.

Perhaps later on we can consider things in a way that would excuse the different members from the stigma of being termed political. I think it is definitely proven—we all know the different set ups in the different counties and we all know our own county best. As we know, the board of Northumberland county has been left out of ones that are being confirmed, and the reason is perhaps the remarks about different members of the board, who, in the opinion of the Senator from that particular district, is that they are more or less political, like the Senator from Armstrong said there was nothing personal—but one man on his board is a politician.

I think we should not lose sight of the fact that we ought to keep politics out of relief as much as possible, and I have not changed my attitude about that, but I do think the minority members should be congratulated on looking the lists over and saying they would go along with as many as they did.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy will state his question of information.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, do I understand that the record shows that the Committee did not make a report as to the members from the following counties: Cumberland, Allegheny, Cambria, Beaver, Lawrence, Northumberland, Fayette, Delaware, and as to the three nominations, one each on the boards of Clinton, Butler and Mercer counties, and that those nominations are still in the Executive Committee?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair may be in error, but the Chair so understands.

Are there any remarks on that question?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I want it understood I did not object to the members from Allegheny County. I do feel, however, that the administration are the parties responsible have made a grave blunder in protecting that board. While I feel they are all high class people such people as Ben Graham, Superintendant of Schools, was knocked off. As is well-known Allegheny County, especially the City of Pittsburgh, is known as the workshop of the world. We have three of the greatest rivers in the world; we have ten miles of bridges that cross those rivers; we have the grandest mines on earth, and as the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, said the the other night, we have the most beautiful women—we have universities there whose lovers kiss the heavens—Mr. Walker but my main complaint is this, that it being the workshop of the world there is not a single labor representative on that board.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PROCEED WITH FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF CALENDAR

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that we now proceed with further consideration of the Calendar.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 58, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph seven of section two of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1053) entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities defining as public utilities certain corporations companies associations and persons providing for the regulation of public utilities including to a limited extent municipalities engaging in public utilitic business by prescribing defining and limiting their duties powers and liabilities and regulating the exercise surrender or abandonment of their powers privileges and franchises defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons associations companies and corporations including to a limited extent municipal corporations subject to this act and administering the provisions of this act authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilities and affiliated interests and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued assumed or kept by persons associations companies corporations or municipal corporations subject to this act conferring upon the commission power to vary refirm or revise certain contracts conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction alteration relocation protection or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities and of such facilities by or over public highways to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities imposing upon persons associations companies and

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I examined this bill and discussed the subject matter of this bill with some people who know something about the situation, and I am told that there is no objection, no desire, even on the part of the Utilities Commission to deal with or take control or supervision over these agricultural carriers, but I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, to satisfy myself and decide if there has not been a mistake made. I desire to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the Senator from Tioga state whether it is not true it was the intent of this bill merely to exempt agricultural carriers from the supervision of the board?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, this bill was introduced by me primarily to take care of a situation which I know exists in my county, and I believe exists in many other counties of this state, where farmers who transport their own and neighboring farmers' products, such as milk and other farm products to market, have been required to take out a certificate from the Public Utilities Commission and file rates and take out cargo insurance, and they receive in many cases a great big envelope filled with questionnaires that take a Philadelphia lawyer—such as the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro—to even consider filling out—and we hope to relieve the farmers of the agricultural sections of this state of that tremendous burden and expense of requiring a certificate when they are merely transporting their farm products and those of their neighbors to market.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Is it not true, Mr. President, before these amendments were put in that the cooperative associations were exempt from that same procedure.

Mr. OWLETT. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, bear with me and follow the reading of this section and state whether, by his amendments, he is putting these cooperatives in again under the supervision. On page seven, line four, the section read, before the bill was prepared that:— "any bona fide cooperative association—" and it now reads: "any bona fide agricultural cooperative association"—does not that mean only agricultural associations are exempt and the others are now in?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, my understanding is from those who assisted in the drafting of these amendments that after the word "agricultural" there should be a comma, because it is not intended to take away the exemption on cooperative associations.

This act as it now reads is considerably different than the act as I first introduced it. In the first introduction of the act we amended the definition of public utilities and we have now concluded there should be an amendment, rather a definition, of the contract carrier rather than public utility and in order to make certain that the agricultural associations as well as the cooperative associations are exempt we added the word "agricultural" and in addition provided that "any owner or operator of a farm transporting agricultural products from or farm supplies to such farm or any independent contractor hauling agricultural products or farm supplies exclusively for one or more owners or operators of farms" are exempt.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it seems to me this is an important matter. I agree with the purpose of the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, but I think it would be much better and certainly clearer if this bill had said any bona fide agricultural association—not cooperative association. As it is now it will take more than a comma to clarify our intention, and I would suggest to the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, that he allow this bill to go over in its order in order that we can clear that up.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in view of the great interest of agricultural groups in this state in this bill, and with the assurance I now get from my friend, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, I will prepare amendments clarifying that section for introduction in the House—this is a Senate bill and we are approaching the end of the session—the bill was introduced early in the session and I would like to have it go through tonight.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think the amendment can be made tonight—the amendment can be dictated in five minutes time—and I do not think we should allow it to get into the muddle which will exist in the last days of the session.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I have no objection whatsoever to clarifying the matter to which our attention is called. These amendments were prepared, I understand, by the attorney for the Public Utility Commission, cooperating with the agricultural groups in preparing these amendments, and I hate to have it go over in its order—which will be necessary if we make the changes the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, suggests, and I am sure it can be taken care of,-and will be, in the House.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no particular interest and I will leave it entirely to the Senator from Tioga—except I will say in Philadelphia we have a number of cooperatives and I am afraid unless the amendment will be taken care of we will have them within the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission, but if the gentleman is sure it can be taken care of I will not insist—I merely wish to call the matter to the attention of the members of the Senate.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I observed when the gentleman from Tioga was making his statement that the President was speaking to someone else, but in his statement the gentleman from Tioga stated that when this bill was originally introduced it was to amend a definition of public utilities, and that now this bill, as it appears on our calendar, is a bill to amend not the definition of public utilities but adds a new section amending the definition of contract carriers and motor vehicles, and I submit under the constitution this amendment so changes the tenor of the bill that I at this time raise a point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his point of order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, at this time I raise the point of order that the amendment as stated by the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, as he has already placed it on the record—shows that the tenor of this bill has been changed by the amendment.

It is not now a bill to amend the definition of a public utility but it is a bill containing a new section and changing the definition of "contract carriers by motor vehicles."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I suggest that the point of order of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, is not well taken. This act amends section 1, which is the section containing the definition, and it still amends that section and it amends a section of the public utility act containing definitions.

Now, the purpose and the point of the bill is not changed by the amendments and the object is the same for which it was introduced, and I submit that the point of order of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, is not well taken.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President. I think that the gentleman from Fayette is correct when he says you cannot by amendment change the purpose of the bill, and it is true there has been an intention to change the definition of a common carrier, the bill states: "Shall exclude therefrom farmers who transport milk produced on their farms, together with milk produced by their neighbors, to factories or milk receiving stations"—and the new amendment does the very same thing, except change the definition of contract carriers—the purpose of the bill is not changed at all.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that the point of order raised by the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, is not well taken.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 293, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation out of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Highways for allocation to and expenditure in the second class townships of the Commonwealth for maintenance construction reconstruction resurfacing or improvement of township roads and bridges during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty and one thousand nine hundred forty-one permitting the use of the funds for maintenance and repair of township roads and bridges under certain conditions and providing for the method of payment to townships

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I wish to call the attention of my colleagues to the fact that this is a regular biennial appropriation of $8,500,000 for road purposes in the various townships of this Commonwealth. The law, or the appropriations made every biennium, contain the provision that after the money has been allocated to the supervisors that they shall exclude that amount from their annual budget, and I wish to call the attention of my colleagues to House Bill 443, which is on the calendar for passage today.

Now, House Bill 443 contains a provision that I refer to, section 5, on page 6 of House Bill 443. This section reads as follows:

"The Board of Supervisors of townships of the second class shall at the time of the adoption of the annual budget and at the time of fixing the road tax levy for the years 1938 and 1939 exclude from the said annual budget and tax levy for road and street puropses any provision for the maintenance and repair of the roads and bridges."

Now, Mr. President, that section was put in there so that this money appropriated by the State and allocated to the townships might inure to the benefit of the tax payer, that is, the real estate owner, the man who pays taxes on real estate.

Now, this bill that is on the calendar for action at this time, House Bill 442, appropriates $8,500,000, but does not include a provision similar to the provisions in the bills of previous sessions, requiring the supervisors to exclude this money from their annual budget.

The thing that it does is this: this bill No. 442, gives to the townships this $8,500,000 and also permits them to levy taxes without any limitation on them, and I say that when we consider the heavy burden that is now on real estate in our Commonwealth, that we ought not to relax the rule of previous years; when so many people that own homes are unable to pay their taxes and their properties are for sale for delinquent taxes at this time, they should receive the benefit of this appropriation as they have been benefited in the past years.

So, Mr. President, I would ask that if this bill can not be postponed so that we can put a section in it similar to the one that has been contained in previous appropriations of this kind, that my colleagues vote the bill down.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, on these bills, Nos. 442 and 443, I agree with the remarks of the Senator from Fayette. The removal of the clause referred to may cause a rise on farm taxes.

However, I am going to vote for this bill even though I think this legislation is a step backwards. I think the State has maintained during the past several years the township roads in a perfectly satisfactory manner with the money available.

I do not think that the township supervisors as such will be able to do a better job—many of the townships have only a few miles of township roads left—and it will be necessary for them to buy equipment or rent it, but apparently the only way that we can prevent the entire burden of maintaining these township roads being placed on the real estate owner is by the passage of this bill.

The present administration apparently does not want the Highway Department to maintain those roads—there is no bill pending to provide money for the maintenance of those township roads other than this bill.

If this bill is not passed it will be necessary for the various townships to levy taxes in the amount of $8,500,000 to replace the money which has been given to the township supervisors for maintenance, and it is for that reason—although I do not agree with the principle of the bills—that I am going to support them.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, for quite a number of years there has been considerable controversy on the matter of maintenance of these township roads. The Senator from Fayette does not seem to realize that the principle of the bill that we are now about to vote on differs from the bill of two years ago, and the clause that he calls attention to is omitted from this bill, is necessarily omitted if we are going to make the change that we are making at this time.

In the bill of two years ago it was provided that the Highway Department spend the money but that it be allocated to the township roads. The Highway Department was able to mass the money on the roads that they felt would require the greatest amount of money. Under the provisions of this bill the money is allocated to the various townships on the basis of the mileage in the townships, and that means in some townships, what you might call the underprivileged townships—just as we are hearing a great deal these days about the underprivileged among the humans—there may be more money allocated than is necessary for maintenance and in that case we will have more money to put on permanent improvements. In many of the other townships which have improved roads there will be spent a considerably greater amount of money than is given to them under this bill, and they would be in a very sorry condition if they were not allowed to levy a tax in addition to the amount they are to receive from the State government.

Now, I am not going to argue with the gentleman from Adams as to whether or not the present system, or the system of two years ago, is the better system but I do want to say to the Senator from Fayette that it would be impossible to pass this bill with the clause in it he is asking to have placed in the bill, which would say to the supervisors that they can not levy taxes.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the City of Philadelphia has more population than all the second class townships put together, and the City of Philadelphia has not had $8,500,000 from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for its roads in eighty years. The first time Philadelphia got any money for roads was some time in 1935, when I started a quarrel about the proposition, we were paying huge taxes and getting no benefit from them while second and third class cities were being helped with their highways.

This bill, as far as I can see, is purely political. The supervisors want it so that they will have the chance, the opportunity, to appoint a lot of political appointees and somebody else does not want it to be that way, for the same reason. There is no reason why that $8,500,000 can not be spent without politics entering into it.

I have not made up my mind how to vote on this bill—the fellow that makes the best speech will get my vote.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I assure the gentleman from Susquehanna that I raelize fully the provisions of this bill and I also realize very fully that we might have different views on it, depending upon whether your view is political or whether your view is non-political.

I realize very fully, by reading this bill, that we are appropriating $8,500,000 out of the motor fund and that this money will be allocated to townships of the second class.

Now, when we go down to townships of the second class and make an inventory of the road supervisors, the men in whose hands we are to put this money, you will find a very large percentage of them are not real estate owners —they do not even own any property—but this money is put in their hands, and most of them are simply small time politicians who know nothing about road construction and never will know anything.

I would not care if this $8,500,000 would be put into the hands of politicians and spent, but I am asking that if that must be done that we at least give some consideration to the individual who, after all is said and done, is really the backbone of the nation, and that is the man who owns the soil, the man who may own a lot with a home on it, or a farmer who may own a farm for agricultural purposes.

Now, those men and women who own the soil are indeed the backbone of the nation, and I say that the policy adopted two years ago put a provision in this act that when we appropriate this money that the money shall be reflected in some sort of relief to those men and women who own the soil—not to permit this gang of politicians who call themselves road supervisors to spend this appropriation and then give them a blind check to levy taxes upon the homes and farms of the people.

I do not want to repeat what I said in the beginning, that the biggest problem before us today is how to save the homes and farms of hundred and thousands of honest American citizens here in the State of Pennsylvania, who have been unable to meet their heavy tax burdens, and this system or this provision put in the bill two years ago had that for its purpose, to give those farmers and those home owners at least a saving of $8,500,000 from the taxes levied on their homes and farms.

Now, why isn't that good? What is wrong with that system or that policy—are they not entitled to it, in view of all these laws that we are passing to adjourn and readjourn treasurer sales of hundreds of thousands of homes and farms?

When are you going to come to grips and give this class of our citizenry the relief that they are entitled to on these heavy, burdensome taxes on their homes and their farms?

Mr. GELDER. The provision requiring the supervisors to cut down that tax in proportion to the amount of money they receive from the State originally was placed in the bill eight years ago—not two years ago—and I want to say it was the deplorable condition of the roads in the last two years that apparently created the demand for the change in legislation at this time.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I did not add to my remarks and I want to add to them, as I said here some days ago, I am at this time employed as solicitor or attorney for a Board of Supervisors of a township of the second class, and I am going to vote against this bill. I do not think that my interest will prohibit me from voting against it, and if they do not like it they can fire me tomorrow, but I do not believe in putting this money in their hands unless they give the property owner relief at least proportionate to the amount of money that is appropriated and allocated to them by the State.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think that the Senator from Susquehanna, Mr. Gelder, made the best speech, and I am going to vote aye.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, nobody having made a very good speech, I am going to vote aye.

The PRESIDENT. I think it would be well for the Senator from Susquehanna to speak more frequently.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I was going to speak on this bill, but I understand the bill is to go over in its order. If the bill is going to remain on the calendar, I wish to suggest to some of the good lawyers on the other side that they consider the constitutionality of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Is it the desire that this bill go over in its order?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 504, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to make available the services of retired judges by providing for the establishment of an Auxiliary Court, the judges thereof to consist of the retired judges of the Supreme, Superior, Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts, and to perform auxiliary judicial services in the several courts of the Commonwealth, and providing for their necessary expenses, and for the continuation of their retirement pay while performing such services.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Tioga whether he is aware of Senate Bill 726, which is now in the Senate and which was introduced by me and has some features analogous to the features of this bill?

I would like the Senate to consider both bills and evolve some neutral measure.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in reply to my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, I wish to say that the bill which I introduced, I understand, was determined to have some unconstitutional features by the people who drew it up, and they drew up a new bill with the thought that this bill would remove those objections—the committee considered both bills and concluded that this was the best bill.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL POSTPONED

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 585, entitled:

An Act to amend clause three of section seven hundred and two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" authorizing townships to provide fire hydrants and hose to pay for and maintain the same by tax levy or from revenues derived from the general road tax

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this bill amends the present Act concerning townships of the second cless. As the law now stands it gives the supervisors, on petition of owners of a majority of the linear foot frontage along any highway the right to place fire hydrants along said highway. The word "highway" is in the singular; and then it gives the supervisors the power to levy a tax on all the property abutting on that highway.

This bill now changes the law, where it gives the supervisors the power to install fire hydrants along one street and then levy a tax for the support of those fire hydrants on everybody within that district, whether their properties abut the street where the hydrants are put or not.

Another bad feature of this bill is contained in lines 14 to 16. If the supervisors do not wish to affront the voters of that particular district, where the fire hydrants are installed, they may pay for the upkeep or those hydrants from revenue, derived from the general road fund. In other words, the fire hydrants may be installed in one part of the township that is built up and where homes are contiguous to each other, and make some poor farmer, six or seven miles away, or at the other end of the township, pay taxes to keep these fire hydrants.

Now, I wish to point that out to my colleagues. You may read the bill, if there is any doubt in the words that I have just stated, that the bill does the very thing that I just said. I merely call attention to it; and if you wish to vote for a bill like that you may do so.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 606, (House Bill No. 868), entitled:

An Act to repeal the act, approved the second day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2778), entitled "An act providing that all appointments made by the county commissioners in counties of the first class shall be divided between the majority and minority commissioners."

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is one of the bills that makes me think we are spending more time on small matters than on the real work that this Senate should concern itself with. Two years ago we passed a bill providing that county commissioners should divide their patronage so that the county commissioner who represents the minority, should get a portion of the patronage.

I have always assumed the reason for having a minority representative is that he should be there to see to it that at least some of the people are not of the same political complexion. The county commissioners in Philadelphia have charge of the voting machines and the county commissioners in Philadelphia have something to do with vote-getting. County commissioners all over have something to do with voting and certainly it was intended that minority representation was merely more than giving one particular favorite of the opposite party a job; so, we pass a bill giving him a portion of the appointments so that he could have appointed parties of the opposite political faith to be in charge, care and custody of voting machines and of the elections.

Now, of course, that grates a little on the sense of fairness of the Republican party in Philadelphia—that is too much to give to a minority commissioner who never had anything before; but we wanted to take a little bit of care of those voting machines and we thought we were right and so we passed the bill. And now, because the Republicans have a majority, they are all trying to change that, and, I suppose that means, at the next session, when the Democrats have the majority they will change it back again; and so on ad infinitum. This seems to me to be bad legislation; the kind of legislation we ought not to pass.

I wonder if this is one of the bills that comes under the heading of "bon-fire bills," and I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I disagree very much with my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro. I think this is a very good bill—a very good bill. This bill, when it was passed, was passed for the purpose stated by the gentleman from Philadelphia; but when he voted for that bill he overlooked the fact that there are parts of Pennsylvania that are not within the confines of Philadelphia County, that there are other counties in this State of Pennsylvania, and the gentleman from Philadelphia was not much concerned with the other counties to see that the minority commissioner received his share of the patronage in those outlying counties. This is a very good bill. The Act ought to be repealed and an Act like this ought to be passed only whenever it can be made applicable to the counties as a whole and not merely a political subdivision like Philadelphia.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I expose some State secrets?

Last year I wanted this bill to apply to all counties, but the people, who had the majority of the County Commissioners, did not want it; and, so, since I was interested in good government and could not get it for all over the State, I confined myself to my own territory. I was told to attend to my own business. I recommend to the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, and the rest of the gentlemen, that the time is past when any particular county can forever control the other counties. The people no longer will allow any one party to control the affairs of the State or a locality; they are going to change their governments as quickly as they realize a change is necessary—as they did in the last election. Now, when they get through with this Session they will say that the Republicans did not do the things that they promised and they will put in Democrats and I suggest the best way to meet the situation is to get a real minority representation all over. I tell the gentleman from Fayette that I will join him in a bill to bring in all counties of the State.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. It will be so recorded.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I would like to change my vote from "aye" to "no." I might say to the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, that this bill to be repealed, and about which we have just been talking, was my bill at the last Session.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 702, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven (P. L. 157) entitled "An act requiring all newspapers published in this Commonwealth to print in a conspicuous place in every issue the names of the owners proprietors or publishers and the managing editors of the same and making a violation of this act a misdemeanor and fixing the penalty therefor."

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I wish to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, state the purpose of this bill and why it is necessary.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 702 repeals the Act of May 2, 1907. This act requires a newspaper, if it is a corporation, to publish the name of the corporation, together with the names of the president, secretary, treasurer, and managing editor.

Mr. President, it is doubtful whether any newspaper in the Commonwealth has complied with this Act. It is vicious in that the penalty provided in this Act is one hundred dollars for the first omission thereof, to be increased by the sum of one hundred dollars for each and ever additional violation of this Act.

There is one newspaper that could be assessed the sum of fourteen millions of dollars. Both the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Philadelphia Record today have not complied with this Act. Neither one has published the name of the secretary or the treasurer. The Act is unnecessary because almost everyone who wants to know the name of the owner, the managing director, or the secretary, or treasurer, of any of the newspapers in this State, can find that information by going to the prothonotary's office in the county where the newspaper is published. The Fictitious Names Act requires the publication—not the publication, but the notation, both in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and in the prothonotary's office.

There is in contemplation the introduction of an Act which will require, as I understand, the publication of one or the other of those officers, so that there is no need of such a vicious Act as this one now on the statutes.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I imagine it is fair to say that any Act aimed at the prevention of a crime is vicious to those individuals who have the audacity to commit the crime that the Act of Assembly is aimed at correcting.

The fact that the newspapers of this State have seen fit to violate this Act of Assembly is no reason for its repeal. If the newspapers of this Commonwealth have enjoyed an exemption over other citizens of this Commonwealth who have violated the penal laws, that is no excuse for repealing this Act.

My understanding of justice, and the kind of justice that is guaranteed to every citizen under the Constitution of this Commonwealth and this nation, is a justice that applies equally to all citizens; and if the newspapers of this Commonwealth have violated an Act of Assembly there ought to be no amnesty by this Legislative body—they should be made to pay the penalty the same as any other citizen of this Commonwealth.

In order to ascertain whether this Act ought to be repealed, we ought to know the purpose for its enactment in the first place; and I say we can understand more fully the purpose why this Act was put on the statute books in 1907 if we look about us today and see what is happening. In this present day when there is so much hue and cry over these entire United States of the invasion of this country by Alienism, by Communism, by Fascism, by Nazism, and by all other kinds of "isms," we can readily see that this Act ought to remain on the statute books and ought not to be repealed.

I tell my colleagues of this Senate that if a newspaper over in England would start on a propaganda spree to bring its influence, or bring pressure here on the shores of America, to change the form of government we have, of the form of government that we love, I would raise my voice against that foreign press.

If any newspaper in France, or Germany, or Italy, or Russia, would start out on a campaign of propoganda to bring pressure or influence here on the shores of America to change the form of our government, I would raise my voice against that press; and I would want to know who the persons were that were behind that propaganda; and I say, Mr. President, that we, who live here on the shores of America, have a right to feel that the press of America—the newspapers of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ought not to use our shores as a base of operation to spread propaganda intended to incite the American mind against any Government that is on friendly terms with the United States of America. If we have newspapers here in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that are spreading their pages with propaganda intended to inflame the minds of the people of this Commonwealth against any foreign nation, I say that this Act ought to remain on the statute books; and the man who lives in Erie County, who might read the Inquirer, ought to know who is behind that propaganda and not be required to come down to Harrisburg, or down to Philadelphia, in order to see who is the editor or the man behind that propaganda.

In these times when there is so much agitation along these lines, I say, Mr. President, it is a Godsend, that this Act is on the books and, instead of repealing it, we ought to be more active to see that it is enforced. Why, Mr. President, if we repeal this Act, what would stop the German Bund, or the Communist from Moscow, or the Nazi from Germany, to come and circulate throughout this Commonwealth literature to incite racial, or religious, or political dissatisfaction; and we would be helpless to know who might be the originators of the propaganda.

Mr. President, I think it is a very wholesome thing that the people of this Commonwealth can turn to the editorial page of a newspaper and see who the owners—the editors and authors of the contents of that newspaper might be.

A great statesman said—and I believe in it, in the principle very heartily—that a man who has served his country as a soldier degrades himself when he becomes the tool of a faction, whether that faction be racial, religious or political; and this bill attempts to repeal an Act that gives the people of this Commonwealth an opportunity to know who prints the newpapers and who is behind the propaganda that might be contained in those newspapers.

Now, if Moe Annenberg, the owner of the Philadelphia Inquirer, who seeks this amnesty at the hands of this Legislature, is afraid to show the people of this Commonwealth that he is the owner of this newspaper, I say there is something wrong, something subtle in his stand to repeal this act. I notice by the editorial page, where the names of the chairman and publisher is printed, it also states where they have branch offices. There is a New York office situated at 270 Madison Avenue; the Washington Bureau is the National Press Building; the Chicago Bureau is 360 North Michigan Avenue; the Detroit Bureau is 8-241 General Motors Building; the St. Louis Bureau is the Globe-Democrat Building; and now, mark you this, the European Bureau is 16 Regent Street, London; and the Paris Bureau is 13 and 15 rue Taitbout.

Now, if these gentlemen wish to conduct campaigns of foreign propaganda to incite the people of America against the form of government that they have over across the sea they ought to go over there; and I mean what I say, whether it be an American citizen who seeks to incite them, whether Russian, Jew, Italian, French, German, or whatever he may be—Englishman—if there is any American citizen on the shores of America of English extraction who does not agree with his government over in England, let him go over there and spread his propaganda and not use the shores of America as a base of his propaganda.

If there is any German-American citizen, of German descent, who does not like the manner in which Hitler is running the country over in Germany, let them go over there and spread the propaganda. If there is an American citizen of Italian extraction in this Commonwealth who does not like the manner in which Mussolini is governing his Italy, let that Amercan citizen go over there and spread his propaganda.

I say that, Mr. President, because I feel that here in America I would oppose with all the manhood that is in me any effort from a foreign country to issue propaganda intended to effect the functioning of our government here in America; and I would tell the German, the Italian, the Russian, the Frenchman and Englishman that they have no right—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his point of order.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, is not talking on the bill. This is a bill to amend an Act here in America and not in Germany.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am speaking on the bill—I am speaking rightfully on the bill—I am talking about this innocuous propaganda that is being spread through the newspapers, which this bill, if enforced, might prevent; but if it is repealed it will open the door further for this propaganda.

Mr. President, this bill may appear harmless to some of you; but not to many of us who believe that this country ought to remain free of foreign entanglements; and the best way to remain free of foreign entanglements is to see that no body of individuals of any particular racial or religious extraction uses the shores of America as a base of propaganda to incite the American mind against any foreign government.

This bill ought to remain on the statute books and it ought to be enforced and the newspapers have no right to demand amnesty at the hands of this Assembly at this time, during these perilous days that we are living in, when there are so many rumors of war and so much agitation aimed at racial and religious prejudice.

Mr. President, I intend to vote against this bill to repeal. I do not care how the other members of this Assembly vote, but I am going to vote against it because I have served my nation as a soldier, I have bled for it, and I think we ought to strengthen our laws in this regard and not weaken them. We ought to strengthen our laws to prevent the use of our shores for the purpose of propagandizing against governments that are in friendly relations with the United States of America; and I mean that, Mr. President, whether the indivndual is Italian, German, Jewish, English, a Spaniard, or a Frenchman—if they do not like the way those governments are conducted over there let them go over there and raise their voices and not stand on the shores of America and do it.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, freedom of the press has always been sacredly guarded and protected by the American people. That, no doubt, has been done because it has been provided in these Bill of Rights. Our fathers early saw the power of public opinion, our forefathers early saw the power of the press and the press today is as it was then, a very powerful instrument. It may be an instrument for good and it can be an instrument for evil and in order that we, the people, may be protected against newspaper propaganda injurious and detrimental to our rights, I believe that this Act of 1907 was passed.

Now, this Act has been on the statute books from 1907 down to the present time. If it has been a bad statute why has it not been attacked many years ago? It only provides that those who published a newspaper disclose who the officials are and who the editor is. Now, that is for the purpose of protecting the American public. I have never been against any law that would drag out in the open things that the people should know, and if a person or a group of persons are publishing a newspaper which goes into the American home, I say that that home and all other homes have a right to know who owns and who publishes that paper.

Now, I think from reading the Act of 1907 that that is all that is required, and I can see no reason why this Act should be repealed. No person in America should be ashamed of what he says or what he prints—that is the American way. I have a right to my opinion—you have a right to your opinion—the editor of a paper has a right to his opinion—but if that opinion is injurious to anyone that person who is injured has the right to know that fact.

Now, my friends, the power of the press to-day is perhaps greater than it ever was since the beginning of time, and I agree with the gentleman from Fayette in this particular, that this statute should not be repealed at this time and I propose, Mr. President, to vote against the repeal of this statute at this time.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill has no place on this calendar because we have got more important legislation. .However, I do not see that important legislation on the calendar. This bill was born not with any idea to protect America or American citizens. Exactly thirty-two years and six days ago this bill was passed because we had a Governor in Pennsylvania, Governor Pennypacker, who did not like what the North American said about him—that paper was published in Philadelphia. I still remember Exhibit "A", which was all over the papers in the form of an eagle that depicted the Governor in such a way he did not like.

The Republicans at that time needed the help of the Governor, and the Governor said he was not going to do anything unless they helped him put this paper out of business; and they got together hurriedly one day and passed some sort of a bill to satisfy him. They got to talking about this bill and tried to restrict the papers and then they found there was something like freedom of the press and because of this terrible thing that the Governor sent along to the House, this bill to shoot, kill, main and to do something to the editors of newspapers, this Act of 1907 arose—nothing more or nothing less. Nobody was concerned about freedom of the press and nobody was concerned about the citizenry. It was just to satisfy the Governor; and the Republicans showed them, as they do now, that they could not take it.

This Act of 1907, if taken off the statute book, will not pervent anybody from knowing who the editors and publishers of a newspaper are, because under the Federal law they must file with the post office department a list of its publishers, owners, directors, and stockholders, because under the Federal law those publishers who use the United States mails, must file with the post office department a list of the publishers, owners, directors, and stockholders. What has happened here, I suppose, is that this bill goes a little too far into the necessities of a situation, that requires the secretary, editor, some managers, and probably some minor officials—nobody has violated the spirit of the Act because in any paper you will find the names of the publishers and the president; but you may not find the names of the minor officers, and a fine of one hundred dollars a day for failure to complete the list seems almost foolish.

I understand, also, there is being prepared another bill to take the place of this one which will be a reasonable bill, and which we will pass without the venom.

I am going to vote for the bill; I do not think it will do any harm, nor will it prevent the information that is necessary being had.

I would like to see a bill providing that all those scandalous circulars we get and all the scurrilous information that is published and thrown in the doors of the home, and mailed to us and everyone else, without the name of the sponsor on it, should be subject to such an Act—that when this Act is drawn it should include publications of all matters.

I am in favor of freedom of the press as long as they have the courage of their convictions and put their names to it; and so, when you draw this new bill, I suggest that you include not only newspapers—because all of us know, as a matter of fact, that they talk about us—sometimes they say nice things about me and sometimes they do not, but I figure I have got to take it because I am in public life and because I am trying to do my duty, and if I do a wrong thing they ought to tell me about it and they should tell the people about it; but they should not run away with themselves; and I would like to see them put their names on anything they print and not say anything that is false. If anybody sends me a letter all I ask is that they express their opinions frankly and fairly and sign their name to it. The repeal of this Act is not going to hurt us. We can always get information any time we want from the postoffice, and I am going to vote for this bill.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President I intend to vote against this bill. I live in the western part of the State, and if the newspapers published in Philadelphia should libel me I would hate to have to travel down to Philadelphia to consult the records of the Prothonotary's office to see who owns the newspaper, or I would hate to have to go down to Washington and spend a couple of days to get the information from the Post Office Department. It appears to me that a newspaper which is desirious of concealing its ownership is in the same class as the writer of an anonymous letter. It appears, in fact, that the principal argument advanced for the present bill is that a newspaper or two has violated the Act of 1907 and thrown themselves subject to prosecution and fine. They do not like the law.

Let me repeat a familiar line and say that "no criminal ever felt the halter draw with good opinion of the law." Let me quote another line that I think is applicable to a newspaper that wants to keep its ownership in the dark, does not want to disclose to its readers, whoever they may be, who are in it—that line is, "they love darkness rather than the light because their deeds are evil." Such newspapers, at least throw themselves liable to such implications.

Something has been said about freedom of the press. It is true that in America we do have freedom of the press so far as the laws are concerned, but I have been thinking for the last few weeks that there is another sense in which there is considerable lack of freedom of the press in Pennsylvania.

I have been attending the meetings of the committee that is investigating the milk situation in Pennsylvania. I find testimony being given at those meetings that if given publicity over this State would cause such a revulsion of feeling among the people of Pennsylvania that the farmer would not have to wait very long to get the justice that is due him in this milk situation. I find that very little of this testimony showing the dreadful plight of the farmers in Pennsylvania, the milk producing farmers who are headed toward bankruptcy—very little testimony showing their situation is given publicity by the great metropolitan press of Pennsylvania; and I am inclined to believe that the reason is that the metropolitan press fears the big milk monopoly advertisers. I think that is a very fair inference to draw, and so, for that and other reasons that I have advanced, I intend to vote against this bill.

As my colleague from Fayette has well said, take the Act of 1907 off the statute books, and it will be entirely possible, relatively easy, for the reddest Red from Soviet Russia to start a newspaper here in Pennsylvania, and publish it, spread this poisonous propaganda against our form of government, and we would not know who he is unless we travel down to Washington to find out.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, did I understand the gentleman to say that there is another bill introduced to provide for newspapers to publish on the editorial page the names of the owners and other officers?

Mr. MALLERY. Yes and other officials, Mr. President. There is. I would also suggest to the party that has that bill, who contemplates drafting that bill that he also include circulars and any such articles as the Senator from Philadelphia commented on.

I would call to the attention of the Senator from Fayette, by the way, in regard to circulars, that the Act of May 16, 1929, defines a newspaper as a publication which must be issued for six months before any of the laws applicable to the newspaper apply, so in the drafting of such a bill I think it should be made more comprehensive, it should be made to include such circulars as the Senator from Philadelphia enumerated.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I could easily vote for the repeal of the present Act, that is, I could vote for the bill that is under discussion, if there was any legislation, as indicated by the gentleman from Blair, introduced; and I will assure the gentleman from Blair that I will vote for the repeal of the present Act if such a bill is introduced, but may I ask the gentleman from Blair if he does not think it is the proper thing just to place this bill on the postponed calendar until the proposed legislation is drafted and introduced, so we may see the color of its hair—the expression used by the gentleman from Armstrong.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, in reply to the Senator from Fayette, I would say the present law on the statute books, the Act of 1907, neither enlarges nor abridges the freedom of the press. I believe the present law was enacted at the instance of the newspaper people of Pennsylvania themselves, and has always been complied with in spirit; but the exact letter of the law has not been complied with by any paper, certainly not by the two leading papers in Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Philadelphia Record.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, would the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, object, then, to placing this bill on the postponed calendar?

Mr. MALLERY. No, Mr. President. It is a vicious law, and I am in favor of its repeal.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, is the Senator from Blair afraid of the propaganda of the press?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I am not afraid of its propaganda or any other kind of propaganda.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Will the gentleman from Blair assure us that that bill will be introduced?

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Fayette will allow me to intervene, I will assure him that a bill has been prepared, and that the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, had it in his possession, but in looking the bill over it looked to me as though it would lead the papers into the same sort of a situation that they were in in the old one; and I suggested that he make certain amendments, which he said he would make, and undoubtedly it will be introduced tomorrow.

As was stated by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, the present bill the fine attached to the present bill, is certainly excessive—one hundred dollars a day. It was probably conceived in malice. There is no responsible newspaper that desires to conceal its identity. Every newspaper in Pennsylvania, that I know anything about, carries the name of the publisher at the masthead. It does not always carry all of the individual officials of the company, nor do I think that is necessary. If the bill provides, in the case of an incorporated newspaper, that it carry the incorporated name and the principal officer, like the president, that is, then, enough; and then it may go on as the ordinary newspaper does, that is, giving the managing editor, the city editor, the business manager and the advertising manager, the executives of the newspapers in which the people are interested.

I assure the Senator from Armstrong, Mr. Sipe, that it will not be necessary for him to go down to Washington to find out the name of the owner of a paper published in his territory. All he has to do is, go to the local post office, because if it is a newspaper and has second-class mail facilities, the newspaper must swear to some responsibility and some responsible official of the company or newspaper must swear to the ownership down to the stockholder who owns only one per cent, and must also give a list of the names of all the bondholders; and two copies of that are filed with the local postoffice—one to go to the department at Washington and the other to stay there in the postoffice, where I am sure the Senator will be able to get the information if he wants it.

There certainly is not anything about the repeal of this bill that the newspapers of Pennsylvania—and personally I am not concerned in the bill—but there is nothing about it that anybody on the floor of this Senate need be disturbed about.

And I want to say, too, to the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, that these fly-by-night publications can, as they often do over in China, get a ghost character as their editor, and very often they do; and those papers that are not entitled to second-class mail facilities—and they are usually the kind that are stabbing the characters of people in the back, do not have to carry the names of any responsible people at the head, and neither would they have to under this legislation.

QUESTION OF LEGISLATIVE INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of legislative inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his question of legislative inquiry.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, was the motion to place this bill on the postponed calendar seconded?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, has it come to such a pass in this Senate where you are going to shut off debate?

The PRESIDENT. The motion has been made to put the previous question, and it has been regularly moved and seconded, and the Chair can only state the motion as it was put.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

I have received a number of requests and I have also read this bill over carefully, and I think this bill requires a little more consideration than it has received. I should like to move that it be sent back to committee for the purpose of a public hearing.

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

I was just about to call the attention of the sponsor again to the question of the constitutionality of this bill. I doubt very much, under the amendments to the Constitution relating to courts in Allegheny county, passed in 1911, whether this bill is constitutional.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 758, on third reading, entitled:

An Act declaring prosecutions against defendants finally ended and terminated where the Grand Jury has returned bills for indictment ignoramus unless a resubmission is authorized by the court for certain reasons; and providing the procedure and for appeals in such cases.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend Section 14, Page 2, Line 23, by adding after the word "agencies" and before the word "to" the following: "with the approval of the Board"

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Crowe.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Monroe, Mr. Crowe, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CROWE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it is the intent of this bill to change the weekly report to a monthly report; is that not right?

Mr. CROWE. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, what is the purpose of changing it back again to weekly in another form?

We might just as well make the rest of the reports weekly reports; isn't that correct? I thought that this was for the purpose of saving time and money, by making monthly reports. Now, as I follow the amendment, it will make them weekly reports.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, all I can say is that the amendments are submitted at the request of the Department of Revenue. They requested that the original bill be put in, and then they changed it around, and this is the change offered.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I can imagine that the Department of Revenue wants to keep a copy of these reports; but certainly, Mr. President, they know that this is known as a monthly report bill, but if that is changed to weekly again perhaps the Senator from Monroe can tell us how that will conform to the purpose of the bill.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, May we have the clerk read the amendment again?

The Clerk again read the proposed amendments

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 929, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one thousand two hundred one one thousand two hundred five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by defining professional employes substitutes and temporary employes and further regulating the employment dismissal suspension demotion and retirement of such employes.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill and the next bill are two bills which relate to the school situation in Pennsylvania. I am going to ask that these bills go over in their order but I want to take this opportunity of saying that there will have to be a better understanding of the situation between the members of the Senate and the school teachers or we will find ourselves involved in a situation from which we cannot extricate ourselves.

These are very serious times for school districts and at the same time they are serious for school teachers, but the kind of propaganda we are getting will not be helpful. I have the interest of all school teachers at heart but I am also concerned with the financial situation of the schools.

On Saturday, before this bill was printed and before I had a copy of it, I was visited by a group of school teachers who told me the bill was no good. When I asked them about the bill and what the bill provided, they did not know what the bill provided. They had the wrong idea. Just because there is a bill affecting teachers' tenure does not justify an avalanche of complaints; but, certainly, fair and intelligent discussion is necessary if we are to pass constructive legislation; and I want to place myself on record now—and I am sorry more of the school teachers who sent me notes and said they wanted to see me are not here; but to those who are here I will say I wish they would take the message back home that I am interested in the teachers and the schools both and I will give my ear to both sides, but I want both sides to be fair about the matter. The bill has not been on the calendar sufficiently long to permit everybody to understand it, and therefore I, too, am asking that this bill go over in its order for the purpose of giving the teachers and everyone else interested an opportunity to study it carefully and with a fair and open mind, so we can meet this subject and deal with it properly.

Mr. SHAPIRO, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 930, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four hundred four of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by further extending the authority of the board of school directors in the making and enforcement of rules and regulations for the management of school affairs.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 216, (House bill No. 115), entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of the act approved the thirty-first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty (P. L. 427), entitled "An act to consolidate, revise and amend the laws of the Commonwealth relating to penal proceedings and pleadings" by providing further for the administration of oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before grand juries.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, This bill has been on the postponed calendar for a long time. It is the bill that permits the District Attorney to call secret witnesses before a grand jury and take their testimony and keep the defendent in the case from knowing who the witnesses are.

Now, I think this is a very grave departure from the Anglo-Saxon idea of trial by jury and the right of the defendent to know who his accusers are, who the witnesses are, so that he may prepare his defense to the charges that are preferred against him; and I think that this bill is very ill-advised at this time and ought not to have been on the calendar at all.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I can still hear ringing in my ears the cries on the other side at the last session of this Legislature that when we start interfering with the grand jury system we were breaking down the Constitution.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas George Baxter, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, "When we consider Thy heavens, the work of Thy fingers, the moon, the stars which Thou hast ordained, what is man that Thou art mindful of him?" Yet we are the constant object of Thy love and care. All our days are in Thy hands. Since Thy love and wisdom are inexhaustable, grant unto these, Thy servants of state, the blessings of divine guidance and the assurance of heavenly approval. We ask not that Thou would make them great, but, O Father, do make them good. May they possess the three great requisites of American citizenship, to wit: reverence for God, love for all mankind, and honor for the state. Impress upon their heart and mind with indelible emphasis that truth can never fail, and that all good works are immortal. Speak, Lord, for Thy servants are listening. We ask it through Christ, our Saviour. Amen.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 518, as follows:

An Act making it unlawful to trespass on railroads and declaring the trespasser guilty of contributory negligence in actions against the railroad company for damages because of injuries sustained while so trespassing

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 It is unlawful for any person other than employes or their representatives to walk along or across the tracks of any railroad except when the same shall be laid upon a public highway If any person except employes or their respresentatives is injured in any manner while walking standing or playing on any railroad right of way or while riding upon boarding or alighting from a car as a trespasser while the car is in motion such person shall be deemed to have contributed to the injury sustained and shall not recover therefor any damages from the company owning or operating said railroad This act shall not apply to the crossing of a railroad by any person at any place which is a part of a public street or highway or to any person performing his occupational duties which demands his presence on such railroad property or to any person on that portion of a railroad's property which is provided for or dedicated to the use of the traveling public by such railroad in the performance of the usual and customary functions of a railroad

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman whether this bill would prohibit the parents of a child from recovering from a railroad in case that child were attracted onto the property of the railroad company and thereby injured.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Denman.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman whether House Bill No. 518, Printer's No. 479 would obviate the time worn legal theory of "attractive nuisances."

Mr. DENMAN. As I understand it, Mr. Speaker, it will provide that a trespasser on a railroad would be guilty of contributory negligence and therefore would be precluded from recovery.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Westmoreland whether that would apply to minors?

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, it probably would.

Pardon me, Mr. Speaker, in reply to the last question of the gentleman from York as to minors, there is some question as to whether it would apply to minors not of an age when they could be guilty of contributory negligence under the law. I believe that would require interpretation by the court.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the law on trespass as far as trespassing on railway company property is concerned has been long established in the Commonwealth. Even with the Supreme Court inclined toward favoritism to the railroads, for years we nevertheless have had in our substantive law the doctrine that would prohibit minors of being guilty of contributory negligence for trespassing on railroad property, under the doctrine, long established in our law, and known to all the law students, as the doctrine of "attractive nuisance." That doctrine is not peculiar to Pennsylvania. It extends throughout the entire United States, and it has application in the courts of each particular state as well as in the federal court.

This bill attempts to make it unlawful to trespass on railroads, and ipso facto, declares the trespasser guilty of contributory negligence. The mere fact that the individual is on railroad property immediately makes that individual guilty of negligence and thereby precludes that individual from recovery for any negligence on the part of the railroad.

Just to show how ludicrous the extension of this doctrine is, I will ask the membership of the House to refer to the bill and you will see that while an individual might be on railroad property and hence guilty of contributory negligence, nevertheless on furlough, employes or their representatives may walk across the tracks and not be guilty of negligence. Now, the question of negligence is never determined on the basis of whether one is or is not an employe or a representative of an employe. The question of negligence is whether or not the individual did the reasonable thing under the circumstances. It would be ludicrous to say that a representative of an employe could walk over the railroad tracks and not be guilty of negligence, and then say that the same act by an individual who is not a representative of an employe of the railroad walking across the tracks would be negligent.

I wish to call the attention of the membership of the House to the fact that this is an extreme departure from the law of negligence as it has existed in the Commonwealth for a great length of time. In addition thereto, it is a flagrant attempt to pass special legislation for the benefit of railroads.

I need not refer you to anything more than Senate Bill No. 268, which this House, not knowing what it was doing, passed on Thursday, whereby the railroads were also beneficiaries by the actions of this House of Representatives to the detriment of each and every one of your various townships, cities and municipalities. By Senate

Bill No. 268 this House went along with the program that will in the future completely abolish grade crossing eliminations. Now this House is asked again to go along with a proposition equally as insidious, equally as detrimental to the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth. They are asked to pass a bill that definitely says to the railroads, "You do not have to pay any damages to any individuals injured on your property, irrespective of how negligent the railroad might be." They might have a defective engine, they might have an explosion, there might be some overt act on the part of an employe, any conceivable act of negligence might be committed by the railroad resulting in injury to someone who is innocently upon the property, with the result that that individual under the terms of this act would recover no damages.

I say to the membership of this House that already this session the railroads have become the beneficiaries of too much favorable legislation, and I would ask the membership of this House to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Denman.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman explain just what this bill means when it says "crossings on a street or highway."

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand that particular part of the bill, it means that the railroads have suitable safeguards at crossings that are over public highways.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that we have certain private crossings which men use to enter plants?

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do.

Mr. LOVEETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Westmoreland feel that under this particular act, if those men were hurt entering those plants by the use of private crossings that they would receive no damages for their injuries?

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, that is a matter that is up to the courts.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have in a number of places in the state of Pennsylvania what are known as private crossings, where men cross a railroad to enter a private plant or industry. I feel that this is a very bad bill. If those men should happen to be hurt at those particular crossings this bill would certain affect their damage suits against the railroads. I feel that this bill should be defeated.

Mr. FALKENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, it was not my intention to speak on this bill, but an actual experience of mine forces me to do so.

I was returning to my home on Friday night. I had hardly gotten out of the car when a fellow came running down to the house and said:

"Frank, do you know where your boy is?"

I said, "No, I do not. I just came home."

He said, "For God's sake, go up to the hospital. There is a little blonde boy who just had his leg cut off at the hip."

It happened down at the railroad, at 24th and Wolfe streets, where there is a public playground. The railroad runs on the street, half way across, and on the other side there is an open street located just behind this playground. It is open there at all times, and it is a temptation for young children. I want to thank God it was not my boy. I am also sorry for the boy who was hurt, because this little boy sits in school with my boy. His dad is a W.P.A. worker.

If this bill passes, from what I understand, that little child would be guilty of contributory negligence. What is going to happen to the family. From what I hear the boy is expected to die, and under this bill they would not recover anything even for the purpose of burying him.

Mr. SEIF. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I too consider this bill rather obnoxious. I am sorry that all of the objections come from the Democratic side of the House. I know there is a lot of objection on the Republican side and I feel I ought to make a few remarks.

Mr. Cohen touched upon the subject of "attractive nuisance" in the law but did not explain it fully. Under the law if a defendant or a tort feasor shall so control and maintain his property that children are attracted to that property, such a condition is known under the law as an "attractive nuisance." For example, on railroads we have such attractive nuisances as turn-tables, such attractive nuisances as switching yards. It seems to me it should be the duty of the railroads to fence in those nuisances to keep children and trespassers out, so that small children will not be attracted thereby and become injured.

As I understand the provisions of this bill, the doctrine in the law of "attractive nuisance" will be wiped out. It seems to me if a railroad, or any tort feasor, or any defendant is permitted to maintain and operate conditions known as attractive nuisances, they should suffer the consequences through the payment of damages to any small children or their parents who may be injured as a result of being attracted to the nuisance maintained by a railroad.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a friend of the Magistrates of Philadelphia I think I ought to point out some of the defects of this bill.

House Bill 1300, which is now up for consideration, is an amendment to the present Magistrates' Act of 1937. Some of you who were here during the session of 1937 will recall the hectic days through which the Magistrates' Bill went. Finally it was put into shape whereby the citizens of Philadelphia received a law, which helped the situation a great deal as far as the Magistrates of Philadelphia were concerned.

This bill endeavors to change certain phases of that bill. In the first place, the amendment to that bill provides that bail which it was the duty until now to be passed upon by the City Controller, is to be transferred to the office of the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia. You may remember last week I endeavored to insert an amendment in this bill, which perhaps would have been passed if the amendment had been accepted by the House, which would have made this bill a little better to support.

The bail provision as it stands now means this, that the same office which now accepts bail will also pass upon the goodness or badness of the bail. You will recall some time ago in Philadelphia we had a so-called "bail scandal," where straw bail was found throughout Philadelphia in the offices of the Magistrates which later on led to a Grand Jury investigation. I think if this bill is passed with the provision that bail is to be approved by the same office which accepts it, that later on in Philadelphia we may have the same situation, and therefore to guard against that we should be against this bill.

Furthermore this bill provides now that the Chief Magistrate shall pick out the Magistrate who will sit and preside at the central police station, which is at City Hall. Until now the Mayor had that appointment for himself. The reason for it was that the Mayor is still considered the Chief Magistrate of the city of Philadelphia. He was entitled to at least one court wherein the most important cases affecting the entire city of Philadelphia could be heard—the central police station. Furthermore this bill provides, and I want to point this out especially, the proposition that the Magistrates are put back into politics of Philadelphia. The bill of 1937 provided that they should not be active politically.

Members of the House, I wish to point out to you that the provision whereby the Magistrates were not in politics, is now taken out of section 3 in a very astute way by inserting light faced brackets.

This is what it does: If this bill is passed, the administration of justice, and after all justice begins or is supposed to begin in the Magistrates' Courts, wherein the citizens receive or obtain their first hearing, it will mean that the administration of justice will be put back into politics where it was before the act of 1937 was passed, and in that way put that condition and all of the ramifications that go with it, and all of the pressure, on the shoulders of the Magistrates.

This bill, instead of being economical, also provides for additional employes to be added to the payroll of the Clerk of Quarter Sessions, and if we are interested in economy as far as Philadelphia is concerned, we surely should not be for that particular provision, because I feel and I know that most of the Citizens of Philadelphia feel that we already have too many employes in the office of the Clerk of Quarter Sessions.

In addition to that I want to point out to the sponsor of the bill that as this bill is amended, the title is defective, and if the title is defective the bill naturally would be unconstitutional. The bill provides in the title that all the appointments of Magistrates shall be made by the Chief Magistrate. It also changes the qualifications of Magistrates, removing certain powers. I wish to point out to the membership of the House that the title does not give the intention of this bill because under the old act, Section 11, the appointing power for the divisional magistrates courts still remained in the Director of Public Safety, in consulation with the District Attorney and the Chief Magistrate, so that if this title provides all appointments for the divisional courts shall be by the Chief Magistrate, that to my mind is a defect in the title. Furthermore since this title provides for a change in the qualifications of Magistrates there is nothing in the bill which provides for a change in the qualifications, I say we have two provisions in the title to this bill. The bill as it stands is defective. The bill even if it were amended with these provisions taken out, is a bad bill, and I will ask the members of the House to vote against it.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the house, what I want to say is going to be very brief because this bill was debated on second reading.

This bill simply provides that instead of the City Controller certifying the sufficiency of bail bonds, the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court will do so. The bill provides that the Chief Magistrate of the city of Philadelphia shall appoint the Magistrates to the Central Police Court instead of the mayor of the city of Philadelphia. This bill permits the Magistrates of the city of Philadelphia to engage in business and in any profession. My good friend, Mr. Ominsky says this bill will put the Magistrates back into politics. As a matter of fact, if the Magistrates were not in politics in 1937 this bill is not putting them back in politics. As far as the amendments which were offered by my good friend, Mr. Ominsky, are concerned, we are of the opinion that the Chief Magistrate is the proper person to make these appointments, and that the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court is the proper official to certify the bail bonds, because it simplifies the certifying of the bail bond.

I am not going to talk long on this, I do not think it is necessary. I think the bill speaks for itself. It is perfectly clear and I ask the members of the House to support this bill.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 832, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four hundred and six of the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State Government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof, of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission, and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," by changing the method and mode of appointment of mercantile appraisers and the terms therof, in cities of the first class; authorizing the appointment of deputies, clerks and employes, and providing rules and regulations therefor.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to speak on House Bills Nos. 832 and 824 together, since they are companion bills. I think we may conserve the time of this House by so doing.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we are opposing Bills 832 and 824 for the reason that they are only for the purpose of job grabbing and nothing else. I do not think these bills if passed will serve the people of this Commonwealth to any extent. As a matter of fact they will do some harm in certain instances. I feel that these bills are rippers pure and simple. They provide that the mercantile appraisers in cities of the first class shall be appointed by the Department of Revenue instead of the Auditor General as the law now provides, and it also in doing so makes an exception in counties of the first class, because in all the other sixty-six counties the present condition will prevail, that is, the Auditor General will appoint all of the mercantile appraisers.

I think our good friends on the other side, the Republican majority, are grabbing jobs so often and are endeavoring to take in so many jobs, that they will get what I consider "job indigestion," and it may perhaps have a different affect from what they think they may have by getting these jobs for their workers.

As a matter of fact, the collection is being done by the Revenue Department today, and therefore the auditing of the mercantile accounts should be done by an entirely different department, such as the Auditor General. Therefore I think it is incompatible and inconsistent with good government to have the same department, that is, the Revenue Department, which does the collecting of these taxes, also audit them and assess them. I feel this is generally a bad bill for all the other counties outside of Philadelphia, even though these bills do not affect them at the present time, it will be an opening wedge for future reference, and therefore those who are voting for this bill now, because it does not affect their particular county, it only affects Philadelphia or first class counties, will find that this measure will haunt them at some future time. Therefore if the administration changes and the complexion of the House and Senate changes, another bill may be put in providing that all of the mercantile appraisers in second class counties or third class counties or other counties in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, shall be appointed by the Revenue Department, instead of the Auditor General. You will have put yourself on record for a principle, and in order to be consistent you will have to vote for it.

Therefore I say to you men, whose counties are not affected, if you vote for this bill, it will be an opening wedge for future reference, which you will regret.

I ask the membership of the House to vote against both of these bills.

Mr. THISTLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I listened very attentively to my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky. I failed to recognize a sufficient reason as to why this House should not pass these closely related bills, 832 and 824. The only reason I could find on the part of my friend was that it was a job grabbing measure. These bills tend for better government, due to the fact that they place the revenue under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Revenue where it justly belongs. Secondly, it provides for the appointment of mercantile appraisers for a period of four years instead of one year, as previously provided for, giving them the proper length of time and tenure in office to properly do their jobs.

I therefore ask the membership of this House to vote "yes" on these two bills, 824 and 832.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for the last five or six months I have listened to Governor James speak of bringing business back to Pennsylvania. I knew he meant what he said and I believed it, but little did I think at that time the business he was going to bring back to Pennsylvania would be the importation of thugs so that they could be used as strike breakers. The history of these yeggs is well known, not only to every member of this House, but to every citizen within the Commonwealth. I might add, even beyond it.

Just about fifteen or twenty minutes ago, as my mind went back to this vicious repealer, I jotted down a few words and they rhyme, and I am going to give them to you this evening. They are as follows:

"Thugs come to Pennsylvania,
We need rough yeggs your size,
A strike is in the making,
'Tis you we'll deputize."

I might add that I have another one I just scribbled, as follows:

"Sing a song of May Day,
Bullets in a gun,
Watched by company deputies,
Labor is having fun.
When the parade is over,
The guns are on the rack,
But men from the House of Labor,
Have been shot down from the back."

That is exactly what is going to happen again in this Commonwealth. Men, think twice before voting for this vicious repealer that is before you on third reading this evening.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I believe that our Governor had a considerable bunch of friends on hand on November 8.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I yield to Mr. Sweeney.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether he had any complaints about this act of 1937?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I haven't had any complaints. I know where there are complaints and why.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentlemen please divulge the source of the complaints?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, this act which is on the calendar tonight for final passage repeals the act passed by the 1937 Legislature, which prevents the sheriff from hiring deputies unless they have been registered with the prothonotary, their pictures taken, their fingerprints taken, and so forth. This act was passed originally evidently to prevent the sheriff from hiring deputies to displace sit-down strikers. I think everyone will agree that now sit-down strikers are in disrepute over the entire country. You can tell by reading the act we are about to repeal, it refers to nothing but labor troubles. That is the only time the sheriff has to have a deputy photographed, registered, and fingerprinted.

I think every member of this House, whether Democrat or Republican, laboring man or employer, will agree that sit-down strikes are bad not only for labor but for anyone. The sheriff is called upon to perform a duty when anyone invades a plant, they call upon him to displace the invader, and if he is not able to do so, if he cannot perform his duty, he may find himself in the same position as the sheriff of Philadelphia found himself in. He now is subject to a suit by the owner of the plant for failing to carry out his duty.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, did not the sheriff of Philadelphia have the right to deputize deputy sheriffs from Philadelphia county who have been residents of that county for a period of two years?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, not unless he first had them registered with the prothonotary, giving their full names, saying they were citizens, have them photographed, and after all, sit-down strikes take place over night.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, didn't the sheriff of Philadelphia county have enough applicants on hand to take care of that situation?

Mr. SWEENEY. Evidently not, he is now being sued by the Apex company.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, do they not have any other source to call for help from within the Commonwealth?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, under this act he has no right.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, could he not have called on the Motor Patrol for help?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, that I doubt very much. He wouldn't be a deputy sheriff.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Philadelphia think this will encourage protection for strike breakers?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I don't think it will encourage or discourage strikes; I don't think it has anything to do with them. I think if a sit-down strike does take place, then the sheriff will be in a position where he can have deputies to carry out his duties and displace those sit-down strikers and not be subject to a lawsuit.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I don't think he answered my question. I asked him whether or not this would encourage protection for strike breakers.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I don't think so, no. I don't see how it would.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, if I understand the law of 1937, it did require the filing of an affidavit with the prothonotary together with finger prints, and photographs of persons who were applying to be appointed deputy sheriffs. It also required the man's name, address, and also required that he be a citizen of the United States. We have heard a lot of that. It also required that they be residents of the county for a period of two years.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it happens that I am a coal miner and I am not ashamed of it, I came right out of the pits two days before Christmas, and I know something about the old Deputy Sheriff Act, and I know something about the act put through by the legislature in 1937. I worked down in the Monongahela Valley in the mines for a period of fourteen years. I saw deputy sheriffs going in there with deputies who were criminals, had criminal records, men who had been brought from the slums of the cities in other parts of the Commonwealth to protect the industry that desired to break the strike.

I am appealing to the members of this House, regardless of party affiliation, because of the fact that the American Federation of Labor and other labor organizations are protesting this act vehemently. I know if you repeal this law tonight, that you are going to bring labor throughout this Commonwealth down upon this House, because we know they are going to encourage the same sort of police they did in years gone by. I ask the members of this House to vote "no" on this particular bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this repealer, would wipe out one of the meritorious acts passed during the Earle Administration. It is very unfortunate that in questions of this kind partisan notes should be sounded; it is unfortunate that the issue should be drawn as between labor and labor's supposed enemy, and it is unfortunate, Mr. Speaker, that in the discussion of this bill attention should not be centered upon the heart of it, upon the issue that is involved.

The issue that is involved is whether the police power of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be placed upon the auction block and sold either to private individuals or to corporations. There is nothing in the act that is being repealed that prevents a diligent sheriff from appointing as many deputies as he may need, but the act that is being repealed does provide that when the sheriff of a county appoints deputies, that county pays the deputies. There is no leeway in the bill that is being repealed or is proposed to be repealed whereby deputies enforcing the laws of this Commonwealth may be the paid employes of any corporation. The Act that is being repealed wipes out all corporation storm troopers, all private black shirt or brown shirt brigades. The Act that is being repealed centers the police power in the hands, and under the authority of the official properly responsible for peace in Pennsylvania. The issue is not sit-down strikes, not something that Governor James said or did not say, it is whether we want to go back to the period when it was possible for a sheriff to name an army of deputies who were paid from private sources. That is the heart of the measure that is being repealed and I stand for the measure that is being repealed and against this repealer, because, gentlemen of the House, I repeat, the police power of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should not be placed upon the auction block for sale.

Mr. BROAD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to make a few remarks on this bill. I had a little experience in the Allegheny Valley at New Kensington in 1919. When William Haddock was sheriff, there was a strike at the Allegheny Steel Company, and he hired a lot of thugs, Eddie Pearson, Joseph Murray, Ford and William Patton, Frank Strabel, Ed. Mannison, and they murdered a lady who was a welfare worker trying to drive the children out of danger. These thugs riddled her full of bullets. That corporation came out in the papers and said that this welfare worker was a Russian, a foreigner. I say to you that her father fought in the Civil War. Here is a picture. This happened to a mother-in-law of mine, my wife's mother, and this shows how she was riddled full of bullets. I want you all to see it. She was riddled with bullets.

My friends, I hope you will not support a bill of this kind. It is terrible to think that you cannot get justice. We took it to the Court, and the sitting judge, Judge Quigley from Indiana county at that time did not believe in unions, and what did he do? He just railroaded them. I hope, members of this House, you will not vote for this bill.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, very briefly I want to call the attention of the members of the House to the fact that House Bill 1013 would repeal the deputy sheriff law, and would restore the evils that disturbed peace and order and provoked industrial warfare, violence and crime. The bill is against public welfare and I request the members of this House to vote against this measure.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I had not intended to make any remarks on this matter, because I felt as the gentleman from Cambria did, that the mere fact that I was speaking on the measure would identify the bill as a partisan measure.

I feel that the membership of this House can appreciate that even under the previous Republican administrations, there existed in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a tremendous reluctance to utilize deputy sheriffs or policemen to protect industrial plants. We all know the disrepute that was brought upon the coal and iron police, and we all know that the previous Republican administration refused to loan the police power of the Commonwealth to the various coal companies, to the various railroads for the protection of their property. Under those circumstances, this surely is not a measure that should be identified with any party. The previous Republican administration was opposed to those tactics and the past Democratic administration enacted legislation that prohibited the continuation of the police power in the hands of private individuals.

I ask the membership of this House to vote for this repealer, this bill before us, which would repeal the advances that have been made in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the security of all the people of the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1005, entitled:

An Act to authorize and direct the Attorney General to take such steps as are in his opinion necessary to oppose increases and to secure reductions in the freight rates and transportation charges on anthracite coal produced in Pennsylvania from such places of production to such markets as are now or were heretofore served with anthracite coal from Pennsylvania or which may appear to be logical future markets for said coal and making an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary from the general fund to the Attorney General for such purpose and authorizing the expenditure of said money over a period of four years and directing the Public Utility Commission or any other departments branches commissions agents or officers of this Commonwealth to aid and assist the Attorney General in such ways as the Governor or the Attorney General may request in furthering such efforts

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SETH W. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1211, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2772) entitled "An act to require certain records of oil and gas wells drilled in the Commonwealth showing the location of the same and the geologic formations encountered therein and to make copies of such records available upon payment of prescribed fees and providing fees and penalties" creating a special fund in the State Treasury to be known as the Topographic and Geologic Survey Fund providing for the transfer of certain moneys into said fund by the State Treasurer and for the payment of moneys to and the requisition of moneys from said fund by the Bureau of Topographic and Geologic Survey in the Department of Internal Affairs

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, this bill merely provides the necessary machinery for transferring to the Geologic Survey Fund in the Department of Internal Affairs, money which the bill itself brings in from the records which must be kept by the people drilling deep wells for oil or gas. It was called to my attention by the Department that there was not a satisfactory arrangement in the bill as it originally stood and as I sponsored the original bill which was passed in the last session, I ask all of my colleagues in the House and all of the Democratic members as well, who helped me pass the bill last year, to vote for this amending bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follow, viz:

RESOLUTION

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 73, Printers No. 480.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1939.

Whereas, during the 1937 Session of the General Assembly there was passed a new law for the regulation of public utilities, known as the Public Utility Law, which Act superseded and repealed the Public Service Company Law which had been in effect since January 1, 1914; and

Whereas, a number of provisions of the Public Utility Law of 1937 have been the subject of judicial review and have been held by State or Federal Courts to be unconstitutional, as the result of which amendatory legislation was passed at the special session of 1938, designed to correct some of the unconstitutional provisions; and

Whereas, other provisions of this 1937 law are alleged to extend beyond the scope of reasonable and proper regulation of the utilities in that they unduly invade the field of management, impose upon utilities the burden of furnishing costly reports or conforming to procedures of doubtful value in the determination of reasonable rates and adequate service, retard the development and expansion of utility properties and facilities, discourage investment in utility securities, and present questions which may involve the Commonwealth and the utilities, and indirectly the ratepayers, in protracted and costly litigation, thereby retarding future reductions in utility rates; and

Whereas, the best interests of the Commonwealth, the rate payer, the utilities, and those who in good faith have invested billions of dollars in the securities of utilities doing business in this Commonwealth, require that a careful, comprehensive and impartial study of the Public Utility Law be undertaken in order to ascertain what changes, if any, should be made in said Law to make it fair, just and reasonable in its application to all concerned. Therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) that the Attorney General be and is hereby requested to undertake and prosecute a thorough and impartial study of the Public Utility Laws of this and other states, ascertain the viewpoints of the Public Utility Commission, other regulatory bodies, the public, the utilities affected, and others, as to the proper concepts to be applied in the field of utility regulation, consider the effect and trend of judicial decisions in the public utility field and the questions involved in pending litigation, and ascertain what, if any, amendments should be made to the Public Utility Law in order to secure adequate, proper and sound regulation of utilities in the public interest, which will, at the same time, encourage investment in utility securities and aid in a program of expansion and economic recovery in this Commonwealth.

Resolved that the Attorney General be requested to report the results of his study and investigation of the Public Utility law, together with such proposed legislation as he deems proper for consideration, to the next Regular Session of the General Assembly.

On the question.

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The amendments were read by the Clerk.

Amend first Resolved Clause, page 2, line 4, by inserting after the word "states" the following: "and a comparison of both local and state taxation, affecting public utilities in other states, and public utility rates in other states.'

Amend second Resolved Clause, page 3, line 5, by inserting after the word "Assembly" the following: "and that all correspondence regarding this report be kept intact and will be open to inspection and perusal by request on the part of any member of the House of Representatives."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, these amendments, I believe, are not at all necessary to be incorporated in this resolution. The resolution is all-inclusive in itself. I believe every fact that can be desired, every bit of information that this House may need may be had as a result of the resolution itself as it is. I ask that these amendments be voted down.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe when Mr. Stockham said the resolution was all-inclusive it really covers only information that would be favorable to the utilities of Pennsylvania. One of the reasons is that when a comparison of rates is made it is necessary to compare taxes paid by utilities in other states. Although I do not doubt the honesty of the Attorney General, I believe one man's interpretation should not be taken as final. It should be the privilege of every member of this House to inspect or read any correspondence that may be gathered by the Attorney General. That is why I am asking that all correspondence pertaining to this resolution be kept intact so that any Representative of this House can go to the Attorney General's office and read for himself the information gathered, because we all know that two interpretations can be placed upon one letter, especially if that interpretation is being dictated by some utility that has its own interests at heart instead of that of the people of Pennsylvania. Therefore I do not believe these amendments will hurt Mr. Stockham's resolution. In fact they will make it stronger because after all I believe the people of Pennsylvania want the true story, and that is all I am asking for when I ask that these amendments be placed in his resolution.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I rise to support these amendments, because I think the resolution is a good one. However, I think the author of the resolution has chosen the study made by a person who should not properly make such a study. I believe this study could be more properly made by a commission of this House, or by a joint legislative commission, jointly appointed by the House and the Senate.

The trouble with this resolution as I see it is that after we get through with it, and the Attorney General performs his work, we will after all have the private and personal viewpoint of the Attorney General or of the Deputy Attorney General especially assigned to the task. I submit to the members of this House that we will probably only have a survey of the laws existing in other states and the law of this state.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendments proposed by Representative Holland will only assure the membership of the next House of Representatives of having a comparsion of taxation on real estate owned by utilities in this state with taxes paid by public utilities in other states. It seems to me the second amendment proposed by Representative Holland is thoroughly justifiable in view of the fact that the data collected by the Attorney General must be analyzed and must be interpreted, and if we are to receive a report by anyone particular administrative officer and if that report is to be of any value to the membership of the next House, I submit that the data backing up the inferences and conclusions reached by the Attorney General should be open and available for the inspection of the members of the House.

I think, Mr. Speaker, the resolution is good as far as it goes, but I believe these amendments will make the resolution better, and since it evidently is the will of the majority of the House, at least of the Committee, that the study be made by one man, I think we ought to have the amendments proposed by the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Holland, adopted so that we can get some good results from this survey.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I wish, Mr. Speaker to call the attention of the members to the last "Whereas" clause of the Resolution which provides as follows:

> "Whereas the best interests of the Commonwealth the rate payer the utilities and those who in good faith have invested billions of dollars in the securities of utilities doing business in this Commonwealth require that a careful comprehensive and impartial study of the Public Utility Law be undertaken in order to ascertain what changes if any should be made in said Law to make it fair just and reasonable in its application to all concerned therefore be it"

Mr. Speaker, if I felt that this resolution had been introduced for the purpose of actually accomplishing some constructive good, I would certainly vote for it, but in view of the activity on the part of the Governor and his administration in relation to the Public Utility Commission, I cannot but conclude that it just represents some more sniping on the part of the majority party.

Referring to the "Whereas" clause, I just mentioned, may I read into the record what the Public Utility Commission has done for the consumer in less than two years time.

> Millions of dollars are being saved annually by Pennsylvania utility customers because of rate reductions ordered by the Public Utitlity Commission since it took office in April, 1937.
> Still other millions of dollars, the exact amount unestimated, customer money held by utilities as deposits, have been returned to the public following Commission rulings based on the Public Utility Law. Annual bills of electric customers alone have been cut more than $10,000,000 a year. The total annual savings the figures are as of March 1, 1939, affected during the period in which the present Commission has functioned were distributed as follows:

Electric	$10,681,054.42
Telephone	411,342.91
Gas	133.630.16
Water	198,124.83
Steam Heat	40,104.21
Telegraph	94,000.00
Toll Bridges	25,000.00
Total	$11,583,256.53

> Of this total $10,164,613.67 are directly from Commission orders. These are savings resulting from tariffs actually filed with the Commission and now in effect.
> Appeals taken from Commission orders by the utilities named below are depriving the public of an additional million dollars in annual savings:
> Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania .. $600.000
> Edison Light & Power Company 435,000
> Beaver Valley Water Company 32.000
> On representations from the Commission The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania Telephone Corporation have eliminated the extra charge of 25 cents a month for hand-set telephone instruments, saving subscribers approximately $300,000 a year.
> Following suggestions from the Commission, the smaller telephone companies in the state are rapidly eliminating this extra charge. To date, 24 of these companies, following conferences with the Commission have removed this extra charge from their subscribers' bills.
> The Commission has relieved the customer of the burden of carrying the unfair nuisance charges and requirements heretofore found in utility tariffs. The power to do this is contained in the Public Utility Law.
> Deposits must be returned to the depositor when he has paid undisputed bills for service over a period of 12 consecutive months. beginning at any time subsequent to June 1, 1936. This regulation has forced return of millions of dollars to Pennsylvania utility patrons.
> The Commission has ruled that interest on deposits must be paid at the rate of 6 per cent a year without deduction for any taxes. Upon deposits held for more than a year, the company is required to pay the depositor the accrued interest at the end of each calendar year.
> The practice of many telephone and water companies to require monthly, quarterly or semi-annual advance payments has been banned. Advance payment for telephone service rendered at a coin booth or at a station served by an attendant is permitted as is payment in advance for gas rendered through a prepayment meter.
> Ready-to-serve charges are "out", except that in the case of electric companies such charges may be imposed if based on kilowatts of demand. Minimum or initial charges are allowed but they must include a given amount of service.

Then, may I again, Mr. Speaker, call to the attention of the members of the House the decision of the United States Supreme Court in a case that originally arose in York county? I cannot help but conclude, Mr. Speaker, that this, as I referred to before, is simply a bit of sniping legislation, is not in good faith and is for the purpose of putting utilities back in the saddle once again. I therefore ask my colleagues to oppose this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Herbert B Cohen and Mr. Achterman and were as follows:

ADDRESS BY MR. WILLIAMS

Mr. WILLIAMS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, last night in this city a state-wide convention of labor was held and many of us, not being members of labor organizations, probably have not noticed what has taken place at the convention, so as a member of the organization I will try and advise this House what has taken place:

The Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council, representing more than 500,000 workers in the great industries and miscellaneous trades of the State, met in annual convention Tuesday, May 2, in Harrisburg.

As its first piece of business, the convention adopted this resolution:

"Address to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House.

"Resolved, That this convention of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council stand ready to recess at a time convienent to Honorable Arthur H. James, Governor, Honorable Samuel S. Lewis, Lieutenant Governor, presiding officer of the State Senate, and Honorable Ellwood J. Turner, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, in order to attend in a body upon them and petition against the repeal of the social, labor and humane legislation now on the statute books.

"This convention directs the President of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council to act as our spokesman in pointing out that too much of our State's industrial history has been written in the violent terms of primitive warfare, through use of force and coercion to impose unfair conditions upon the workers and the public. Increasing economic inequality hastened the collapse of business. It was then that the General Assembly, chosen by the people, came forth to remove the wrongs from which the State suffered.

"Legislation thus enacted has turned the page on the dark past. Lockouts and strikes have greatly diminished. Disputes have been handled with due recognition of civil rights. Settlement of differences have been made by amicable agreements.

"Now we are at a possible turning point. The General Assembly is in session. Bills have been introduced which, if passed and signed by the Governor, will have the State reverse its steps and retreat to the arena of industrial conflict.

"Speaking for the workers in the vast industries of our State, this convention asks that the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House of Representatives heed our plea that there be no repeal or restriction of the measures which the people's legislature, serving conscientiously in a time of great distress, deemed to be necessary and sound.

"We ask that the old, dead past be left buried. Let Pennsylvania continue to encourage the free association and self-organization of labor, the establishment of better standards of employment for the promotion of business recovery, and the furtherance of collective relationships as the enduring basis for industrial peace and order within our Commonwealth."

Up to the time of adjournment, Thursday, May 4, at 1:00 P. M., no response had been received from the Governor or any of the other State officials addressed.

Thus the petition of our organization, speaking for more than one half million of the State's working people, was arbitrarily denied.

Legislation now on the statute books, to which reference is made, is of the most vital concern to the vast army of citizens upon whose labor so largely rests the productive industries and the creative prosperity of the State and the material well being of its population.

Bills are proposed which will cripple these measures or rip them out altogether. They are being speeded to enactment with indecent haste.

We petition that you grant a public hearing on each of these bills.

Over and above that, we ask that you cast your votes against each bill listed above which attacks equal rights to labor and civil liberties, attacks which would destroy labor standards and tear up the road toward social security.

We urge that you vote to prevent a great wrong being done to our one-half million workers and their dependents to the still larger numbers who will be affected adversely, and especially to those, the innocent victims of the industrial depression, who stand to be branded as paupers, humiliated and disgraced, instead of being treated as human beings and dealt with justly as men and women.

Very truly yours,

JOHN A. PHILLIPS, President
LESTER THOMAS, Secretary

ADDRESS BY MR. GATES

Mr. GATES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the last two or three weeks several of the large metropolitan newspapers have seen fit to publish certain editorials in which they have mentioned certain legislation proposed by certain members of the House and certain members of the Senate. It is not my purpose to have any controversy with newspapermen, they go to press too often, but last Saturday I was pleased to pick up a paper issued in the city of Harrisburg, edited by a very fine gentleman of our state, and I would like to read for the benefit of the members of the House and have it incorporated in the Legislative Journal this editorial which appeared in Saturday's issue, May 6, of the "Patriot," a newspaper of Harrisburg.

Was Only the Sabbath Available?

Comes another Sunday tomorrow to make many persons wonder anew why that day just a week ago was chosen to open the New York World's Fair. Why a Sunday to open such an exposition? There are six other days in the week any one of them more appropriate than that day which by Bibical mandate and the strong traditions of this Nation, is set aside for a different purpose.

Is the explanation that the "continental Sabbath" is entrenching itself in this Nation, a Sabbath stripped of all its spiritual atmosphere, its whole purpose being dedicated to temporal things?

Europe for years and years has been observing the "continental Sabbath". Look at Europe today. Is there or is there not any relationship between the way it values things of the spirit and the constant turmoil, hatred and antagonisms with which those nations are forever wrestling? History, both sacred and secular, gives the evidence of what happens to a godless people and to nations which regard the Sabbath as a mere fancy of those who compile church calendars.

The growing readiness in the United States to select Sunday as "just another day" or a day, more fitting than any other, for such spectacles as the opening of the New York World's Fair strikes a warning that cannot with safety to the national welfare be blithely ignored.

In this world there are things of the spirit as surely as there are things of the flesh and to disregard the former and cherish only the latter is setting the national compass not only away from the course set by the founders of a great Nation but toward the inescapable shoals on which prior civilizations have been wrecked. This Country will profit by taking new soundings and measuring its drift with a dangerous current.

Thank you.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS offered the following prayer:

"The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods. Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? Or who shall stand in His Holy place? He that hath clean hands and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation."

Herein definitely dost Thou give us the picture of those whom Thou shalt bless along the way of our earthly pilgrimage.

May we bless others through Thy blessings to us in that what we see of beauty this day it may remind us of Thy beauty. Whatever of goodness we see this day may it remind us of Thy goodness. Whatever of love and kindness we meet in this day may it bring us to Thee who art Love and Infinite Kindness.

Though our names may never reach the front page of the press may they be written in the Lamb's Book of Life that through the constancy of a child-like faith in Thee we may have done our simple duty and lived a clean life and be forever with Thee. May this be the earnest prayer of each of us this day. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL TO MAKE A THOROUGH AND IMPARTIAL STUDY OF THE PUBLIC UTILITY LAWS OF THIS STATE AND OTHER STATES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

In the House of Representatives, April 25, 1939.

Whereas, During the 1937 Session of the General Assembly there was passed a new law for the regulation of public utilities, known as the Public Utility Law, which Act superseded and repealed the Public Service Company Law which had been in effect since January 1, 1914; and

Whereas, A number of provisions of the Public Utility Law of 1937 have been the subject of judicial review and have been held by State or Federal Courts to be unconstitutional, as the result of which amendatory legislation was passed at the special session of 1938, designed to correct some of the unconstitutional provisions; and

Whereas, Other provisions of this 1937 law are elleged to extend beyond the scope of reasonable and proper regulation of the utilities in that they unduly invade the field of management, impose upon utilities the burden of furnishing costly reports or conforming to procedures of doubtful value in the determination of reasonable rates and adequate service, retard the development and expansion of utility properties and facilities, discourage investment in utility securities, and present questions which may involve the Commonwealth and the utilities, and indirectly the rate payers, in protracted and costly litigation, thereby retarding future reductions in utility rates; and

Whereas, The best interests of the Commonwealth, the rate payer, the utilities, and those who in good faith have invested billions of dollars in the securities of utilities doing business in this Commonwealth, require that a careful, comprehensive and impartial study of the Public Utility Law be undertaken in order to ascertain what changes, if any, should be made in said Law to make it fair, just and reasonable in its application to all concerned, Therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Attorney General be and is hereby requested to undertake and prosecute a thorough and impartial study of the Public Utility Laws of this and other states, ascertain the viewpoints of the Public Utility Commission, other regulatory bodies, the public, the utilities affected, and others, as to the proper concepts to be applied in the field of utility regulation, consider the effect and trend of judicial decisions in the public utility field and the questions involved in pending litigation, and ascertain what, if any, amendments should be made to the Public Utility Law in order to secure adequate, proper and sound regulation of utilities in the public interest, which will, at the same time, encourage investment in utility securities and aid in a program of expansion and economic recovery in this Commonwealth.

Resolved, That the Attorney General be requested to report the results of his study and investigation of the Public Utility law, together with such proposed legislation as he deems proper for consideration, to the next Regular Session of the General Assembly.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I wish to rise to a question of personal privilege for a few minutes on a matter of overwhelming interest and concern to the people of my district.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Armstrong will proceed.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, there is no more enjoyable life than that of a farmer, when he has a chance to make a living and to lay aside a little money for a rainy day. When he has this chance he has the strong hope of a serene old age, and there is no frightful strain upon his mind. When he has this hope, he sits in the vast movie theatre of nature, hears the first song bird in the spring and the last ones in the autumn, with a heart like that of a feathered songster. When he has this hope he looks upon the undulations in his meadows and his grain fields like the undulations or the billows of the ocean, without any tempest raging in his soul.

Now, when he has this hope he can view his herds and flocks on the smiling fields over which run the sunshine and the shadow, with no shadow on his soul. It is the fortunate lot of our Pennsylvania farmers to live and work in one of the most beautiful sections in the world. In the summer time they do their work gazing on the templed hills and mountains clothed in living green, while the majestic rivers roll their winding way between. In autumn days, when the summer's work is done they look upon purple hills and mountains dozing in a hazy panorama.

I say that the scenic grandure and majesty of the Pennsylvania hills and mountains impose elevated and sublime thoughts upon the farmer's soul if his soul is not harried by care. There is something, Mr. President, about the life of a farmer that makes him in love with Mother Earth, something about the life of the farmer that binds him to the soil and so we have here in Eastern Pennsylvania where it is older, farm homesteads that have remained in the same family for more than two centuries, homesteads where succeeding generations have been, where their fathers lived and died, where their fathers died—mystic bonds of love and affection bind the present owners to those ancient acres, and I hope that these golden cords may never be severed.

Even in the western part of the State, where I live, which is much younger, on account of these mystic cords that bind the farmer's heart with love to his homestead, we have farm plantations that have been in the families that own them for more than one century; and I thank God, Mr. President, that it is my job to own, to operate an ancient farm that has been in my family for 145 years. I like, Mr. President, to turn the lights low in my library at midnight and muse on the recollections and hallowed associations of 143 years of that homestead's history. I like, Mr. President, to stroll in the moonlight and in imagination call up the honest faces of fathers and mothers and the smiling faces of children that through the far dim years have quenched their thirst in the sweet, cool clear waters of the blue slate spring below the old homestead, which still gushes forth its life-giving waters, clear, cool and sweet as of yore.

Now let me say that the Pennsylvania farmer has a background as heoric, as historic, as that of any other group beneath the beautiful banners of the stars and stripes. It was the Pennsylvania farmers, ancesters of our present farmers, who made the success of the Revolutionary War possible. But for their services the Revolutionary War would have been doomed to failure. But for their services the war between the States would have resulted in a shattered and forever broken Union. Yes, the Pennsylvania yeomanry inured to the whistle of bullets, inured to the war whoops of the Indians in the tragic days of Pennsylvania's pre-revolutionary Indian wars, received that training, that discipline in hardship which made them the very backbone of Washington's army and so they and Washington, the greatest farmer in America in his day, led the American armies to triumphant victory through the fire and blood of an eight year Revolutionary war.

That great farmer—greatest, I say in America in his day—had the same love for his homestead that our Pennsylvania farmers have for their ancient acres; and when his abundant labors as the first president of the United States were ended, he retired to the quietude of his beloved State, Mount Vernon, to end his days in glory and in peace. No one in all history has spoken with more affectionate terms of his farm than that great farmer did; he called it his "vine and fig tree"; he called it the "home of his heart"; he called it his "glow of domestic affection." All these endearing terms he applied to it. He said that he would rather be on his farm, Mount Vernon, than to be at the seat of government attended by all the dignitaries of all the powers of the earth.

So, as I say, Mr. President, I hrave a strong hope that our Pennsylvania farmers will be able to retain ownership of their farms, that they will be able to prevent them from going under the cold hammer of the sheriff, that they will be able to retain them and pass them on to their children; but, Mr. President, I am sorry to say that there is a very great threat to the Pennsylvania farmer that he will be able to retain his farm very long, especially the milk producing farmer in Pennsylvania.

For the past several years the history of the Pennsylvania farmers' struggle with the hard boiled, cold blooded, greedy milk monopoly has been one of the most tragic stories in the history of Pennsylvania. It amazes folks who are not acquainted with the farmers' situation, that of the milk producing farmer, it amazes them to learn that testimony as produced at the hearings which the committee investigating the milk situation in Pennsylvania is making, indicates that the average price all over the state to the milk producing farmer for his milk is less than three cents a quart, while the cold blooded, hard boiled, greedy monoply sells it to the consumer at anywhere from eleven to thirteen cents a quart.

It is a sad thought for Pennsylvania farmers whether milk producing farmers or otherwise, a sad thought for all Pennsylvanians to contemplate that even in Hitler Germany the milk producing farmer receives about twice as large a share of the consumer's dollar as does the Pennsylvania milk producing farmer—a sad thought to contemplate. And it is likewise a sad thought to contemplate here in Pennsylvania that the milk monopoly, with its lobbyists and lawyers, has been able to cause our so-called Milk Control Board to take the hue of the monopoly in the milk situation in Pennsylvania.

Orders that the Milk Control Board makes at the behest of these lawyers and lobbyists have a constant downward trend, while the monopoly itself is growing more powerful and more wealthy every day. A few days ago I read a newspaper account of a statement of the president of one of the greatest branches of the greedy monopoly in our land, the National Dairy Products Corporation, in which he said that one of the greatest needs of the milk industry in America was to get a price level. I say that, judging from his history and his monopoly's history, he is really interested in two price levels—one for the monopoly and its executives, high as the heavens, and one for the farmers, as low as the deepest depths of perdition. Sad to think that the lobbyists and lawyers of the monopoly and the Milk Control Board of the Governor of the Keystone State have been issuing and approving orders of the Milk Control Board that are constantly widening, constantly increasing the difference between these two price levels.

I have been a lawyer, Mr. President, since Washington's birthday 1909. Sometimes I take little pride in being a lawyer, sometimes I feel like apologizing for being a lawyer, when I find so many members of my profession who have an anti-social view of the big monopolies, who prostitute their talents—for instance, for this milk monopoly—that come down here to Harrisburg and camp around the offices of the Milk Control Board and help to drive our Pennsylvania farmers into despair and ruin.

It is sad to contemplate, also, Mr. President, that the metropolitan press of Pennsylvania, for some reason or other—I don't know what it is—but for some reason or other it is giving very little publicity to the startling things that are coming out at the hearings of this milk situation investigations; and I say that if the metropolitan press of Pennsylvania would carry even a small part of the testimony that comes out at these hearings, showing the dreadful situation of our milk producing farmers, if they carried even a small part of their message to the people of Pennsylvania, there would soon come about such a revulsion of feeling on the part of Pennsylvanians generally that the farmer would soon get at least a part of the justice that is due him. I am not making any particular attack upon the press; I do not know why it does not carry this news.

I do not know whether it is because they hear the advertisers, the big milk monopoly advertisers, but I think it is a very reasonable conclusion to draw that they do. At any rate there are long winded accounts in the metropolitan press of Pennsylvania of happenings in this legislature in connection with the general workings of the General Assembly, long winded accounts of happenings that are mere poppycock when compared with the serious situation of our Pennsylvania farmers, and I must say frankly and without any malice whatever that it is a sad thing for our Pennsylvania farmers to contemplate and a sad thing for the people of Pennsylvania generally to contemplate that the governor of the great Keystone State is approving the orders of the Milk Control Board that drive our farmers almost to distraction, approving them in the face of his abundant and rosy promises to the farmers of Pennsylvania.

I know that a lot of Democratic politicians have endeavored to excuse the Democratic Milk Control Board for making these outrageous orders, and that a lot of Republican politicians have endeavored to excuse the much promising Republican Governor for approving these orders. I know that that is happening, but I have a suggestion to make to the farmers of Pennsylvania, and that is, that they had better cease permitting politicians, blathering, ranting politicians, from herding them into rival political camps, and thus preventing them from getting the measure of justice that is their due.

I say to the Pennsylvania farmers that if this trend continues the farmers had better forthwith organize themselves just as completely as labor has organized. I say to them that they had better forget their political prejudices, keeping in mind that the greatest victory that any man can win, or at least one of the greatest that any man can win, is a victory over his prejudices, so I appeal to the farmers not to let blathering politicians keep them stupified any longer— politicians like the governor, who when running for office, made promises with reckless abandon, I do not say that he had no intention of trying to carry them out, but I do say that the most charitable view that we can take is that he made those promises with reckless bandon, and perhaps, with the mere purpose of getting votes.

Yes, the life of the Pennsylvania farmer for a number of years past has been a constant battle—and a loosing battle—a battle with the monopolies and trusts. Here is the dairy feed trust that has been gouging him for years; here is the farm machinery trust that has been gouging him for years; and for many years shipping their machinery to Russia, to Japan, to Australia, to the islands of the sea and selling it thirty per cent cheaper than to our American farmers. And then here is the milk trust that has battered life out of farm income in Pennsylvania and then here is the coffin trust, that waits at the foot of the hills, that waits at the end of the trail to receive the farmer's battered body when life's fitful dream is o'er.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President I as unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. OWLETT, from the Committee on Finance, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 618, (House Bill No. 193) entitled:

An Act relating to the assessment of real and personal property and other subjects of taxation in counties of the first class providing for the appointment of members of the board of revision of taxes by the judges of the courts of common pleas providing for the appointment by the board of personal property assessors real estate assessors and assistant real estate assessors clerks and other employes fixing the salaries of members of the board assessors and assistant assessors and providing for the payment of salaries and expenses from the county treasury prescribing the powers and duties of the board and of the assessors the time and manner of making assessments of the revision and notice of assessments and of appeals therefrom prescribing the records of assessments and repealing existing laws.

He also, from the Committee on Municipal Government, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 292, (House Bill No. 424), entitled:

An Act to authorize cities of the first class of this Commonwealth to provide for the payment of certain deficits and indebtedness as herein defined in equal annual instalments of two million five hundred thousand dollars ($2,500,000) and to authorize the making of contracts the drawing of warrants and the approval thereof without appropriation for the payment of such deficits and indebtedness except as provided by this act and to levy and fix the tax rate and to make appropriations and prepare and formulate the financial programs of such cities upon the basis of the discharge of such deficits and indebtedness in the manner provided by this act requiring annual provisions for the payment of mandamus executions and suspending and/or repealing inconsistent legislation.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, last night this Senate adopted an unusual and dangerous practice when it shut off free discussion on a measure of grave importance that was before this body for consideration. If the question that is embodied was not fundamental I would not rise today to say something against this practice.

Yesterday, all day, another Senator and I worked diligently in the reading of all of the bills that were on the calendar for action last night, and I believe I can sincerely say that even though I have made many mistakes in my work in this Senate, I have always endeavored to do what I thought was best for the people of this Commonwealth; and yesterday, after going over all the bills on the calendar, with the sole idea of helping this body in getting the best out of those measures, we came to the Senate last night, and in a time of free discussion, a fundamental constitutional privilege was denied in the middle of the session on this measure.

Mr. President, this is a serious matter. It has been so considered back through the ages. I was looking at some authorities this morning that took me back to the time of Socrates, that Greek philosopher, and shortly before he took the poisonous hemlock that lifted him out of this universe, he said to those about him, "Men of Athens, while I have left life and strength I shall never cease from defending the sacred right to speak and teach."

That principle, Mr. President, was considered fundamental at that time, and it has never lost that character.

If you come down through the ages, Mr. President, from the time of Socrates to the time of John Milton, during those turbulant times in England, you will find that great man defending the liberty of the press and the liberty of free speech. I want to read a short statement from that great man, John Milton, away back in that early period of English history and I thus quote:

"And though all the winds of doctrine were let loose to play upon the earth, so Truth be in the field, we do injuriously by licensing and prohibiting to misdoubt her strength. Let her and Falsehood grapple; who ever knew Truth put to the worse, in a free and open encounter?—

And if we carry on down to the time of our early Colonial history, we will find our early colonial fathers battling valorously and devotedly in their protection of this great fundamental right. The great Patrick Henry of Virginia took up this question and defended it, even to a threat upon his own life, and out of that all, Mr. President, they created the great American republic, and when our Constitutional fathers, way back in 1787, were trying to formulate a basic constitution the only way, Mr. President, that they could get the representatives from the thirteen states in accord on the constitution was to promise them a Bill of Rights, and in that connection we must trace delicately the hand of that great statesman, Thomas Jefferson, who at that time was in the turbulant land of France.

He knew, Mr. President, what it meant if you deny to the people the right of free assembly, free speech and a free press. He was in a land that was about to be torn by a terrible revolution and he knew that one of the safeguards would be placing in the people this sacred, inalienable and fundamental right, and so, Mr. President, in order to get our Constitution the Bill of Rights was likewise enacted, and from that time down through the years, down to the time of the World War we see the people always defending the right of free speech and a free press, and, diverting a little I might say those two rights go together, there is very little difference between the right of free speech and a free press they both emanate from the same source, the mind of man.

This question, Mr. President, came up again during the World War and we find an elaborate discussion on its fundamental principles at that time, and it was so deeply involved in our American life at that time that it was necessary for the Attorney General of the United States to report upon it, and here is what he said:

"This department throughout the war has proceeded upon the general principle that the constitutional right of free speech, free assembly, and petition exist in war time as in peace time, and that the right of discussion of government policy and the right of political agitation are most fundamental rights in a democracy."

I say, Mr. President, that the right of free speech in the halls of this Assembly are more important than the right of free speech on the outside of such a chamber, because here is a Senator who represents many people—he is not speaking for himself alone, he represents the people of a great State, and to deny a Senator or Representative the right to give his views on an issue that has to do with the welfare of all the people of this Commonwealth is fundamentally vicious and bad.

I shall always, Mr. President, as long as the Good Man above gives me strength, cry down upon anyone who attempts to take these sacred rights from the people of this State or of this Nation.

Senator Owlett, you succeeded last night, with the aid of your Republican disciples, in closing my weak and humble lips, but in so doing you aroused within my soul a tumultuous, burning form of rebellion.

I say, Mr. President and members of this Senate, that this is a dangerous policy to pursue. Read the history of any nation of this world and you will find at any time the freedom of the press or freedom of speech were denied that trouble ensued.

Get out your histories and read of those turbulent times that preceded the French Revolution, and you will find that one of the fundamental causes of that great, bloody and terrible conflict was the denial to the people of the right of free assemblage and free speech.

Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I have traveled in the land of the Caesars, I have traveled in the land of Bismarck, I have traveled in the land of Cromwell, William the Conqueror, William Tell—almost all of those nations of Europe, I have seen Italy under Mussolini, I have seen Germany under Hitler, but Mr. President, I was never denied the right of free speech until I returned to the land of my birth, the land of my fathers, the halls of the Assembly of my beloved State, where this precious right was denied me, and I say, Mr. President, not only in defense of my own conduct but for the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth, that I resent at any time and at all times any action that will stop me or any of my colleagues from discussing on the open floor of this Senate an issue that has to do with the welfare of the people of this great Commonwealth and so, in conclusion, Mr. President, I sincerely hope that we shall never have this experience in this Senate again.

If we have too many bills on the calendars then let some of them go over, but never shut off free discussion on any measure that comes before this body. I told this Senate, early in the session that we should not wait until the last two weeks and then jam through all the legislation that we have in the mill. I experienced that in 1937, and I raised my voice to speak at that time against the practice; and I raised it early in this session, that we enact legislation gradually from the beginning of the session down to the end, instead of putting through all the legislation in a hurried manner in the last couple of weeks of the session. No wonder we have had bad legislation: we do not have time to consider it—there is too much of it; but that should be no reason, Mr. President, why free discussion of important matters should be denied any person upon the floor of this Senate.

And now I repeat again—basing my humble experience on the experience of the past—I sincerely say that I hope that this form of dangerous policy will never be adopted again by this Senate.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the Senator from Washington apparently very strongly objected to having debate shut off last night in this Senate. I think anybody who was present in this Senate during the now almost five months of Session knows that there has been the freest of debate that has ever been in any legislative hall in this Commonwealth in my experience. We have heard speeches on moonlight and Butler Sanatorium every day, and talk, talk, talk, on matters that are not relevant very many times to matters under discussion.

Now, I quite agree with my good friend, the Senator from Washington, that this is a forum where there should be free and open debate and I think we on this side have been most patient in connection with the speeches on personal privilege, and I think anyone who has been present in this hall knows that is true.

I would like to call the Senator's attention, however, to the fact that two years ago—I will not attempt to say now, but I will look it up—I don't know how many times the rule was invoked calling for the previous question; but it was, I know, on two occasions two years ago, when the rule calling for the previous question was envoked in this Senate.

Now, that is not an unusual procedure, because it is provided for in the rules; and we also have a rule, Mr. President, that no Senator can speak on one subject oftener than twice. Now, every legislative body has to have rules of procedure.

Last night we had a simple bill up that had been debated in committee—the Senator from Washington was there; it had been debated for almost an hour on the floor of this Senate, and it was two o'clock in the morning, and when the vote was taken there were only seven or eight votes against the bill, and if my recollection serves me correctly, at the time I called for the previous question the Senator from Washington has already spoken twice on that bill.

I submit, Mr. President, as far as I am concerned, there will be no shutting off of any reasonable amount of debate, or no attempt to shut off reasonable debate, but there have been times Mr. President, when the patience of everyone in this body, I know, has been seriously tried. We have work to do, and I think this body owes it to itself and owes it to this State to see that its orderly work is not interefered with by lengthy discussions.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I want to inform the gentleman from Tioga that I had only spoken once on that measure, and that was very briefly, and it was on the second attempt to say a few words that I was shut off; and I think you will find out that I have always raised my voice against any infringement of any of the fundamental principles or practices of our American form of government; and the gentleman from Tioga will remember distinctly that in the Session of 1937, when this chamber was packed to its capacity and overflowing with partisian people, that I spoke vigorously against measures introduced by my own party when the mob was crying in the galleries against it. So, Mr. President, as I said in the beginning, I have made many mistakes but I have tried all the time to stand firmly for the fundamental principles of free American Government.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the gentleman from Tioga could very handily examine the Journal of the last several sessions and he will find that at no time was there any necessity for the minority party at that time—the Republican Senators—to stand up on the floor of the Senate and ask that the doors of this Senate be opened, comformably with the provisions of the Constitution, so that the public might hear what was going on within this chamber.

The gentleman from Tioga knows full well that during the last several sessions the doors of the Senate were open, no guards were stationed there, no one was required to produce a card or a number at the door, like a criminal, before he could get in, but the doors were open—open to the public to enter their forum where their interests and welfare, was being discussed and handled.

The doors were open, nobody closed them; but now in the year 1939—in this era of progress and advancement in civilization, and enjoyment of liberty, the people of this Commonwealth come down to this Capitol to see what is going on in their State Senate—they find a guard at the door, the doors locked against them, and the citizen must inquire of the Senators within whether they can get a card to pass the guard.

Not only that, Mr. President, but other things have happened: the gentleman from Armstrong raises his voice against the neglect of the press, the free press, this press that enjoys the freedom of press guaranteed by the Constitution—a freedom of press to scatter to the people of this Commonwealth subjects, discussions, and opinions that deal with their very existence, and their very life, that press that enjoys that freedom will not bring to the doorsteps and to the firesides of the people of this Commonwealth many fundamental and important matters that are transpiring here on the floor of this Senate.

Mark you, Mr. President, that particular condition developed after the doors of the Senate have been closed against admission of the people of this Commonwealth. And then on the heels of all that, comes the movement of the gentleman from Tioga to cut off debate on the floor of the Senate, on a most vital and fundamental bill. Let me tell the colleagues of the Republican side that what the gentleman from Tioga did last night was merely an act comformable with the very heated discussion that took place last week in the ante-chamber of this Senate, the debate must be throttled, that debate must be gagged, that debate must be stopped, the bills must be passed, the Assembley closed—so that the people may not know too much about their business.

I can tell other people before us have answered the question asked by the gentleman from Armstrong—why this press is not so eager to publish truthfully and verbatim the things that transpire on the floor of this Senate. I have referred to certain papers, to certain press of this State, as a harlot, and I repeat that again—that the press of this State, this controlled press, is no better than a common harlot that sells its body to the highest bidder.

Mark you—Mr. President, let me read to you from the message approving a bill, by Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker, in 1903 Governor Pennypacker's message approving a bill containing the same provisions that were contained in the bill—Senate bill No. 702, in the debate on which the gentleman from Washington was gagged; on page 19 of the book containing the message, which cannot be found in the State Library, we find this, "When, recently, a verdict of $25,000 was rendered against a journal for libel this entirely proper item of news only reached the public by the methods of a hundred years ago. It was unpublished and each man whispered the fact to his neighbor. It is equally idle to contend that untrue statements and vicious assaults produce no effect and that the upright are unharmed."

Again reading from Page 20 of that same book, "The motive which leads to the degradation of the press is very plain and by no means unusual. It is the same motive which causes men to put deleterious chemicals into food, weak iron into the boilers of engines and wood into the flues of houses, the desire to produce cheaply in order that there may be a profitable sale."

Speaking of the bill that was so ably defended by the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery, and in the consideration of which the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Reed, was gagged, harken to what Governor Pennypacker said about it.

"The bill provides under penalty that the names of the owner, proprietor, publisher and managing editor shall be printed with each issue. The purpose of the provision is that it may be known who is responsible for the publication. Every business man prints upon his bills and letterheads and puts in front of his store his name. Every doctor and every lawyer puts his name on his office door. The law provides that a record shall be made, open to the public; of those who compose partnerships and limited partnerships and yet every day pages of material are printed purporting to be a record of the current affairs of the world and claiming the right to sit in supervision upon the courtesies of the parlor and the doings of public officials, and no one knows what their origin, whence they come, who is he who writes them or who is responsible for them.

"If the vendor of a horse were to insist upon wearing a mask so as to escape identification who would buy of him? The Veiled Prophet, though preaching about piety and virture, was so veiled because both hideous in appearance and libertine in conduct. No harm and much good may come from requiring such publicity. These are all of the provisions of the bill, and no one of them would seem to be uncalled for, unjust or unduly harsh."

I recommend, Mr. President, very highly the message of Governor Pennypacker on that bill to my colleagues of this Senate.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. RICE. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. RICE. from the Committee on Agriculture reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 480, (House Bill No. 423) entitled:

An Act to amend section five (a) as added to and section nine as amended of the act approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 224) entitled "An act preventing the manufacture, sale or transportation within the Commonwealth of adulterated or misbranded paris greens, lead arsenates, lime-sulphur, compounds and other insecticides and fungicides and regulating traffic therein, providing for inspection of such materials and imposing penalties" by providing for the registration of insecticides and fungicides by manufacturers outside of the Commonwealth and changing penalties.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection. The Chair hears none.

Mr. OWLETT, by request, read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 994, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (i) of section four of the act, approved the fifth day of December, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (P. L. 2897), entitled, "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis; requiring employers to keep records and make reports, and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons; providing procedure and administrative details for the determination, payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation; providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies; creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer; and prescribing penalties," by including within the definition of "employer" any employing unit which acquired the organizations, trade or business or substantially all the assets thereof, of another which at the time of such acquisition was an employer subject to this act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Armstrong, Mr. Sipe, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, commenting on the remarks of the distinguished and erudite Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, as to the annoyance which I have given him by making frequent appeals on the floor of this Senate for the opening of that wonderful institution for suffering humanity, the Butler Tuberculosis Sanatorium, I want to say that I am sorry that appeals for humanity grate so hard on the Senator's nerves. I am sorry, too, that I wish to add a little to his pain, misery and anguish by reading into the record a letter—rather a copy of a letter sent to the Governor of Pennsylvania by Dr. I. H. Alexander, director of the Department of Public Health of the City of Pittsburgh, under date of May 3, 1939, knowing what agony, what excurtiating pain and annoyance my pleas for humanity cause the distinguished gentleman from Tioga. I have been carrying this letter around with me ever since May 3, not wanting to drive him into convulsions, but since he is provoking me a little I am now going to read it.

"I am tremendously interested in seeing this institution opened at the earliest possible date, and may I be so bold as to state that it is my opinion that it will cost the taxpayers of this Commonwealth much more in dollars and cents if the opening of this institution is delayed.

Eighty-two per cent of the patients diagnosed as suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis are in the far advanced stage of this disease. These are the patients who are spreading the disease to others, and from the public health standpoint, it is most important that these patients be hospitalized as soon as possible. If we expect to cut down the number of patients applying for sanatorium treatment in the near future, we must first control the patients who are spreading the disease throughout the community.

The City of Pittsburgh is in great financial difficulty at the present time. In spite of this financial situation, the Mayor and City Council have provided for the expansion of our present tuberculosis hospital and are urging this department to rush the completion of this hospital in order that these patients, who are a public menace, can be hospitalized at the earliset possible date.

I sincerely hope that you will be able to find the necessary funds to open the Butler Tuberculosis Sanatorium on its completion."

Now, Mr. President, as I said before notwithstanding the agony and anguish that my appeals for humanity may give to certain gentlemen on the other side, I intend to keep on appealing for the opening of this Sanatorium, and I want to say frankly that leaving out of the picture altogether the humanitarian aspect, simply viewing the opening of the Butler Sanatorium on the closing thereof as a cold business proporition, the governor of this Commonwealth ought to have enough business sense to know that locking up for two years, locking up during the rigorous winters for two years, buildings that cost almost two and a half million dollars, will result in a deterioration in those buildings much greater than the cost of operating the institution for two years; and I want to say further that I always like to be helpful, if the Governor is so cramped for money that he cannot take care of indigent sufferers from this disease who, if left without treatment will spread it to others. if he is so cramped for money that he cannot find any for this purpose, I want, in order to be helpful, to suggest to him where he can find at least enough money to pay the salary of the superintendent of the institution, and first assistant, and that is by the Governor turning over to the Butler Tuberculosis Sanatorium for its operation the $15,000 that he drew down of Pennsylvania taxpayers money while loafing on his job for ten months as judge of the superior court. That would be a most magnificant gesture on the part of the shovel leaning candidate for governor, elected governor a most magnificant gesture for him to make in the interest of humanity.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. EDMONDS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 995, entitled:

An Act requiring newspapers published in this Commonwealth to print on the editorial page, the names of the owners, proprietors, or publishers, and the managing editor of the same; and providing a penalty.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I call my colleague's attention to the fact that this bill is a fulfillment of the promise that Senator Mallery gave last night, requiring newspapers to print in their editorial pages the name of the owner or proprietor of such newspapers together with the names of the managing editor thereof; if the newspaper is owned or published by a corporation, then the names of the said corporation shall be published together with the name of the president and managing editor thereof; and if the said newspaper is owned or published by a partnership or partnerships, limited, then the names of the partners and the managing editor shall be published in like manner. It leaves out the minor officials and it changes the penalty.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. TALLMAN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 996, entitled:

An Act relating to, and providing for, the discontinuance and abandonment of the project for the erection, construction, operation and control of the Maximum Security State Penitentiary; authorizing the cancellation and the making or revision of certain contracts and leases between The General State Authority and the Commonwealth to effectuate such discontinuance and abandonment and to pay for damages and losses sustained by The General State Authority; and repealing inconsistent laws.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 997, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two hundred and twenty and two hundred eighty-five of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (P. L. 448), entitled "An act relating to fish; and amending, revising consolidating, and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth," as amended, increasing the resident fishing license fee and authorizing the use of the money derived from such increase for the acquisition by lease or purchase of public fishing rights in the waters of the Commonwealth together with the rights of ingress and egress to and from such waters.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forestry, Game and Fish.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, last Friday there was presented to the Senate a report of the Department of Publis Assistance relating to aliens receiving assistance in the State. The entire report has come to my desk, and I am mentioning it here because it has statistics of all counties, and I thought it would be of interest to some of the Senators to examine it. In a general way, the report shows that in March the total number of persons receiving assistance was 773,050, of which 729,919 were citizens; 11,104 consisted of aliens who had applied for citizenship, but 32,027 were aliens who had not applied for citizenship, and they received in March $551,058. In the same month there was paid to aliens on old age assistance, dependent children, and so forth, additional amounts aggregrating about $120,000.

Now, the thing that surprised me in going over the various districts where these aliens are. I have some sympathy for the statement that was made by some of the Senators from the coal fields, about the difficulties that aliens there have to go through courses of training with reference to naturalization, but the two heaviest counties are the two with the best school facilities, Philadelphia, 7,624, and Allegheny, 7,619, and in both of those communities there are a large number of schools for aliens, teaching Americanism, to which one might think they readily had access, and it looks to me as if we had failed to realize the importance of getting aliens registered as citizens, and if they do not register I must confess my own sympathy becomes less.

RESOLUTIONS RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL No. 83.

Mr. CHAPMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 9, 1939.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur,) That Senate Bill No. 83, Printer's No. 35, entitled "An act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 694) entitled 'An act providing for the payment monthly by the counties to the Department of Revenue of the expenses of keeping convicts in State penitentiaries' by imposing upon the State the keeping of certain convicts" be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

GRANTING USE OF SENATE CHAMBER FOR PUBLIC HEARING

Mr. HEYBURN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 9, 1939.

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania grant permission to the Committee on Labor and Industry to use the Senate Chamber for a Public Hearing on Unemployment Compensation Thursday, May 11, 1939, at 10:00 A. M.

GRANTING USE OF CHAMBER FOR PUBLIC HEARING

Mr. HEYBURN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 9, 1939.

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania grant permission to the Committee on Labor and Industry to use the Senate Chamber for a Public Hearing on Workmen's Compensation Friday, May 12, 1939, at 10:30 A. M.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Resolution?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I object to this second resolution on the ground the committee had no discussion whatsoever on that legislation, the committee has not authorized any public hearing, we do not know what is in the legislation, and I believe it would be more appropriate if we held a committee meeting and decided whether or not we want a meeting, and if one is wanted let us have it at a time when the Senators will be here. I do not think it fair to predicate a hearing upon the fact that we may be here Friday.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there will be a session here Friday and all of the Senators should be here, and as time is drawing short if we are going to have a public hearing, as the Senator from Westmoreland requested, we will have to do it immediately. We are supposed to adjourn in a matter of a few legislative days.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was here Friday, last week when the gentleman from Delaware was not here. I do not know whether we will be here on Friday. I believe the committee should meet on these bills. I think we are getting into a funny place in this Senate and House of Representatives when bills are not even discussed in committee.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his point of order.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I submit that the resolution is a privileged resolution and entitled to immediate consideration.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, is well taken.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in connection with this resolution I should like to interrogate the gentlemaen from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understood from the remarks the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, that we have got to do this quickly. Why do we have to do this so quickly, have this public hearing so quickly? There has not been any definite date set for adjournment, has there?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the newspapers are talking about May 26th.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, do we take the date of our adjournment from the newspapers?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, they take their information from talk they hear from the Republican leaders, I suppose.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, then I am supposed to assume it is the talk of the Republican leaders that they will adjourn at a definite date, whether or not proposed legislation has been passed or whether legislation has been properly considered?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, this is merely a public hearing to gather information, and a public hearing has been requested to be held by a Senator on my left, and also by organized labor and also industry. This does not mean the bill is going to be reported out Friday. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, understands that no bill will be reported out Friday.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not expect the bill to be reported out on Friday, but I am just concerned about the statement made by the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, that we have to hurry because we are going to adjourn. I would like to suggest that I do not think we should consider any question of adjournment until we have considered all of the important pieces of legislation carefully. I do not mean the junk we have on the calendar being disposed of in a rush, because while it is harmful not a whole lot of harm can come from it, but I do object to adjourning when questions of workmen's compensation—amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act, questions regarding the public assistance act, and when there are still questions as to the standing of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and whether we are going to be able to stand financially until we come back. Before we adjourn I would like those questions solved and I would ask whether he has official information of the fact that twenty-six or twenty-seven votes are available to bring about adjournment. If he has the necessary votes that will bring about the adjournment by the twenty-sixth, as he seems to indicate, but I would suggest that the people who are interested in this be given a little more time, heave a hearing next week, and if it is necessary to stay in order to solve this question properly we should stay.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I suppose the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, knows that there is no workmen's compensation act at the present time, and if he wishes to postpone the hearing I am willing, but he will have to explain it to organized labor.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I withdraw my objection but I reserve the right to ask for another public hearing, so that the public may be heard.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to answer the statement of the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, that I know that there is no workmen's compensation. I do not know anything of the kind. I know that there has been a decision by the Supreme Court which affected workmen's compensation. I am not paying any attention to that because it is not before the Senate, but I do know there are proposed amendments to the workmen's compensation act, and I know a little more about that workmen's compensation—which is not necessary to discuss at this time. I will take full responsibility for my obligation, for my actions, to the people and to labor on this question.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland has withdrawn his objections.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

HOUSE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL No. 567.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, May 9, 1939.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 567, Printer's No. 166, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the nineteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws 275) entitled "An act fixing the salary of sheriffs in counties of the eighth class providing for the payment for the care and maintenance of prisoners where the sheriff is the keeper or warden of the jail requiring all fees and mileage earned by sheriffs in such counties to be paid into the county treasury for the use of the county and prescribing penalties" increasing the salary of sheriffs in such counties and providing for the payment of mileage thereto by the counties be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution of the House of Representatives?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in connection with that bill I want to note on record my objection to the recalling of that bill from the Governor. This bill is a bill, as I recall it, without which there would have been no difficulties in the counties that they could not have surmounted until the real problems of this Session were solved.

We are sending bills over to the Governor and recalling them and creating expenses which are unnecessary, and which makes it necessary for us to stay here until three o'clock in the morning in order to dispose of a calendar which means nothing and I want to object to the recall resolution as a signal of the position I expect to take on these bills that are nonsensical bills, they do not mean anything, they waste time and cost money and an administration that talked so much about economy ought to know that.

MOTION TO CONCUR ON RESOLUTION

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate concur in the resolution.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, when you were Secretary of Highways there was no point in anybody trying to write a blank check on the Department of Highways, but since that happy day circumstances have changed.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this bill, No. 153, before it is recommitted I would like to defend it and it is possible there may be enough votes on the floor to defeat its committal. The Republican caucus at first liked the bill but then there was a letter from the Assistant Chief Engineer of the Highway Department, Mr. Keeley, and after reading that letter the Republican caucus thought they ought not to pursue the bill any further. This is what is known as an inferiority complex.

And now, I propose to pursue the subject a little further.

I cannot recall—but I would like to say that in Luzerne county, I know Mr. Muller does not like me to talk about the scandal in Luzerne county, but in Luzerne county we secured the information that mothers who voted infants in arms were put on the payroll in the Highway Department. That is a remarkable thing and another remarkable thing is the fact that in a previous administration the Governor removed from motor funds $1,800,000 for aeronautics.

Those two are—if we add those two together you get $2,400,000 that in error came from the motor fund. and that is the origin and inspiration and genesis of this bill.

I submit that the first duty of a representative of the people, in General Assembly met, is to preserve as far as possible the money paid in taxes.

For ten years since 1929, we have acquired the bad habit of writing blank checks on the Department of Highways and that is about the worse error we can make, because that is a tremendous sum of money in revenue. Now, this same subject has been up in New York State and a friend of mine handed me a copy of the New York Times of April 28, "Lehman's Attack on the Republican Budget Plan and Moffat's Defense." I will not read you the article, as it is eight columns in length, but Mr. Moffatt is Chairman of the Republican Ways and Means Committee and Mr. Moffatt says: "The question of whether the appropriation bill should be lump sums or segregated, or a combination of the two, is a matter that rests with the legislature in its inherent power over appropriations."

Now, to get to this letter, it is addressed to Dr. Logan and reference is made concerning Senate Bill No. 153 making appropriations to the Department of Highways and the motor fund in specific amounts for specific purposes for the biennium.

I am quoting from the letter: "As I have endeavored to explain several times, the work of the Department of Highways is subject to such unusual and unforseen variations that any attempt to appropriate its funds for specific purposes is liable to lead to a complete blocking up of the Department's functions due to inability to meet conditions as they may arise"—he uses the word "functions" five times in this letter, and going back to "unusual and unforseen variations" I would say it is a very unusual variation to spend $600,000 in Luzerne County to secure the mother's vote—a very unusual and unforseen variation for the Governor of this Commonwealth to be able to grant $1,800,000 without the consent of the General Assembly, and therefore I commend this bill—it may not be perfect. Right now I will read a little more from the lettter "I believe that in my years with the Department I have reached the point where on a functional basis I can make as close an estimate of the Department's needs as anyone in the state. I am frank to say, however, that no one could make an estimate of the funds required upon the classifications of Senate Bill No. 153 with any degree of accuracy.

He says, however "if the Legislature desires to obtain a certain amount of control over work of this Department—" he is willing to cooperate. He further says "it should be borne in mind that any appropriation made on the basis of the printed subject covers only the new money allotted to the Department of Highways for the fiscal biennium beginning June 1.

Now, then, this bill, he says does not appropriate money for any functions. I will read to you from page 3, under sub head (b) of the bill: "For the payment of wages or persons employed by the day or week or month for work in connection with the upkeep, repair and maintenance of the state highways and bridges thereon the sum of $30,000,000."

I submit that that is functional. If it is not functional to spend $30,000,000 on a governmental project what is it? In paragraph (H) it reads (h) for the propagation or purchase of trees, shrubs, vines or grass for planting on or along state highways and the maintenance of the same the sum of $200,000." I submit that that is functional.

Now then, Warren Van Dyke, who was what might be called a good deed in a naughty world when he was Secretary of Highways, he had what are called field auditors. Warren Van Dyke unfortunately died. His successor, Mr. Brownmiller—and I have no knowledge of him, I never met him—but he did quit employing skilled field auditors. If there had been field auditors perhaps there would not have been $600,000 of the state's money used in securing the vote of the mothers' vote in Luzerne County.

What I am arguing for is appropriation control. I do not know that I can say anything more, and after listening to the monopoly here this afternoon, the monopoly of free speech I will cease and determine.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, in order that our friend, the good doctor from Philadelphia's confidence in foreordination shall not be demolished I now move that this bill go back to committee for further study. In making that motion however, I want to say that the Republican members of the Senate are not all without sympathy for the point of view of the Senator from Philadelphia—that there should be more budgeting of the funds handled by the various departments. We feel, however, in view of the fact that Dr. Logan said that the bill as constituted is not workable and there should be some changes that the department should be given an opportunity to come and make an explanation of their views on the subject, and have the budget officer in consultation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill 153 be re-referred to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I object to the motion. This is a very good bill, and the only possible reason that it is being sent back to committee and not considered now is because too many politicans have projected their proboscises in the situation.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call and I hope everybody will vote against the motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WOODWARD and were as follows, viz:

All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, this is a qualification of the blue sky law bringing the thing up to date. That law was originally passed in 1923, largely I think at the instance of Senator Fisher who afterward became Governor—he was not, I believe a member of the Senate, but he had served in a previous term.

The bill was amended slightly in 1927 and since that time the Securities and Exchange commission has been established and there have been certain definitions of securities developed which makes our law not quite up to date.

This bill has nothing whatever to do with the administration of the Act; I mean it does not change the administration but merely provides for the work that is to be done by a commission or some other authority, in order to protect the investors of Pennsylvania. This bill has been prepared with a great deal of care and I hope it will appeal to my colleagues.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is it the purpose and intention of this bill to rip out the securities commission?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, it does not touch it at all.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is it true that another bill following this bill rips out the securities commission?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I am unable to answer that question definitely, but I understand there was a bill in the House in preparation, but it is entirely different legislation.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, then that bill would have no effect on the question here?

Mr. EDMONDS. No, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill is merely for the purpose of defining securities in the method developed in accordance with our experiences heretofor?

Mr. EDMONDS. That is correct, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 637, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the removal of mineral deposits from tracts of land prior to the payment of all taxes delinquent for more than one fiscal year and providing remedies and penalties

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Miller.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Miller permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, as I understand it—and if I am incorrect I should like the Senator to correct me—this bill prohibits the removal of coal deposits by the owners of ground unless they have paid their taxes, or rather, if the taxes are in arrears for more than one year.

Mr. MILLER. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Originally, Mr. President, as this bill was framed it prohibited the giving of permission for the removal of the deposits until the taxes were paid, or rather where there was an arrearage of more than a year, and now there is an amendment which takes out the word "permit". Will the gentleman from Luzerne explain the reason for that?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, it just makes it a little more elastic, as I see it, by including the word delinquent.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am speaking of the fact that when the bill was first introduced in the Senate it provided that the owner shall not remove or permit the removal of the coal deposits. As amended the act now reads: "Shall not remove" and the prohibition against permitting removal was eliminated and I am curious and anxious to know why that word was taken out.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I will have to admit that I cannot answer that question.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Miller, agree that in taking the word out it will permit a company to evade the provisions of the Act, that they, themselves will simply not take it out but will permit someone else to take it out?

Mr. MILLER. I do not think that is the intention, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the gentleman belive the bill should be amended to restore the word "permit"?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I do not see why it should be restored—is not the same thing accomplished?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Unless Mr. President, if you restore it you will prevent bootleggers from taking coal—is that the purpose of taking it out? Was the word taken out for the purpose of allowing bootleggers to remove coal—so called bootleg coal dealers?

Mr. MILLER. I do not belive so, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne further.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Miller permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does not the gentleman agree with me that taking out the word "permit" permit evasion of the Act?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I would say no.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to say a few words about this bill. I have great respect for the gentleman who is the sponsor of this bill and I do not think that he is as ignorant of the purpose of the amendment as he seems to think now.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, there is a clause here "they may remove or authorize"—it is the same thing.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the bill prohibits removal and suggests that the word "permit" be taken out. The bill now reads "it is unlawful for the owner of any mineral deposits in, on or under any tract of land of this Commonwealth or for any person, parnership association, or corporation in any fiscal year of any municipality to separate or remove or authorize the separation or removal of any of said mineral deposits from said tract prior to the payment in full of all taxes delinquent for more than any one fiscal year—"

This bill only prohibits the removal, or the authorization to remove it, but eliminates the word "permit" so that they may permit without authorization.

Now, there is either one of two things that happened in the preparation of that amendment—everybody in Pennsylvania knows that there are so-called bootleg coal dealers and, of course, if this bill stayed in its original form the owner would have to pay taxes where coal was being taken out by the bootlegger. Now, under this amendment the coal can be taken out by the bootlegger and the owner does not have to pay the taxes.

Now, let us understand the proposition. First of all, there is no reason why a coal dealer should be treated any worse than any other owner of property; the owner of property who does not pay his taxes should be made to pay them whether he be a coal dealer or not, and there are various ways in which a coal dealer can be made to pay the taxes if the authorities in the county want to do it.

We have been afraid to take any steps on the question of bootlegging because we know there have been rights established and certain conditions exist that may not justify those who permitted or allowed those conditions to go on to take drastic action at this time; but there is no reason under the sun why these men should be singled out and why we should not include the provision that nobody should use his land unless he pays taxes; but, to be logical, to pass a bill providing that coal dealers shall not remove coal from the ground unless they pay their taxes, and then in the same breath say if somebody else removes it for them that is all right, that can be done, and the taxes do not have to be paid, I suggest to the gentleman that there is no question in my mind, and there cannot be to anyone who reads this bill, that what is going to happen is, in districts where coal is being bootlegged there will be no taxes paid.

The bill is wrong in principle, it singles out a group and makes a special law. We prohibit the owner from using the land unless he pays his taxes and at the same time leave an opening for some one to get the gain from the ground without the owner paying the taxes.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I cannot quite agree with the interpretation of my destinguished colleague the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, as to section 2 of this Act. In my opinion the Act reads: "It is unlawful for the owner of any mineral deposits, in or under any tract of land of this Commonwealth, or for any other person, partnership, association, or corporation in any fiscal year of any municipality to separate or remove or authorize the separation or removal—." Now, the word "permit" of course, is stricken from the Act by the Senate Committee amendment, as indicated on line 5, page 2; but I think if the interpretation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, would be followed you would find where the company sat back and acquiesced in the removal that would be an implied authorization and would be clearly covered by line 5 of the Act.

The Act says "remove or authorize," and if corporations or parnerships, or undividuals stood quitely by and permitted the removal and acquiesced in it that would be an implied authorization which would make them liable under this Act.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I say I have heard the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, speak on the subject of transportation and carriers, and I gathered from that, and got the impression, he was a good lawyer. He has not changed my impression now—he is a good lawyer, because he is obviously evading a fact. Anybody knows that authorization is not permitting. Anybody knows that if I am prohibited from authorizing—if I sit back and let somebody else do it I am permitting. I would like the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, to tell me who prepared the amendment for the committee so that I can direct my inquiry to him.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, not being a member of that committee is it possible for me to tell the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, who that gentleman was who prepared that amendment; but might I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia we do not rate our great lawyers in Allegheny County by their ability to evade the facts.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to enter into this argument between two lawyers, but any lawyer knows bootleggers are not permitted or authorized and there is not a darn thing the coal company can do about it. This bill will allow removal of coal by the bootleggers and there is nothing to be done about it, they just go in and do it without permission.

There is another argument I believe more essential at this time in the matter of bootleg coal. You will allow this bill to pass and you will shut down the greater portion of all the coal mines in Pennsylvania, because during the past seven or eight years you have had a depression and it has been felt more by the coal operating companies than any other particular type of activity in the State of Pennsylvania. Those companies which are struggling for existence to-day are doing their very best to pay up some of their back taxes, and in doing so they are keeping employed thousands and thousands of employees; and I say to this Senate that this is a punitive piece of legislation aimed at some particular company or companies, whom somebody wants to drive into line. So, I do not care very much about whether the bootleggers can mine. If you are exempting the bituminous coal mine and want to go into the anthracite and stop them, that is all right, but I object to the bill because the bituminous operators are doing their very best to pay their taxes, and we need them and need every individual operator in my community, and this bill will absolutely shut down the coal operations in my county, if and when they can come to an agreement and can go back to work. I do not believe any such legislation is fair. If you want to stop coal miners from operating because they have not paid taxes, then why don't you stop some of the other industries?

It seems to me when there is something to be done about taxes the decision is always made against the operators. Throughout the entire history of this State we have seen the coal operators and coal miners and everyone connected with coal affected by such measures as this; and in behalf of the coal operators and coal miners in my community I ask those Senators who do not have coal mines in their community to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I am not sure at all that I approve of the amendments to this Act, but in order to enlighten the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, it was my recollection that he was present at the meeting of the Committee on Judiciary General when the words "or permit" were taken out. I know I was present and heard the discussion and I think there were as many Democratic members as there were Republican members.

The question was raised in the committee that in the sections where there was bootlegging of coal going on if, the words "or permit" were left in there and the operators found themselves in a position where they could not stop it and had no policing methods to stop it they might prosecute—I think Senator McGinnis was there—and somebody suggested it would be an innocent prosecution of the owners of land if that "or permit" were left in there, and so it was taken out with the unanimous approval of the committee.

Now, Mr. President, I do not believe that was any secret, there is nothing that that everybody on the committee did not thoroughly understand. I do not know who prepared the amendments but I would suggest to the sponsor of the bill that it had better go on the postponed calendar until we can consider it further.

BILLS POSTPONED

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 637 be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no objection to the bill being placed on the postponed calendar, but I think this is the kind of legislation which ought to be considered. I want to correct the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Owlett. If I had been in the committee meeting, present when this was going on, I would not have raised the question I did. I was not present—that was one meeting I did not attend. I was told if I had been there the Democrats would have had a majority on that Committee, for the first time. I heard the amendment was made in the committee or discussed in the committee. I think it would have been much better if this answer had been given in the first place.

I got the distinct impression from the taking out of this word that it was intended to relieve the owners whose coal was being bootlegged and if that is so we are thereby lending encouragement to something we all know is not right.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not object the bill going on the postponed calendar. There is only one promise I want from the majority party, and that is that this bill will not be called up when I am not here. I try to be here and I have not been away from here many sessions, and I am anxious to be heard on this bill.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I will assure the gentleman the bill will not be called up in his absence.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, Senator Miller, the sponsor of this bill, was not on the Committee; he was not in the meeting of Judiciary General Committee when this bill was considered.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 929, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections one thousand two hundred one one thousand two hundred five of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by defining professional employes substitutes and temporary employes and further regulating the employment dismissal suspension demotion and retirement of such employes go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have received about 780 telegrams from teachers and I imagine most of the Senators have received a similar number. I can figure that up and see it will run into about $400 in money, and I am very sorry that all that money was not devoted to some more constructive purpose. I think the teachers should know by now—and I think it worthwhile to say—that the sending of telegrams en masse in this fashion does not help and does not bring the matter to focus. Four people—after these telegrams came, and I had not read them—four or five people who were interested in this matter came to see me and we sat for an hour talking this matter over and in that hour we came to an understanding on the situation more thoroughly than if they had spent $10,000 in telegrams.

There is some merit in some of the objections which the teachers raised and I suggest that we take a little more time to discuss the matter. I am sure the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, and myself will have a discussion on it to see if we cannot meet and iron out the objections, which, as I see it, are not very serious.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 930, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four hundred four of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P L., 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania togther with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by further extending the authority of the board of school directors in the making and enforcement of rules and regulations for the management of school affairs go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 289, (House Bill No. 282), on third reading, postponed.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 289, (House Bill No. 282), entitled:

An Act to repeal the act, approved the twenty-second day of September, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight (P. L. 37), entitled "An act relating to and removing the remaining additional persons now serving as Pennsylvania members of the Delaware River Joint Commission by virtue of appointment by the General Assembly under the act approved June twelfth, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws, five hundred seventy-five), entitled 'An act providing for joint action by Pennsylvania and New Jersey in the development of the ports on the lower Delaware River, and the improvement of the facilities for transportation across the river; authorizing the Governor, for these purposes, to enter into an agreement with New Jersey, creating The Delaware River Joint Commission and specifying the powers and duties thereof, including the power to finance projects by the issuance of revenue bonds, transferring to the new commission all the powers of The Delaware River Bridge Joint Commission; and making an appropriation,' and providing for the appointment of their successors."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the Act intended to be repealed by this bill was passed because the Supreme Court said appointees by the Legislature could only be removed by the Legislature. The Governor exercised his function to remove the two gentlemen in question and those two gentlemen did not like it and took the matter to the lower court and the lower court decided in favor of the right to remove and the Supreme Court overruled the lower court and said those two people, having been appointed by the Legislature, could not be removed.

The Legislature then passed an Act removing those two people, exercising the authority which the Court said it had, and that bill was passed. Now this is a new Legislature, controlled by the Republicans, and the Republicans now want to repeal that bill; and that left the situation this way: that there is no limit to the terms to which two men have been appointed. Now there has been complaint about the General State Authority and on our calendar here, the bill right ahead of this is a bill to limit the terms of those men appointed by the Legislature, and it is contended that term should be limited.

When it works to suit the Republicans they pass the bill and when it works to hurt them they revoke it; and I am going to say to those men who have chided us for having made removals on a political basis, and argue that the Governor has a right to do that—they should be consistent and vote against this bill, because if the Governor has the right to remove people of good repute from Public Assistance Boards when he, a new Governor, comes in, certainly a Governor has the right to remove from the pay-roll the Delaware River Bridge Commission, and I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finaly?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 505, on third reading postponed for the present.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 505, entitled:

An Act validating purchases heretofore made by bank and trust companies trust companies and national banking associations as fiduciaries of mortgages or other assets from their own commercial departments

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, before the vote is announced I want to explain the reason I voted "no" on this bill. During the period we went through that we generally refer to as the depression many banks and trust companies held bonds in their possession, in their capacity of fiduciaries for widows and orphans, and in order to raid those funds they purchased from their banking departments worthless mortgages, worthless securities on real estate, and took the money of their wards—the widows and the orphans—and the Courts of this Commonwealth have already held that any bank or trust company which took fiduciary funds out and bought mortgages and worthless securities from their banking departments were liable to the widows and the orphans for the money that they had taken to buy those worthless mortgages; and now this Act of Assembly validates those purchases—those transfers of money, and prohibits those widows and those orphans from holding those banks and trust companies accountable for that raid on their money.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I know that there is nothing at present before the Senate but I would like to say a word as to my reasons for voting against this bill. They are the same as those of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, but I want to make the additional statement that every lawyer knows that it is a fundamental rule of law, whether they are fiduciaries or not, that banks and trust companies have no right to purchase their own securities.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to know how it is we acted on this bill when it is under the heading of Third Reading Bills Postponed.

The PRESIDENT. It was called up by the Senator from Lancaster, Mr. Homsher.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title as amended?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the amendment of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, has not taken care of a part of the language in the bill as amended. I think this bill is defective the way it has been amended. It now reads "In all summary conviction proceedings in which the evidence is not sufficient to convict, and the defendant is dismissed, the costs of the suit shall be divided between the prosecutor and the defendant."

Now, this would require the justice of the peace in every case to make a division, whether the prosecutor is at fault or the defendant is at fault; it leaves no discretion with the justice of peace at all, he must divide the costs regardless of what the evidence shows.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, that is the way it ought to be.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I would want to find out just who the prosecutor is.

Mr. EALY. I am just calling attention to this, Mr. President, because it should have further attention before the bill is passed.

And the question recurring?

Will the Senate agree to the title as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

BILL RE-REFERRED

During consideration of Senate Bill No. 560, on page 10 of today's calendar, the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, moved, and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, seconded the motion that Senate Bill No. 560 be recommitted to the Committee on State Government. The Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, now requests that that bill be re-referred to the Committee on Insurance.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, when I reported from committee two weeks ago Senate Bill No. 1, I reported the bill as amended. The amendment attached was that the bill should become effective on the 31st day of December, 1939. When the bill went over to the House it passed but did not have the amendment with it. The record shows that that amendment was attached to the bill. I should like the record to contain my statement in connection with this bill, because I am going to ask the House to amend the bill in accordance with the desires of the Senate.

I also made a promise to the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, that the bill would be amended so that if Senate Bill No. 2 did not become a law, that is, that the charter was not adopted by the City of Philadelphia, that Senate Bill No. 1 would not be operative, and I would like the record to show that; and the amendment has been prepared.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, May 10, 1939, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 6:26 o'clock, p. m., until Wednesday, May 10, 1939, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Guide us by Thy law, rule us by Thy love, lead us in the pathway of service. Let Thy guardian angel hover near to give wisdom to the foolish, strength to the weak, help to the weary and hope to the despairing. Spread the light of Thy truth on our approaching pathway and lead us by Thine unerring counsel that our every step may be in the direction of right.

In the name of the only Righteous One, we ask it. Amen.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 459, entitled:

An Act to amend section five hundred twenty of an act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws twelve hundred six) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" empowering the township commissioners to appoint registered public auditors to act instead of elected auditors or auditors appointed by the Court of Common Pleas and relating to the powers duties compensation audits and reports of appointed auditors

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Wayne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Wayne, whether this bill if enacted will interfere with home rule.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, not at all; in fact it will help home rule.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, how is that?

Mr. DIX. Well, Mr. Speaker, it is permissive legislation and as I understand these bills, they are companion bills. At the present time the auditors are elected to serve for a certain length of time but this permits the county commissioners or the supervisors or a certain group of people, to hire once every four years a certified public accountant or a registered auditor. It does not demand that they do it; it simply permits them to do it.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, does this permit the elected auditor to be replaced by an appointed auditor?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, it does provided that such auditors may be appointed.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe that that would interfere with home rule?

Mr. DIX. No, Mr. Speaker; they are not appointed by people outside of the home district, absolutely not.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Wayne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DIX. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 459 empowers the townships commissioners to appoint registered public auditors. Isn't it a fact, Mr. Dix, that with House Bill 455 defeated there isn't any such animal as a registered public auditor?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Cambria. It can be reconsidered, however. I may answer also that as far as I could observe the members didn't vote either for or against that bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would point out to the membership that House Bill 455 was the enabling act, the heart of the program contemplated in House Bill 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, and 460, and without the enactment of House Bill 455, the entire subsequent program collapses.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Wayne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DIX. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman from Wayne to say that this bill would permit supervisors to take advantage of the situation which would be created and appoint registered public auditors.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, in order to clarify the situation, I would like to make a statement that I think would answer all these questions.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to yield after the gentleman answers my question.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will read the bill, I think he will understand thoroughly just what it means. If he hasn't read the bill he shouldn't ask these questions.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, this bill is an act concerning townships of the first class, and I submit there are no supervisors in first class townships.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a companion bill to several other bills which do include supervisors. At this time I would like to make a statement which I think would clarify the whole situation.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, these bills 455 to 460 are designed to accomplish an improvement in the quality of auditing of the accounts of counties, cities, boroughs, townships, institution districts and school districts. This legislation does not abolish any office. It does, however, permit municipalities to obtain the services of competent accountants in making either the annual or any other audits of their accounts.

The Board of Examination of Accountants would conduct examinations in the field of municipal accounting and license those who pass satisfactorily as "Registered Public Auditors."

Any borough, township, institution district or school district may, at the option of the governing body, employ an "R. P. A." to make its annual audit in place of the elected auditors.

Any county, city, borough, township, institution district or school district, except a city of the first or second class, may employ an "R. P. A." to make an audit of its accounts apart from the annual audit but such an audit shall not be made oftener than once in four years.

These bills permit the municipalities to get competent professional assistance in auditing instead of the amateur part-time service by people who all too often are elected to audit the books of local governments.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to speak against this measure. True enough, the bill was sponsored by a Democrat but it was a Republican Committee that let it get out on the floor of this House.

Several years ago we Democrats abolished special privileges in Pennsylvania. We did it then, and see no need for changing our attitude on this very important issue. We felt then and we continue to feel that in this Commonwealth there should be equality for all and special privileges for none. I for one am very much satisfied with my ordinary type of plates, and am happy to be able to afford them. I ask no additional privileges that cannot be had by any citizen within the Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not feel that the membership should concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate unless considerably more deliberation and thought be given to them.

On page 2 of the title you will see that they have inserted the problem of low head dams. That insertion appears again on page 6. The purpose of that is to prevent and limit the authorities in the type of construction they will make in furthering their own authority work, a very definite and decided limitation upon the activities of the Authority, a limitation that has been placed upon the act in the form of low head dams for the specific purpose of preventing any dams being so constructed that it might be susceptible to the creation of hydro-electric power. I do not know how the majority members of the House feel toward the problem of the construction of dams susceptible to utilization in the generation of electric energy, but I do feel that there should be no limitation upon the type of improvement the Authority can make and their activities along those lines should not be so hampered so that the purpose of the Authority might be impinged upon.

The act as amended by the Senate contains other very definite limitations in the scope and activities of the Authority. It removes the provision of the act which allows bonds of the Authority to be susceptible to investment by certain fiduciaries, including insurance companies, banks, trust companies and any departmental board or commission, and in its entirety, to a great extent, impinges upon the activities of the municipal authorities. I might state that this is not the General State Authority, but rather the authorities that are instituted and set up by the various municipalities and to surround those various municipal authorities with the hinderances as has been done in the Senate amendment surely should not have our concurrence.

I therefore suggest, Mr. Speaker, that this matter be nonconcurred in so that the differences existing between the House and the Senate might be the subject of more deliberation.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the Act of 1935, the matter of low-head dams was in the act in the manner in which it has been re-instated by the Senate. May I read that part of the amendment on page six, because it explains that:

> "The purpose and intent of this act being to benefit the people of the Commonwealth by, among other things, increasing their commerce and prosperity not to unnecessarily burden or interfere with existing business by the establishment of competitive enterprises."

It was in order to prevent this type of construction that this amendment was inserted into the act.

On the question of whether or not these bonds shall be legal investments for the various types of fiduciaries mentioned by the gentleman from York, I desire to state there was objection to that in the Senate, but inasmuch as there are many other important phases of this bill which we feel are important to be enacted right away, it seemed advisable to withdraw that provision from this bill in order to remove the objection in its entirety. Another bill has passed the House and is now in the Senate which deals with that question alone. The number of that bill is House Bill No. 169. Therefore since that problem is being taken care of in a separate bill, I see no reason why we should not concur in the amendments made by the Senate to this bill. I therefore ask the membership of this House to vote "aye" on the motion.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is no assurance given to this House, nor is the majority leader in a position to assure this House, that the measure passed by this House and now before the Senate will be finally enacted. I do not see, pending the final enactment of the companion bill, that we should impinge upon the activities of the municipalities to the extent that their bonds will not be susceptible to fiduciary investment. All that you are doing is practically saying to the municipal authorities, "Gentlemen, you may establish certain public works with municipal authority, but you know if your bonds are not susceptible to fiduciary investment, you will never get the money with which to establish or further those works."

Now, it is very foolish to spend the time of this House on a bill of approximately fifteen pages in order to define, and more particularly set forth, the duties and the obligation of the Authority, and then by the same bill destroy the Authority so that it is not able to finance its project. On the other hand, if the purpose of the amendment is to so impede public works that they will never be susceptible of accomplishment, that purpose is surely obtained.

The problem of low-head dams inserted on page six, line twenty-three is a special insertion placed in there by the utilities generating hydro-electric power to prevent dams being constructed that at some time might be utilized in the generation of electric power.

If the Authority in the furtherance of its project should find it necessary to construct a dam either for flood control, irrigation or for whatever other purpose, might seem advisable to the authority I say O. K. The act specifically says that such a dam must be of the low head construction type, thereby making that construction incapable of utilization in the generation of electric power. I feel it is a mistake for this House on the one hand to tell the authorities to go out and construct a dam for a particular purpose, and then perchance those dams can be economically utilized in the generation of electric energy, say, "You can't use those dams for that purpose, because you are now restricted to construct the low head type." I feel it is a mistake so to do. I feel it is a mistake on one hand to tell the Authority to go ahead, and on the other hand deny the Authority the money, or the possibility of finding the money, whereby they can go ahead. If we expect to continue in this particular type of endeavor, it is absolutely necessary that those authorities be given funds, or else placed in a position where the funds can be secured. This bill should wait until the passage of its companion bill before the House either concurs in it or sends it to the Governor for approval.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not feel that the true inwardness of these amendments has as yet been stated in the discussion. There are, Mr. Speaker, certain municipalities in the state that supply water for communities and which also supply electricity in some instances with steam plants.

The purpose of these amendments is to make certain that those municipalities that already have water works and have their own municipal system for the supplying of electricity, shall not progress still further and change a steam plant to hydro-electric power, a development that might be necessary or desirable in extending their present water works facilities. Some of these municipal plants are very much desired by private corporations now operating. If those municipalities could, in extending the water works systems they now have, build dams which would enable them to supplement their electric power, it would manifestly be more difficult for the utilities to gain a foothold in those communities, and the purpose of these amendments is to help hand over municipal systems to the utilities in those instances where the municipalities have managed to hold their own in furnishing water and electric energy.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on page 6, line 27, it reads, "the purpose and intent of this act being to benefit the people of the Commonwealth by among other things increasing their commerce and prosperity."

If ever an amendment was placed in a bill that was directly opposite to what the bill intends to do, this amendment certainly is that amendment. I think what they mean to say there is, "the purpose and intent of this act being to benefit the utilities of the Commonwealth," not the people of the Commonwealth, because in this amendment it very definitely states that municipalities cannot in any way compete with privately owned utilities. It is absolutely tying the hands of all the local municipalities of the state. Even if the utilities are charging exhorbitant rates, the municipality is unable to start competition with a publicly owned utility. I think if ever a joker was placed in a bill for the people of Pennsylvania, the Senate certainly has done that when they say, "Benefit the people of the Commonwealth," when they should have printed it to read, "To benefit the utilities of the Commonwealth."

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, at the present time the act passed by the last session of the Legislature, to which the gentleman from York, the minority floor leader referred, does not contain any provision for the bonds to be legal investments for fiduciaries. That was inserted into the bill by the House amendment. At the same time municipalities have been able to operate under this act and sell their bonds, although there may be some change necessary to permit the bonds to be used as fiduciary investments; there is some discussion about that matter. However, such a provision would have interfered with the passage of this bill and might have caused the defeat of this bill. I am certain that if the gentleman from York will use his influence with the members on the other side, that he will be able to persuade them that House Bill 169 should be passed, should be enacted into law. I feel he will have considerable influence in determining whether or not the bill will be passed, and I think if he will use that influence towards the passage of the bill it will prove very helpful.

Mr. Speaker, I think this bill in its present form is quite satisfactory, should be adopted as is, and that we should concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand numerous bills have been reported out of various Committees that have been amended in Committee. I further understand that copies of those bills will not be available to the membership, the Printer's numbers will not be known, until some time tomorrow. The problem that confronts this side of the House is how amendments can be prepared to the new Printer's numbers of the bills, in view of the change in the text of the bill, so that those amendments can be presented to the Chair in the form that the Chair will require them.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state to the gentleman from York that every effort is being made. The Printer was advised, in advance of the action this afternoon, that we expected to amend these bills and that we would want them printed just as rapidly as they can be placed in his hands after the Committee reported them out. The Chair trusts that we will be able to have the bills the first thing in the morning.

The Chair realizes the difficulty that the minority may be under in the listing of amendments, but suggests to the gentleman from York that he proceed and endeavor to secure the amendments, and when the gentleman knows how extensively it will be necessary to change the amendment in order to conform with the bill, the Chair will be pleased to receive from the minority leader any suggestion, and will grant him such time as may be equitable and fair.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. In that connection, by reason of the desire of some of the members to leave tomorrow afternoon, and by reason of the fact that the newspaper correspondents have an important engagement tomorrow evening, if there be no objection the Chair will place House Bills 1337, 925, and 1125 at the head of the second reading calendar in the order in which the numbers have been read, so that they can be taken up first and we can hope to get through with the debate before it is necessary for us to adjourn in the afternoon. Does that answer the parliamentary inquiry of the gentleman from York?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the cooperation and the answer of the Chair to my parliamentary inquiry. Upon the time at which the printer will deliver the bills to the House will depend whether or not we will be able to adjust our amendments to the new Printer's numbers and the new texts of the bills.

The SPEAKER. The Chair suggests that the gentlemen who desire to offer amendments, send their amendments to the Reference Bureau this afternoon, with instructions to change the amendments to fit the new Printer's numbers and the new texts. The Chair will instruct the Printer and likewise request the Reference Bureau to give right of way to these amendments in order that thy may be ready for tomorrow afternoon.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 25, 1939.

Whereas, Florence Nightingale was born May 12, 1820 and devoted the greater part of her natural life to alleviate the sufferings of human beings by promoting the organization of modern nursing units through the entire world, in time of war and as well as in time of peace, and

Whereas, her devotion to such cause has contributed incalculably to the alleviation of suffering of human beings in the Hospitals and other similar institutions throughout the world, and

Whereas, the date of her birth is marked with memorial activities in Hospitals throughout many states of this United States, and

Whereas, it is fitting and proper that Hospitals and other similiar institutions in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should in some degree commemorate her natal day as a tribute to her sacrifices

Therefore Be It Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur) that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the setting aside of May 12 as Hospital Day for the commemoration of the birth of Florence Nightingale and urges upon all Hospitals the planning of its celebration in a manner expedient and fitting, and

Be It Further Resolved, that the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby urged to issue his proclamation further urging the Hospitals of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to join in such commemoration of Hospital Day.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1, Printer's No. 14, on page 28 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 8, 1939.

Whereas, The whole world, rent asunder by strife and contention, violence and intolerance, is today in a state of turmoil and uncertainty, marked by a titanic struggle between Democray and Autocracy, while in this Country anti-American forces are striving to discredit and destroy the ideals and institutions symbolized by the American Flag, and social, political and economic forces are Combating one another; and

Whereas, Never before in the history of the Nation has there been greater need among our people for the unity, cooperation and tolerance for which our Country's Flag stands; and

Whereas, With the Stars and Stripes as its emblem. The United States Flag Association, a non-profit, nonpartisan and non-sectarian organization incorporated under Federal law and headed by the President of the United States as Honorary President General, is, with the cooperation of various groups, organizations and fields of activity in our National life, conducting a National Patriotic Revival, culminating in Flag Week, June eighth to fourteenth next, for the two-fold purpose (1) of awakening our people to the dangers threatening our National life, thereby causing them to resolve as never before to uphold and preserve our Country's ideals and institutions, and (2) of promoting National Unity, Patriotic Cooperation and Racial and Religious Tolerance; therefore, be it Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby heartily indorses the plan for a great National Patriotic Revival, and that the Governor is hereby authorized and requested, first, to direct the Superintendent of Public Instruction to arrange for the suitable observance of Flag Week in all the public schools, and secondly, to issue a proclamation calling upon the State officials to display the United States Flag on all State buildings during Flag Week, and inviting the people of the State to fly the Flag at their homes and other suitable places as well as on their cars, and that in every community they hold special exercises at which means shall be taken to give significant expression to our thoughtful love of America, our ride in its glorious history, our faith in its destiny, our devotion to its ideals and institutions and our determination to uphold and preserve them now and forever.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I just rise to inquire as to whether the majority leader has taken a careful census, and do we have any weeks left.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Cambria desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin?

Mr. ANDREWS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker. I am sorry, I do not know what he said.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that is the majority leader's usual misfortune; he too frequently does not know what is being said over here.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I think it is sometimes advisable not to know too much about what is being said over there.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, for the sake of his conscience that is probably right.

Mr. Speaker, I notice this resolution provides for a flag week. I simply asked whether the majority leader has taken a census in order to find out whether we had any weeks left after all of the special weeks we have provided for up to this time. Is there a vacant week?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, in response to the gentleman I might refer him to the fact that this is World's Fair Year, and I understand that many days are being set aside for special purposes, this is such and such a day, such and such a week, such and such a month; that seems to be the order of the day. I might also refer him to a story which I am sure he has heard very often, that if you subtract the number of hours you sleep, if you subtract the number of hours you eat, if you subtract Sundays, by the time you are finished you will find there is only one day left and that is Christmas and we don't work on that day.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his explanation. It reminds me of the story of Parson Jones who was asked by his congregation to quit, and he asked the church board why he had been asked to quit.

He said, "Don't I sputify the devil; don't I argufy the scriptures?"

The board said, "Yes, you sputify the devil, and you argufy the scriptures but you don't specify where at."

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. WALSH and ELLWOOD B. WELSH offered a resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 9th, 1939.

Whereas, on Saturday, May 6th, the Honorable John P. Corrigan, a member of this House, celebrated another birthday, and

Whereas, The Honorable John P. Corrigan is by no means a "wrong way" member of this House

And Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution, properly certified, be forwarded to the Honorable John P. Corrigan, by the Chief Clerk of the House.

Mr. CORRIGAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to thank the two sponsors of this resolution and also the members of the House who have shown me the courtesy of accepting this resolution. I feel that they should not have reminded me of it because I am, like all Irishmen, trying to forget all birthdays. I thank you.

ADDRESS BY MR. HOLLAND

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, unless something is done in the closing hours of this Session to assist, or should I say save, the school system in our distressed school districts it is very doubtful whether or not some schools will open when the next school term begins in the Fall. One thing is certain—owners of homes cannot afford to pay any more real estate taxes. Local municipalities have reached the peak in monies they can receive through taxes on real estate. Local authorities have only one choice to go to for increased income and that resource is real estate, and if we, the legislature, are going to continue our stand to permit large exemptions on real estate holdings to continue, we are derelict in our duty and are certainly not sincere in many statements made on the Floor of this House asking for aid for the school system.

Utilities' holdings—for rate making purposes in the State of Pennsylvania—are $2,181,000,000, exclusive of all railroad holdings. According to all information and comparisons, 30% of this valuation should be real estate. Therefore, according to Utilities own record, they have $654,300,000 carried on their books representing the value of their real estate for rate making purposes, or about three times what the inaccurate survey made shows. For, as advised to this House on previous occassions, local assessing units carry no record of the holding of the Utilities due to the fact that no taxes are collected, therefore, they did not bother to make any assessment. This represents about $22,000,000 in real estate taxes—a total loss to our local municipalities and school districts. This is paid in the other 47 states in the United States—and if we were to adopt the same systems as used in the other States and would levy a Special Franchise Tax as is levied in every other state, the income to the local communities would be $44,000,000 instead of $22,000,000. For, in comparison of Special Franchise Taxes with Real Estate Taxes, we find that in most cases Special Franchise Taxes are even greater than Real Estate taxes paid by the Utilities.

Much has been said on the floor of this House regarding keeping industry in Pennsylvania. And—during the last campaign, the Republican Party spoke in length regarding taxes in other States as compared to Pennsylvania. But I have yet to hear any of the majority party acquaint the people of Pennsylvania with the fact that Utilities in Pennsylvania pay less taxes than they do in any other State. Let us quote what is said in New Jersey regarding Utility taxes as compared to Pennsylvania. At a conference of the Public Service Company of New Jersey, their tax expert—protesting of the excessive taxes in New Jersey—stated,

> "the State of New Jersey holdings in Public Utilities is 1/5th of the Utilities' holdings in Pennsylvania, but the Utilities in New Jersey pay twelve times as much in taxes in the State of New Jersey as they do in Pennsylvania."

The day after the Supreme Court declared the Foreign Franchise Tax unconstitutional, the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation, which instigated the suit, inserted an advertisement in the newspapers giving notice that they had issued a dollar and a half per share dividend on their preferred stocks. On April 24th, John T. Flynn, in his column in the Pittsburgh Press, scores the big utilities tax complaint. He quoted from Mr. Walter S. Gifford, its president, who made a vigorous attack on excessive taxes, although the A. T. & T. had managed to make its 9% dividend in the first quarter of the year. Mr. Gifford said,

> "that if it had not been for Federal taxes, they would have paid $2.00 more per share in dividends."

Mr. Flynn states,

> "it may be questioned whether any considerable number of business men or voters will be moved to tears over the plight of a company which is able to meet all the enormous taxes it complains about and still be able to pay a dividend of 9%. Rather the impulse of the hearer will be to think that the American 'Tel' and 'Tel' has been collecting too much money."

Further down, we can again quote from Mr. Flynn,

> "a blast about taxes from protected utilities making seven, eight or nine per cent, is in very poor taste."

These are the two holding companies who are making a big fight at Harrisburg through their lobbyists to avoid paying a tax that is just and especially at this time when they should come to the assistance of our schools.

I cite these two examples of companies doing business in Pennsylvania and making big profits in Pennsylvania at the cost of our manufacturers and our home owners. And, in many districts, due to the large holding of water companies, they are shifting the burden of taxation on the backs of the farmers. If ever an inequality of taxation exists—it exists when we permit millions of dollars of real estate holdings of utilities to be exempt from local taxation. House Bill 73, held by the Utility Committee, corrects the decision of the Court made in 1825 when the Utilities were small independent companies and not the vast holding companies that exist today. I am surprised that this movement did not come from the majority members of this House. For, the Budget Advisor to the Governor, Dr. Edward B. Logan, had not only been in favor of doing away with this exemption, but in his writing on taxation he has attacked this privilege that the Utilities now enjoy. I want to quote from his letter of March 11th, 1937, addressed to the speaker in reference to a Bill that was then pending to tax the Real Estate of the Utilities. In this letter he states,

> "I have been giving some thought to your Bill and want to pass on to you one thought I believe that it would be possible to show how taxes on Utility Corporations and other Corporations compare. And I think these comparisons would be very unfavorable to the Utilities. It would largely destroy any effective argument they can raise."

I have given every Member of this House a chart showing what is being done in every other State. I have here in my desk, in detail, what is being done in other States. If I thought this Bill was unfair I would be the first to admit it in this House—but all the information I can receive convinces me more of its fairness as data is complied.

I am about to present a Resolution asking for the discharge of the Public Utility Committee. I am in hopes that the sincerity of the members of this House has been genuine when they expressed concern over distressed school districts. Your vote for the discharge of this Committee will be your answer to your sincerity. I am convinced you will support this motion to discharge.

RESOLUTION

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

Mr. HOLLAND offered a resolution which was twice read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 9, 1939.

Resolved, That the Committee on Public Utilities be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 78, entitled "An act to amend section two hundred and one of the act approved the twenty-second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 853), entitled 'An act relating to taxation designating the subjects, property and persons subject, and exempt from taxation for all local purposes; providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons, property and subjects of taxation for county purposes, and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations; amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto, and repealing existing laws,' making the real estate of public service companies subject to taxation, and providing certain exceptions," said bill having been in the hands of said Committee for a period of ten days and more, having been referred on January 17th.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, one word with reference to this resolution. I rise to oppose this resolution with the knowledge that the bill continues in Committee. I want to remind the House that the bill itself is quite an involved one and relates to special taxation. There are two distinct kinds of taxation as set up in the Commonwealth, the real estate tax which applies to the subdivisions of the Commonwealth and the other one a tax applying particularly to the Commonwealth. It seems that this measure benefits only subdivisions where the property might be located and involves the tax structure relating to utilities. I ask this House to vote down the resolution.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the Public Utility Committee, I want the members of this House to know that I was absolutely in favor of having this bill reported to the House for a vote, and I ask the members of the House to vote in favor of the resolution of Representative Holland.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Bucks that there are two systems of taxation in the State, local taxes and those imposed for the benefit of the Commonwealth, but I call to the attention of the gentleman from Bucks that the industries of this state are abundantly taxed for state purposes and that the industries of this state are in addition taxed for local purposes. I think if the gentleman from Bucks will make an analysis he will find that in proportion to the investment involved, industry is overtaxed at the present time for state purposes as compared with utilities. We certainly know that if industry occupies an acre of land in a municipality that industry pays local taxes on that acre of land. We also know that if a utility occupies an acre of land in a municipality, making it impossible for that municipality to obtain any income from that plot of ground, the utility is exempt. It would only be necessary, Mr. Speaker, for a utility to occupy a very considerable portion of the area of a municipality to bankrupt it, because this acreage per front foot would not yield a local income. I say to those who are interested in the schools, those who are interested in the industries of this state, that it is only fair and equitable that the utilities be placed upon the same basis as regards local taxation that industry is placed.

The question at issue is part of a fight that has been pending in this Legislature for twenty-five years. In one session, industry comes and puts something over on the utilities; the next session utilities come in and they put something over on industry. At the present time it seems it is the utilities period to rule and so with their usual generosity, they are penalizing industry. It would not be so important if by penalizing industry they did not reduce the schools in many districts. So I say the bill in question should be trotted out and submitted to the inspection of this House. Therefore I must vote with the gentleman to discharge the Committee.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I appear before you this afternoon not as an advocate of nor to oppose higher taxes on utilities. I am not one of those who has been an ardent advocate of a rigid economy program. I am not one who advocates lower taxes at all costs, by any manner of means, but I have been constantly one of those who opposes taxes on the necessities and advocates taxes on luxuries and amusements.

I have heard repeatedly, without offering objections, the election speeches of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, who I understand is about to run for city council of his home city. In three successive sessions of the Legislature I have seen the Holland bill trotted out on the floor of this House. Two of those sessions were dominated by the Democrats. The bill went to a vote and was defeated. Now, we find the Democrats ardent in their support of the Holland bill, which they could not pass when they controlled this Legislature because they knew it was wrong. Now they advocate discharging the committee of the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, because to do so, first, would help Mr. Holland's campaign, and second, it would embarrass the Republican party.

There is no sincerity in this move. Furthermore I think it is arrant nonsense. In Mr. Holland's district I believe, or one similar to it called Springdale, are two great power plants which serve a large area of western Pennsylvania. If that little pint-sized borough were able to levy local taxes upon the power companies of western Pennsylvania they could pave their streets with gold at the expense of my community and other communities that are much more interested in taking care of their own problems and getting cheaper electricity. We are not concerned about the problems of Springdale Borough in the least.

Besides, the picture painted by the gentleman from Cambria about the possibility of the utility companies using up the entire landscape so we would have no place for billboards and the junk and other things that the Democrats have protected for four long years, is highly absurd; there will still be room for a few campaign planks. There is room, there are plenty of vacant lots, that could be taxed.

If anyone wants to stay in Pennsylvania, because business has been continuously driven out of here by Democratic legislation, if there are higher taxes needed, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, let us show that we have the intestinal fortitude to raise them. At the same time let us show that we have the intestinal fortitude to place them on luxuries, amusements and liquor, instead of upon necessities. Whatever may be said about the utility companies, it is a fact, Mr. Speaker, that they alone pay a gross income tax. That is a fact which no one can deny, and it might be well perhaps if there were a gross income tax.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the question before you now is simply this: Are you going to, on behalf of a bill which has twice gone down to defeat in a Democratic dominated Legislature, yield to emotionalism to discharge a Committee? If you are, let me suggest, especially to those who are now or should have been Chairmen of Committees, that your committee may be the next one to have a motion to discharge presented against it. Let me suggest to some of you who have vigorously fought against measures in Committee, on principle, when you would not care to fight against the same bills on the floor, with the daily papers issuing publicity against you, it might be just as well to sustain the very necessary principle that Committees consider legislation, and that their decision be sustained, unless they are very, very wrong. Bear in mind, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that the Holland bill went down to defeat twice before during the Democratic regime and is today resurrected only for campaign purposes.

I ask you to vote "no" on this motion to discharge the Committees.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOLLAND. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, in the event this bill should be enacted into law, would the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a unit enjoy the benefits from the taxes which would be collected from the real estate of public utilities, as the gentleman proposes.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as the gentleman knows, cannot collect real estate taxes. The only municipalities who can collect real estate taxes, are the local municipalities.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, in the event taxes were placed upon industry as the gentleman proposes in his bill, would the money derived therefrom be placed in the General Fund for allocation to the Department of Education, and from there to be subsequently allocated to the several school districts in proportion to the amount they reduce real estate taxes.

Mr. HOLLAND. It would not, Mr. Speaker, because they could not according to law. Under the constitution of Pennsylvania you cannot tax real estate and put it in a general fund. Real estate in the district where the school districts are located would receive the benefit of the taxes on the real estate of the utilities.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is true, is it not, that of the many hundreds of school districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, only a very few of them contain real estate owned by public utilities.

Mr. HOLLAND. That is not so, Mr. Speaker. In the third and fourth class school districts, they particularly would be getting a lot of help because a lot of the water dams are located in those districts. That was brought out very vividly in the talk on the flood control reservoirs. These water reservoirs exist in fourth class school districts and they are exempt. The result is that these fourth class school districts are handicapped because they lose that money.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, to get the point down to the proposed tax, so to speak, where in Allegheny County is the real estate owned by the People's Natural Gas Company located?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, that would be distributed throughout Allegheny County.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, where is the real estate in Allegheny County that is owned by the People's Natural Gas Company?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, in Allegheny County, if this bill passes, the school districts located at Badger.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I submit the gentleman is not responsive to the question.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, the People's Natural Gas Company has a building located in the city of Pittsburgh.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to remind both of the gentleman that the question before the House is on the discharge of the Committee. We have allowed a very wide latitude in the debate, but the Chair feels that we must now begin to limit it. However, the gentleman from Westmoreland has asked a question and the Chair would ask the gentleman from Allegheny to answer it just as briefly as he can, remembering that the bill is still in Committee.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, the total valuation of the real estate of the public utilities in Allegheny County is $113,306,656. The taxes that would accrue to political subdivisions would be as follows: to the County of Allegheny $934,779; to the school boards $254,943. The boroughs would receive $192,000; the townships, $81,000, and the school districts would receive $528,000; the city of Pittsburgh would receive $719,000; the school districts of the city of Pittsburgh would receive $423,000.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, do people beyond the city limits of Pittsburgh use People's Natural Gas?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, the same argument is used with reference to every department store in the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I said beyond the city limits.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, absolutely because the people come into the department stores, and the people of Pittsburgh do not use the steel made by Jones and Laughlin Steel Company.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the purpose of what little interrogation I had is simply this, I feel that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, is on the right track but on the wrong bill. I personally on two previous occasions during the Democratic administration ran for this office advocating just this very thing. I believe in it, but the bill which is now in Committee if passed as it is, would be of munificent benefit to the local communities in which that real estate is situated. It would be of no benefit to the real estate owners living outside of that community. For instance, in Springdale, I think in Allegheny, but I am not positive, the West Penn Power Company has its main plant worth up in the millions of dollars. It is of course exempt from all real estate taxation. If this bill would go through the borough of Springdale would be sitting high, wide and handsome. However, in the borough of Latrobe where I live, fifty-four miles from Springdale borough, which contributes very heavily to the West Penn Power Company, we would receive no benefit.

I submit, Mr. Speaker, that the passage of a bill such as this bill, while apparently a step in the right direction, will not help the school situation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a whole, but will only help the school situation and taxing units in the locations where the utility real estate is situated. I felt that this issue was going to come up, and I knew that this administration was going to be faced with the problem of raising taxes for relief purposes that are getting beyond control. For that purpose and to save the administration the embarrassment of having this utility bill come up again, I introduced in January, House Bill 212, which was killed in the Committee on Education.

I would vote for this bill of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, if the bill was state wide in its benefits. However, it is not, and as much as I would like to vote with him to discharge the Committee from further consideration of the bill, I must make this statement in order that I may be understood back home, where I have been in favor of such a measure. I cannot vote to discharge the Committee from further consideration of the bill, due to the fact that this bill is simply a local proposition, where the real estate of the utility is situated, and would be of no benefit to the state tax structure or to the school system of the state of Pennsylvania. If the gentleman would amend his bill so that it would benefit the rest of the state I would be glad to vote for it, however, I ask the membership of the House to vote "no" on this particular motion.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, as has been suggested by the Speaker, the debate has drifted away from the subject. The subject under consideration is not the merits of the bill but the motion to discharge the committee. I think both sides have violated this, and I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that the debate be confined to the motion before the House.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I feel that I should be permitted to answer Mr. Kane.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels you should not, under the circumstances.

Mr. HOLLAND. Well then, Mr. Speaker, I will agree with the Chair but I would like to have the opportunity of answering him later.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would not limit the gentleman if he were merely answering the question of whether the Committee shall be discharged. The point of order having been raised by the gentleman from Dauphin we will save a lot of time if we now proceed to vote on the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, apparently the only reason the gentleman from McKean has given to the House to vote against this motion to discharge, which comes within the Rules of the House, was the fact that the Committee Chairman should not be embarrassed by having their Committees discharged from consideration of bills.

I might say to the present Committee Chairmen that they need have no fear in that regard because I have watched the calendar, and apparently the Committee Chairmen have reported out every imaginable bill that has been referred to their Committees. When you look at our calendar you can see that practically every bill that has been referred to Committee has been reported out on the floor, with the possible exception of this bill, so I would recommend to the House, in order that the Committees might keep their record one hundred per cent perfect, that we join in the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny and vote to discharge the Committee from further consideration of what apparently is the only bill that is still in the hands of any committee.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Holland and Mr. Ominsky.

Messrs. Moran, Skale and Harkins asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

In the spirit of genuine earnestness and deepseated honesty, we approach Thee this day, Our Father, endeavoring to express in our labors here the words: "Government is the means of justice as justice is the means of peace." Government, justice, peace! May this trinity of ideals motivate every act and word both in the legislative halls of all our Commonwealths and in the National Congress. May we govern always that justice may be done so that the natural eventuation shall be peace.

In the days of the infancy of our beloved Republic, we remember these words of wisdom: "Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair." We are certain this standard has long since been raised by other hands and hearts. What we are vitally concerned about today is whether we, in our generation, have maintained that standard, so that the "wise and honest" may continue to find asylum under our standard.

Without Thy help, we neither accomplish that which is worthwhile and meaningful and helpful to any considerable degree, nor do we vitally aid in maintaining our standard of Government.

We dare not eliminate Thee from the governmental pictures we daily make, nor close the door of our hearts to Thee in our deliberations.

Gracious God, let each one of our hearts be thoroughly convinced of the necessity of Thy abiding with us always. For Jesus' sake. Amèn.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, March 13, 1939.

Whereas, The whole world, rent asunder by strife and contention, violence and intolerance, is today in a state of turmoil and uncertainty, marked by a titanic struggle between Democracy and Autocracy, while in this Country anti-American forces are striving to discredit and destroy the ideals and institutions symbolized by the American Flag, and social, political and economic forces are combatting one another; and

Whereas, Never before in the history of the nation has there been greater need among our people for the unity, cooperation and tolerance for which our Country's Flag stands; and

Whereas, With the Stars and Stripes as its emblem The United States Flag Association, a non-profit, non-partisan and non-sectarian organization incorporated under Federal law and headed by the President of the United States as Honorary President General, is, with the cooperation of various groups, organizations and fields of activity in our National life, conducting a National Patriotic Revival, culminating in Flag Week, June 8th to 14th next, for the two-fold purpose (1) of awakening our people to the dangers threatening our National life, thereby causing them to resolve as never before to uphold and preserve our Country's ideals and institutions, and (2) of promoting National Unity, Patriotic Cooperation and Racial and Religious Tolerance; therefore, be it be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania heartily indorses the plan for a great National Patriotic Revival, and that the Governor is hereby authorized and requested, first, to direct the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to arrange for the suitable observance of Flag Week in all the public schools, and, secondly, to issue a proclamation calling upon the State officials to display the United States Flag on all State buildings during Flag Week, and inviting the people of the State to fly the flag at their homes and other suitable places as well as on their cars, and that in every community they hold special exercises at which means shall be taken to give significant expression to our thoughtful love of America, our pride in its glorious history, our faith in its destiny, our devotion to its ideals and institutions and our determination to uphold and preserve them now and forever.

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

He also presented for concurrence bills of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 187, (Senate Bill No. 998), entitled:

RESOLUTION URGING DISCONTINUANCE OF BOND REQUIRED FROM RELIEF RECIPIENTS

Mr. DEITRICK offered the following resolution which was twice read:

In the Senate, May 10, 1939.

Whereas, During the last Administration, Act No. 397 was passed which provides in Section 4 as follows:

"Section 4. Property of Indigent Persons Liable for Expense Incurred for Support and Assistance. (a) The real and personal property of any indigent person shall be liable for the expenses of his support, maintenance, assistance and burial, incurred by any public body or public agency, whether owned at the time such expenses were incurred or acquired thereafter. Any public body or public agency may use for moneys so expended, and any judgment obtained shall be a lien upon the real estate of such indigent person, and be collected as other judgments;"

and

Whereas, The State Board of Public Assistance on April 6, 1938, submitted to the Attorney General for approval, a procedure for the enforcement of the act above quoted and on July 7, 1938 by resolution adopted a form of bond to be filed as a lien against real property, and

Whereas, The use of said bond was thereafter temporarily suspended, and

Whereas, The former Attorney General suggested that the Department of Public Assistance should expedite collections from relief recipients by requiring them to furnish bonds containing a clause for the confession of judgment, thereby eliminating the necessity of bringing suit against relief recipients, and bringing about the saving of large sums of money, which opinion was concurred in on March 28, 1939 by the present Attorney General, and

Whereas, Pursuant to the suggestion of the former Attorney General the Department of Public Assistance effective April 1, 1939, issued instructions that applicants for all forms of assistance, excepting blind pensioners, be required to file bonds which procedure is now in effect, and

Whereas, The present Department of Public Assistance has recommended and pursuant to said recommendations, a bill has been introduced to amend the Act of 1937 so that only the real and personal property of recipients owned at the time relief is granted or acquired during the period of said grants, is liable for such repayment and providing also that any judgment obtained for the repayment of relief shall not be enforced against the real and personal property of the recipient comprising his home and furnishings during the life time of such recipient, and

Whereas, The Department of Public Assistance proposes upon the enactment of said act to abandon the use of said bond and to substitute in lieu thereof, an agreement carrying out the provisions of said proposed amended act, now, therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Secretary of Public Assistance, in view of the above facts, be directed to immediately discontinue the use of said bond.

Mr. DEITRICK, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is it not true that the Committee on Welfare and Pensions ordered the reporting out of Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 117, yesterday?

Mr. MILLER. Yes, sir, Mr. President, I have the resolution. I do not think it is time, at least I have not heard it called. I will report it out at the proper time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I raise this question because that resolution embodies certain facts that are covered in this resolution. That resolution was ordered reported out yesterday, and I understood it was lost late last evening, and I am happy to know it has been found, and I will wait anxiously until it is reported out.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING JOSEPH SAXTON

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection, The Chair hears none.

Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 8, 1939

Joseph Saxton, a former resident of Huntingdon, was one of the world's most outstanding inventors.

Joseph Saxton, without benefit of higher education, was nevertheless a prolific inventor. His scientific skill and mechanical ingenuity won him recognition on two continents. As one of the fifty charter members of the National Academy of Sciences he did much to foster the early development of American industry.

Among his most famous inventions are the first magneto-electric machine (forerunner of the modern electric generator); and the metallic cartridge which revolutionized the world's weapons. Scores of other inventions were the product of his fertile imagination.

A native of Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, a citizen of Philadelphia, and in later years a resident of Washington, D. C., he contributed in no small measure to the advancement of his state and his nation. Never did he invent for pecuniary gain. He gave liberally of his labors apparently without thought of reward. His works elicited comments from the eminent scientists of his day, such as Michael Farady and the British engineers, Talford and Brunel, with all of whom he was intimately acquainted.

These achievements reflect great honor upon the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and are worthy of being commemorated in some fitting manner by the Commonwealth.

The fitting commemoration of outstanding achievements performed by native Pennsylvanians acts as an incentive to others to perform meritorious service; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Pennsylvania Historical Commission is hereby authorized to obtain or prepare a suitable memorial to commemorate the noteworthy achievements of the said Joseph Saxton, a former Pennsylvanian, and erect or place the same at a suitable place in the Capitol Building at Harrisburg.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I ask that the Board of Assistance for Cambria County be taken up at this time.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to express my views upon the selection of the board for Cambria County, as nominated by the Governor.

Up until this present time I have had no opportunity to discuss this matter in public. I wish to state I have nothing personally against any of the persons appointed by the Governor. I do charge, however, that all of them are bona fide politicians. I come from the County of Cambria, an industrial county, and I fail to find one nomination of any person named belonging to the ranks of labor and I think that someone is acting very unwisely—not a person, despite the fact that I know of one labor leader, a Republican, who has had twenty-two endorsements of labor unions, including A. F. O. L., and someone saw fit to drop his name from the nominations, and furthermore, Mr. President, Cambria County is somewhat of a queer county. We have in Cambria County in the neighborhood of 75,000 persons belonging to the so-called newer nationalities, and I fail to find one person representing the newer nationalities on any of these new boards of Public Assistance

The former administration made the same mistake. Governor Earle nominated a board in the same manner as Governor James nominated his board.

Last year, during the special session, I was successful in removing three members from that board, and placing upon that board three persons representing labor and the so called newer nationalities. I think it is fair that someone on that board should be a representative of the newer nationalities. If they have to place an appeal they have no place to go.

I think if the Republicans want harmony and try to create harmony they should have seen to it that someone consulted me, at least, to be fair they could have offered me one person, whether Democratic or Republican—I care not. I have tried to go along with the majority leaders of this Senate on all important measures, but when it comes to picking a board affecting my county directly they have cast me aside and paid no attention to my cares, knowing full well it would be up to me to say whether or not that board would be confirmed.

I am willing now to sit down with the Republican leaders of my party in the County of Cambria, or the Senate, to suggest one person. Surely, Mr. President, one person could not control the board. If they would offer one person that I might suggest, and whether that person be a member of the Republican party or of the Democratic party I would not care but, no, they cast me aside and care not for what I think.

I know Republican leaders of my county, outstanding Republican leaders and James supporters, they resent very, very much the board before us today. Many have come to me and asked me to refuse confirmation of this board, but I will not let it be said that I, a Democratic Senator from the County of Cambria would stand responsible for the breakdown of relief in my county. If my friends on the right think they are standing on good soil, that the selection is correct, I am willing to ask my colleagues to confirm this board.

I would much rather that they would hold up these nominations and talk the matter over with me and see whether or not it is possible to arrive at a happy conclusion, but if you insist, gentlemen, upon confirming the board, I will assure you you have sufficient votes on this side of the house to make your confirmation.

The nominations were read as follows:

APPOINTMENT AS MEMBERS OF CAMBRIA COUNTY BOARD OF ASSISTANCE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

Dr. Charles E. Overberger, Barnesboro, until December 31, 1939. (Reappointment.)

MOTION TO PUT BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 47, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I ask that the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, withdraw his motion with regard to Senate Bill No. 472, in order to permit me to offer an amendment.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I will agree to that if the Senator will agree that it be not read for the second time after the amendments are read.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, give his reasons for his actions?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the reason for my action in this connection is the fact that there is a House Bill which does substantially the same thing—which is intended, at least, to accomplish the same purpose as this bill, and I understand it is on the way for passage, and complies exactly with the provisions and suggestions of the Department of Public Assistance and I wanted to hold this bill over until we see whether we can make this comply with the other bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am satisfied my amendments will change considerably the so-called Van Allsburg Bill; and with regard to Senate Bill No. 47, when this bill was originally printed I had intended to offer the following amendments. The bill was printed without my amendments. I am trying to insert an amendment that will provide that exemption shall continue after the death of the indigent person.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with.

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 47, entitled:

An act to amend section four of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. Section 4 Property of Indigent Persons Liable for Expenses Incurred for Support and Assistance (a) The real and personal property of any indigent person other than the real estate comprising the home of such indigent person and other than the personal property comprising the furnishings of such home and other personal property not in excess of three hundred dollars shall be liable for the expenses of his support maintenance and assistance [and burial] incurred by any public body or public agency whether owned at the time such expenses were incurred or acquired thereafter Any public body or public agency may sue for moneys so expended and any judgment obtained shall be a lien upon the real estate of such indigent person and be collected as other judgments except as to the real and personal property exempted above which exemption shall continue only during the life of the indigent person

(b) Any claim for the expenses of support maintenance assistance and burial of an indigent person held by any public body or public agency shall have the same force and effect against the real estate of a deceased indigent person as other debts of a decedent and shall be ascertained and recovered in the same manner

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move to amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 2, line 19, by striking out the word: SC "and" amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4), page 2, line 20, by striking out the following: SC the light-faced brackets before the word "and" and after the word "burial" amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 4, page 2, lines 27 and 28, by striking out the following: SC "which exemption shall continue only during the life of the indigent person"

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

An Act to amend section four of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2045) entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons public cared for or assisted providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives and for the support of such persons by certain relatives and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters and providing procedure" by providing that certain property of an indigent person shall not be liable in any action for the recovery of public funds expended on behalf of such persons

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, with regard to those little chicks, I am just a little bit worried about this bill, as to whether it will have any effect on my operations. I notice that the colors of chickens are changing daily and I wonder if I will be effected by it. I am not concerned with ducklings. Will not the sponsor of the bill enlighten the members of the Senate on the question?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, the color is changed artificially, not naturally.

RECONSIDERATION OF AMENDMENT

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that the vote by which this amendment to Senate Bill No. 377, (House Bill No. 176), was passed be reconsidered.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to suggest to the gentlemen who are assuming responsibility for the tax program that this may involve, in the way this amendment is worded, a considerable sum of money to the Revenue Department. There are a lot of closed banks and trust companies that are holding a lot of securities and they ought to pay taxes on them.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I am sorry—I was talking to my good friend and colleague, the Senator from Adams, Mr. Rice, and did not know this bill was being amended—I did not know which bill was being amended.

I just want to say to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that this is House Bill No. 176, and the act, as it now reads, conforms exactly to the State Personal Property Tax Act, which has been passed and signed. The amendments which the Senator from Erie, Mr. Gilson, has now submitted were submitted to the State Tax Act also, and rejected by the Committee, and I ask the Senate to reject those amendments.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, a question?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, how much is involved? As I understand it, this amendment strikes out property held by receivers and liquidators of closed banks.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, that is correct, but the Department of Revenue was not able to estimate exactly, but it would involve several hundred thousand dollars at the very least, and it may be several millions of dollars, and there is no reason, as was explained to the committee, there is no reason why that personal property, merely because it was held by the receiver of a closed bank, should be exempt from a tax as long as other personal property is taxed.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, is the rule as to State liquidations the same as the ruling as to Federal liquidations?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I so understand.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I was under the impression that there was one group that were exempt, and another group that were not exempt under this tax?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, that may be, but in answer to the Senator's inquiry, that possibly is so; and I rather think it is, but as to national and state banks, nevertheless, the fact remains we have passed a State Personal Property Tax Act after having rejected that very amendment, and I think we will all agree that for the purposes of administration there ought not to be one set of exemptions in the State Act and another set in the County Act.

This act has been prepared to make the provision comply exactly with the provisions of the State Act.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, as has been indicated, the property held by trustees, receivers, and liquidators of state banks is involved, while subject to taxation, while those in national banks are not.

Now, the purpose of this amendment is to relieve the depositor who has an interest in those liquidating banks from the four mills personal property tax. I think it would have been and should have been proper to make amendments on the state four mills basis. I understand, and it may be perfectly natural, that Philadelphia, which has property in some of these banks, and would like to levy a tax of four mills upon the depositors have already lost money, hundreds of thousands of dollars for the benefit of Philadelphia county.

This can mean a small amount of tax as far as each separate county of the State is concerned, but it does mean a considerable amount to each liquidating bank. I can see no objection at all to the exemption applying to the four mill county tax which does not apply to the four mill state tax.

There is, perhaps, a mechanical advantage in having these two taxes identical, but it is not anything of extreme importance that they should be. I, personally can see no justice in requiring the depositors of a bank which has been closed, and which is under liquidation, paying this four mills county tax so far as the County of Erie is concerned, but we are particularly interested in the collection of the four mills county tax; they can see no particular advantage, it does not mean sufficient money; and I think the opposition to this, in so far as the county tax is concerned, is not a matter of grave concern to the State of Pennsylvania, it will not affect the revenue of the State of Pennsylvania one cent. The only revenue that is affected under this amendment will be revenue of the county of the state.

I can well realize that down in Philadelphia they have to dig and get money where ever they can, but I still insist that that is a mighty poor place to get a mighty small amount of money.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I think I made a mistake a moment ago when I drew a distinction between national banks and states banks. As I understand it, where the state banks are being liquidated by the Secretary of Banking, this tax is not imposed; it is only imposed where the state bank is being liquidated by the trustees or a committee of stockholders. In that event I do not think it would affect Philadelphia one cent, because all their liquidation is through the Secretary of Banking. I would suggest to the Senator from Erie, Mr. Gilson, that he allow this bill to lie over, on second reading, so we may study this amendment and see what its implication might be.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I will agree to that.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the ruling used may include a situation where a trustee or bank holds stock as a liquidating trustee, or pool, outside of where it is receiving income on behalf of other persons who are entitled to the interest on the bonds. The Courts have already held that State banks receivers can act as trustees for groups, and in any pool where a bank is trustee there may be millions of dollars worth of bonds, the interest on which would not be subject to this four mill tax, and it does not make any difference whether it goes to the county or to the state, the matter is serious; and the amendment is so far reaching that no one can tell how much money is involved.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, my judgment would be with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, on that point; but that is not the point you want to reach, is it, Senator Gilson?

Mr. GILSON. No, Mr. President.

Mr. EDMONDS. I renew my suggestion that it lie over until tomorrow so that we can study its effect.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, that is agreeable.

The PRESIDENT. There is a motion before the Senate to reconsider the vote by which the amendment was passed.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that the vote by which this amendment was adopted be reconsidered.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his question of parialmentary inquiry.

We would, however, ask that the amendments be submitted to the desk immediately upon the reading of the first section, so that they can be put in their proper order at the desk to be read later. Is there objection to this procedure? The Chair hears none.

L. 15, 1933-34) as reenacted and amended."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, is it possible while discussing the bill to also discuss the amendments which I have offered?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may have the widest latitude in discussing both the bill and the amendments at this time. The Chair, however, feels that the debate should not extend to any other bills to be discussed today. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill we have before us, known as House Bill No. 1337, Printer's No. 672, attempts to do something radical in the line of changing the law as it exists today.

On page two of the bill it first goes on and raises the number of required bedrooms for what is known as a hotel. If you will look at the bill you will see it raises the number of bedrooms, over the existing law in municipalities having a population of one thousand or more but less than three thousand, to ten. Under the present law it is six. The bill then goes on in paragraph C and raises them over the existing laws in municipalities having a population of three thousand but less than ten thousand, to eight.

In paragraph D of the bill it increases the number in the municipalities having a population of at least ten thousand but less than one hundred thousand to twenty-five.

Under the present law it is ten. Then it goes on in those municipalities having a population of more than one hundred thousand, to forty bedrooms. Just bear in mind what this provision of the act actually does. There may be in various municipalities at the present time many hotels that have been properly licensed. Let me say that there are at the present time in municipalities, buildings that were hotels, that are licensed as restaurants. In those municipalities if any particular owner of a property would like to go out and get a hotel liquor license he would have to live up to the new arrangement under the new act. Let me take the city of Bethlehem for example. The city of Bethlehem has fifty-seven thousand people. Under this act there would be only three places in that city that could come under the qualifications of the definition of the word "hotel." Then let us go to the city of Reading which has a population of over one hundred thousand people, and in that city you would only be able to get three places that would qualify under this act, that would have at least forty bedrooms or more. You can see what that amounts to. It is needless for me to go on and explain what the result would be.

The thing that I object to in this bill more than anything else is on page three. The act goes on in line five and says,

> "Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as denying the right to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to renew or to transfer existing retail licenses of any class notwithstanding the number of such licensed places in a municipality shall exceed the limitation hereinbefore prescribed but where such number exceeds the limitations prescribed by this act no new license except for hotels as defined in this act shall be granted so long as said limitation is exceeded."

This is what that actually amounts to. Those places that are legally doing business today and licensed by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, if you pass this bill, it does not protect existing license holders. In other words, if the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board saw fit it could close a great number of licensed places today, although I have been informed by various members of the Liquor Control Board that it is their intention not to disturb any existing licensee. However, under this provision of the bill you can readily see the difficulty of the retail licensee because of the provision wherein they say in Section two on page two:

> "No licenses shall hereafter be granted by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board for the retail sale of malt or brewed beverages or the retail sale of liquor and malt or brewed beverages in excess of one of such licenses of any class for each one thousand inhabitants or fraction thereof."

Now, just stop and consider what that particular section amounts to. Read it in connection with the section starting with the word "nothing" on page three, line five.

Let us take the city of Harrisburg for example. The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board can close at least thirty-five to forty-five places if they see fit. I do not think it is right for the members of the Legislature to legislate out of business, as it would be possible to do in this very act, those places that are legally in business today, because, first of all, they have been duly licensed by the Legislature through the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board. In the second place, they have been running their business in accordance with the law, otherwise their places would have been shut down. Third, they have made a material investment in many cases and practically their entire savings are invested in the particular enterprise, where they are licensed to sell alcoholic beverages. So I say that that particular section for which I have an amendment, which I have already handed up to the Speaker, should be amended in order to protect the licensee who is in business legally today, to see to it that he is not legislated out of business, or rather thrown out of business, upon the mere whim or the will or desire of the members of the Liquor Control Board. This act expressly excludes hotels.

In that sense let me say that it is my opinion that where a group of persons gets together and organizes a non-profit organization, going through the routine prescribed by the law, which they call a "club", I feel that the provisions of this section should be extended to clubs especially in Pennsylvania, because the people of Pennsylvania like to fraternize with each other, with the result that we have more clubs in Pennsylvania than in any other three states put together. Bear in mind when a group of people bands together as a club, they do not do so for profit but do so usually for mutual advantage and usually for a worthwhile purpose. I say the exception should also apply to clubs. Let us take a group of men, citizens of this state, who probably in the next year will want to organize themselves into a non-profit organization and go through the regular legal form and after they have been duly organized, they see fit to ask the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board for the privilege of being able to sell alcoholic beverages to their members. Bear in mind that they are not in that particular business for monetary purposes, they are only there for their own individual selves. The same thing applies to them as a group as would apply to an individual who goes to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board's retail store and buys himself a bottle of whiskey. When the members are banded together in a club, they, through their agents, go and buy from the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board stores alcoholic beverages. It is brought to their headquarters and distributed to their members, which is practically the same thing an individual does when he goes to the Liquor Control Board store and buys himself liquor. Bear in mind also that the Legislature from the time of the bringing back liquor to Pennsylvania has recognized that clubs are distinct from the average and ordinary retailer, so much so that when the original act was passed, the Legislature saw fit to give licenses to clubs on the payment of a nominal fee. They also saw fit to give clubs the extra privilege of remaining open on Sunday. That was because they recognized the fact that a club is not trying to make money from the sale of liquor for their own individual welfare. They recognized the fact that Pennsylvania is a state wherein we like to band together and get together. They also recognize that fact that where a club is legally conducted and run for the benefit of its members they should have some privileges in that respect.

Therefore I say to the members of this House, especially in the provisions I have mentioned, and that is, first, the question of guaranteeing to bonafide licensees, who have a license today, that they will have a license next year, that do not have to stand by and see a member of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board throw them out of business. Secondly, that the clubs shall be excluded in this act the same as hotels. Third, that the question of bedrooms in a municipality as is attempted to be defined by this act, should be defined as they are in the act as it now stands. Certainly there has never been any complaint by any municipalities as to those places which are doing business under the name of hotels. If they are good today and they haven't had a complaint from the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board or from the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I do not see any good reason why the Legislature should now go and change the definition as to the number of rooms in various municipalities.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, our debate on this particular bill will be brief.

The gentleman from Northampton has introduced two amendments to this bill. He seems to have missed the main point as far as this legislation is concerned. In the first instance I believe the paramount issue insofar as liquor legislation is concerned, is a drastic reduction in the number of licenses. In this bill we have defined the population ratio so far as new licenses are concerned. The ultimate object which we hope to obtain is that eventually we will have one license for every one thousand of population. So far as his amendment as to the number of rooms in hotels is concerned, it is our belief that under the present law a great many people have had issued to them hotel licenses who are merely masquerading as hotels, and have the privilege of selling liquor by the bottle to guests in their so-called hotels, and thus compete with sales by the Pennsylvania liquor stores. It is for that purpose that we have defined hotels by setting forth the number of bedrooms according to the population of the community. So far as his amendments in general are concerned, if adopted, they would destroy the effect and purpose of the bill.

We therefore ask that you vote down the amendments offered by the gentleman from Northampton.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Curran.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CURRAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Curran, whether it is true that under the existing law a hotel in order to receive a hotel liquor license must have six bedrooms in use?

Mr. CURRAN. That is the present law, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Delaware whether in his opinion, if this bill should be enacted into law, hotels that could meet the requirements of the present law but would not have enough bedrooms to meet the requirements under the new law, would be subject to revocation proceedings?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, they would not. They would still have the privilege of securing a license but would not come under the provision of this bill which puts hotels on a different basis from other licensees.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, what license could they receive?

Mr. CURRAN. A hotel license, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, how could they receive a hotel license when they couldn't come up to the requirement of the act in their particular locality?

Mr. CURRAN. On renewals, Mr. Speaker. It is not the purpose of this bill, or the intention of this bill to affect any present licensee, but to eventually cut down the number of licenses and to give legitimate, bonafide hotels adequate protection under the law.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman where in the bill he finds any provision that saves hotels holding licenses at the present time from the provisions of this act?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, the answer is quite obvious. It is not the intention of this bill that when a licensee, presently holding a license, makes application for a renewal that his application shall be turned down because of the fact that there is more than one license to each one thousand population. It would be unconstitutional so to do, to deny him that right. The purpose is to ultimately cut licenses down to that population ratio. The matter of cutting down, Mr. Hess, in your opinion would be by revocation. Those who violate the law, their licenses will be revoked, and in that way it will work toward a limitation of the number over a period of years.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Delaware have any objection to an amendment being inserted in this bill that would definitely state that hotels holding licenses at the present time, but do not have the required number of bedrooms as stated in this act, shall nevertheless be permitted to have their licenses renewed?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, we would object to such an amendment, because we think it is unnecessary.

Mr. HESS. Then, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman where in the act such licensees are saved?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman will have to read House Bill 1337 in conjunction with House Bill 1125.

Mr. HESS. Is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that those hotels that do not come up to the new requirements set forth in this act would immediately be subject to revocation proceedings?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, that is absolutely not so.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that under this act there is a saving feature for licensees in the event the number exceeds the ratio set forth in this act, namely one license to every one thousand population, but there is no saving feature for a hotel license?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, there is a saving feature for hotels that answer the description and definition set forth in the bill.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I should further like to ask the gentleman if there is a saving feature for the hotels that do not meet the definition set forth in this bill?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, there is not so far as the protective features given to hotels which answer to the definitions set forth in the bill are concerned but no hotel holding a license would lose that license at its expiration, but it would be given the same consideration as any other applicant for renewal.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, what language or what portion of the bill does the gentleman refer to in arriving at that conclusion?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman will again have to read House Bill 1125 in connection with House Bill 1337.

May I make this clear: there is no intention on our part in any of these bills to take away from any present licensee by revocation or by refusal to renew. The only purpose sought to be accomplished is to limit the number of licenses through revocation or by failing to apply over a period of years, or for violation of the law.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CURRAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, am I right in understanding that the gentleman stated there are quite a number of places today that are masquerading under the name "hotel?"

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, that was the information and evidence brought before our Committee.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Isn't it a fact, Mr. Speaker, that if a place is doing business and is not an active hotel, the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board can come in and revoke that license?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, no.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Why not?

Mr. CURRAN. Not unless they find a violation of the law, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, would it not be a violation if they were only masquerading as the gentleman uses the word and not a hotel as required by the act of Assembly?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, not under the present law.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman correctly to state that it is not the intention of the sponsors of the present bill to deprive anyone who is duly licensed at the present time to sell alcoholic beverages, but that he can continue in that business?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, that is right. If the gentleman will refer to page twenty-three of House Bill No. 1125, at the top of the page he will note, and this also answers Mr. Hess' question—

The SPEAKER. The Chair fears departure into House Bill No. 1125 will get us into difficulty later on in the debate.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking about House Bill No. 1337.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that, and he will permit the gentleman to answer, but the Chair trusts the members will not wander off into other bills.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, on page twenty-three of House Bill No. 1125 it is provided "that no new license shall be granted in any municipality which will cause the number of licensed places in the municipality to exceed the number limited by law." The number limited by law is the number set forth in House Bill No. 1337.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not answering my question. Let me give you a concrete example. Let us say in Harrisburg the population is about ninety thousand, and excluding hotels, as the definition is set forth in this act, you would be entitled to ninety places to sell liquor at retail is that correct?

Mr. CURRAN. That's right, Mr. Speaker. That is eventually, over a period of years.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Eventually, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CURRAN. Over a period of years, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, isn't it a fact that under House Bill No. 1337, when anyone applies for a renewal, it is only in the discretion of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board as to whether or not they want to issue a liquor license.

Mr. CURRAN. That is not correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, where does the gentleman get the opinion that he has given me?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, may I refer the gentleman to House Bill No. 1125 at the top of page twenty-three, which provides that no new license shall be granted and so forth.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, let me read then to the gentleman slowly House Bill No. 1337, Printer's No. 672, page three, line five:

> "Nothing contained in this section shall be consrtued as denying the right to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to renew."

Does the gentleman get that? They can renew but they don't have to renew any existing license in the city of Harrisburg today if it exceeds the number set forth in House Bill No. 1337.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, that is not the purpose or intent of the law.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I am not interested in the purpose, I want to know from the gentleman whether this bill says what I am saying or not?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, of course the gentleman read the provisions in the bill, but the gentleman can only read that in connection and in conjunction with House Bill No. 1125.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1125 only goes on and states the question as to new licenses, I am only talking now of those persons, those present licensees, who are in business today and want to renew their license. There is nothing in this act that guarantees to them that their licenses shall be renewed if they live up to the provisions of the law.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman desire to ask a question?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I asked him a question.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I thought the gentleman was making a speech.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, let me ask this then, what would happen if House Bill 1337 were passed and House Bill 1125 were defeated?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, the present licensee would still be protected.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, where would he get that protection for the present licensee?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, from the existing law.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman forgotten the provisions of House Bill 1337, where it limits the licenses to a ratio of one to one thousand people?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, that is the ultimate aim and intention of the bill.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be in favor of an amendment that would protect those persons that are duly licensed as retail alcoholic beverage sellers today in the renewal of their alcoholic beverage license providing they live up to the rules, laws and requirements of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, positively not, because they are protected under the present law.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I don't quite understand the gentleman. He said "positively not."

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, we positively would not agree to such an amendment. The gentleman asked two questions in one.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, where would the harm be in an amendment if you are absolutely sure you want to protect the man who is in business at the present time?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, we are sure.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is sure?

Mr. CURRAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, still the gentleman cannot point to the particular section of the bill that guarantees assurance on that point.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I have pointed it out.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Where, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, in conjunction with the two bills as read together, and the existing law.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, the existing law?

Mr. CURRAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, where is the provision in the existing law that the gentleman knows of that will guarantee a renewal of a liquor license to a present licensee, if House Bill 1337 should pass and House Bill 1125 should fail?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman familiar with the present law?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Very much so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will turn to page 27 of the act he will find that it states:

> "Unless previously revoked, every license issued by the Board under the act shall expire and terminate on the thirty-first day of December in the year for which the license is issued.
> "Licenses issued under the provisions of this act shall be renewed annually upon the filing of applications in such form as the Board shall prescribe, but no license shall be renewed until the applicant shall file with the Board a new surety bond and shall pay the requisite application fee and license fee certified in this act."

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, from which act is the gentleman reading, the beverage license law or the liquor law?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, the liquor control law. I thought we were talking about the liquor law.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1337 affects everything.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman know anything about House Bill 370, which was passed in 1937?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I know it very well; that has nothing to do with the issuance of licenses; I am only asking you in reference to House Bill 1337. Therefore, since we have two acts, a beverage act and a liquor act, I should like to know the particular provision the gentleman is referring to, because the one refers to liquor and the other refers to malt?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman making a speech or asking a question?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, a speech for the information and knowledge of the member. May I have the page of the liquor control act from which the gentleman read?

Mr. CURRAN. Page 27.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, if House Bill 1337 is passed, will not that supersede the provision of the Liquor Control Act as set forth on page 27?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I think not.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman sure instead of thinking?

Mr. CURRAN. We are sure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman sure?

Mr. CURRAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, whose opinion is the gentleman giving now, his own?

Mr. CURRAN. It is my opinion, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman positive of that?

Mr. CURRAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Is the gentleman giving anybody else's opinion?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I can't speak for anyone else.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean to say that the House of Representatives, in a bill of such importance as the Liquor Control Bill, has only your opinion?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I think my opinion is as good as his.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I agree with him. Mine isn't so good. May I ask the gentleman whether or not he has taken up this particular section, which I am discussing with council for the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and gotten his opinion?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, that would not change my opinion.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I know that the gentleman is learned in the law; he gets paid for it. In view of the fact that the gentleman is so positive that the present licensees will not be disturbed, I can't understand why he objects to an amendment which I think will guarantee them that privilege.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, it is impossible for me to understand why the gentleman from Northampton cannot understand.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I read a different language from the Republicans. Section 3 of the act of House Bill 1337, reads as follows:

> "The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board shall have the power to increase the number of licenses in any municipality after it has determined that the population of the municipality is not the true criterion of the number of persons who must be served in any such municipality, particularly in municipalities located within the resort areas."

Isn't it a fact that under that language the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board could disregard this provision and issue more licenses?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, we think not. That is an amendment to House Bill No. 1337 which was suggested by the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman. He can explain it very well, because it affects his county. It also affects other counties in Pennsylvania which are resort counties in which the winter population is not a true criterion of the need to be served.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, that would also effect a municipality where they have more drinkers than the average allowed by law, because the gentleman apparently goes on—

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, again I refer the gentleman to Mr. Achterman of Monroe County.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman want Mr. Achterman to answer my questions?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I would be very happy if Mr. Achterman would answer it. I think it is a very fine amendment.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in reply to the question, section 3 was drafted solely for the purpose of having an equitable distribution of licenses in resort areas. My county is an excellent example of the problem that would be raised if House Bill No. 1337 were to pass without that section.

In my county the population is around 30,000. At the height of the summer season I presume there may be as many as a quarter of a million people in the county. Most of them are, of course, away from home, frequenting hotels, restaurants and other eating places, and of course, also purchasing liquor. I think the figures will show that our county, although the population is only 30,000 is something like eighth in position as to sales of liquor, making it quite obvious that the usual number of licenses would not be adequate to serve the people. This clause, with the consent of the Committee, will make it possible for resort areas to have a sufficient number of licensed places to adequately take care of the transient population. It was not intended to accommodate drinkers as drinkers, but rather to accommodate the public.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think with legislation of this kind it might be advisable and it might be helpful to the membership at large for members to state their own particular, distinct experience, in order to enable us to come to some real conclusion on this particular bill. I know that in my district we now have approximately thirty-seven licensees and I have seen them close because of inadequate business. I have seen them closed by the Liquor Control Board because of law violations, and I have seen them spring up in places where people had the feeling that they could make a success of the business.

However, under this section as Mr. Curran claims, eventually we might under our population quota have possibly thirteen or fourteen tap rooms. Now the people in my district may be peculiar. If they don't have their tap room readily available to them in their immediate neighborhood they are not going to walk a few blocks and get their glass of beer. What is going to happen is that our present quota of speak-easys which still exist in my district is going to be multiplied because it is going to be more convenient and even cheaper to get bootleg liquor in my district.

I think, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that we can't possibly legislate and regulate the liquor problem in Pennsylvania by making so many rules and expect to be able to have them flexible enough to cover the situation. I think, gentlemen, the immutable law of economics, the law of supply and demand eventually, with proper policing by the Liquor Control Board on questions of ethical practices will thin out the ranks of undesirable places and at the same time permit the people in the various areas, by their own wishes and their own drinking capacity to eventually give us the proper number of drinking places in any particular area. I feel that legislation of this kind is not going to do my district any good, and I think possibly the same condition exists elsewhere. I want the membership of the House to know how it might work out in a district like mine, and since I am firmly convinced of the very harmful effect on the situation there, I feel I must oppose a regulation which is as drastic as this bill proposes to set up.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think most of us, at least to some extent, are inclined to agree with the purposes of this bill. It is an attempt to limit the number of licensees. However in the construction of statutes, what might be said by any member of the House relative to the interpretation of that individual member as to the legal effect of legislation that is passed, has no force or affect whatsoever. The intent of the Legislature is gathered entirely from what is written into a bill and not what might be said on the floor of the House in its passage.

I quite agree with the gentleman from Delaware that it possibly is the intention of this act not to result in denying the right to license any existing establishment, but as I read the act, I do not believe House Bill No. 1337 accomplishes that purpose. You will see in section 2 of page 2 of the act, that there is a very definite limitation as to the number of licensees, namely, one to each one thousand population. On page 3 of section 2 there is a specific saving clause which goes on to say that,

> "Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as denying the right to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to renew or to transfer existing retail licenses of any class notwithstanding that the number of such licensed places in a municipality shall exceed the limitation."

There is nothing in the act that says that irrespective of whether or not a hotel that does not conform with the new definitions of a hotel as set forth in House Bill No. 1337 should have its license renewed. The bill goes on to say that hotels may have their licenses renewed even though the hotel licensees might exceed the population limitation, but there is nothing in the bill which says that existing licensees shall have their licenses renewed where the hotel does not conform to the hotel definition as set forth in the act.

Now I don't hold myself out by any means to be an authority on constructing statutes but I will say that if we are desirous of enacting into law the things that the gentleman from Delaware has indicated he would like to have enacted there surely can be no harm in saying "Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as denying the right of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to renew existing hotel licenses," and that is not stated in the act.

I am inclined to agree with the gentleman from Northampton and the gentleman from Berks who raised the question, that unless that saving clause is put in the act, we are placing ourselves in the position where existing hotel licensees will not conform to the new definition as set forth in the act and might be legislated out of business. If it is the intention of everybody to write the law so that existing hotels shall not be legislated out of business, I think that intention should be especially signified by an amendment in this act rather than by reference to another act. Nevertheless in the construction of statutes the clause is used: "All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed." Further, under the principle of the construction of statutes this act would take precedence and would have to stand on its own feet. I would recommend, if it is the intention of the House to have a saving clause for existing hotel licensees, that that saving clause be specifically inserted in the act in order to accomplish that pronounced purpose.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, there are three sets of amendments. I ask that each one be taken separately.

The SPEAKER. They are being read separately. These are the amendments to section 1. Does the gentleman desire a division as to the amendments to section 1?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, yes, I do.

The SPEAKER. The first one, the Chair presumes is as to the number of bedrooms in a hotel. The second one pertains to clubs.

The Chair lays before the House the amendments to section 1 lines 3 to 15 pertaining to the number of rooms in a hotel.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Jirolanio and Mr. Powers and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I recognize that it is utterly futile to utilize a lot of valuable time of the members. I also realize that possibly in ten or fifteen minutes everything that might be said can be said, and for that reason I will try to be as brief as possible in trying to prevail upon the members of the House to see the amendments that have been presented.

We all know that House Bill 1125, Printer's Number 674, is an amendment to the Liquor Control Act. It is a major piece of legislation and amends our liquor law in Pennsylvania. I think we all realize also that there is certainly a need for regulation and close supervision of this business which has become one of the largest pieces of business in Pennsylvania. It is generally known as the eighty million dollar business, and I am sure that no one in this House would want to do anything that would choke that business, or open any door in the business so that it would revert back to where it was during the days of prohibition.

I have presented amendments that go through the entire bill. We are discussing now the striking out of a provision that has been inserted by the majority party. None of the amendments insert anything new in the bill, what I have tried to do is to return the bill back to its original form.

There may be three particular headings that might be discussed as to House Bill 1125. First the question of district boards, next the question of an increase in license fees, and then an important thing, the question of the right of appeal.

On the question of the district boards we know in House Bill 1125 a district board is created for each district, having a population of 25,000, with the exception of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties. Philadelphia, as we know, has four boards and Allegheny county has three. There is nothing in the act as to how many employes these boards may have; there is nothing in the act that states how much it will cost the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; there is nothing in the act that regulates, so far as this Legislature is concerned, what the cost of this thing will be to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Allegheny county. Before we pass this bill I think we ought to know at least approximately, and as far as it is humanly possibly, what it will cost the people of Allegheny county.

It may be argued that it will cost them nothing, because it will be paid for by the people who are buying liquor. I call to your attention the fact that the liquor business, whether you agree with it or not, is carrying a good load of the taxable property in Pennsylvania. If we did not get from the Liquor Control Board certain moneys for relief and other state expenditures we would have to get it from taxation from some other source. Therefore it is indirectly carrying the load that would have to be placed somewhere else. Then, on the question of district boards that has been raised throughout the state, the question of politics was raised, and a very naive and novel situation arose. The bill originally provided that the President Judge of Common Pleas Court No. 1 of Philadelphia should name the nominees for the per diem members. The present judge stated he didn't want to do that, and when it was switched to give the power to the Senior Judge of the Board of Judges of Philadelphia County he said he didn't want it. The reason he doesn't want it is because it places the Board of Judges back in politics. If these two judges can change their opinions and decline to perform that task, when the members of the House legislate that one judge shall have that power, and that one judge says he doesn't want it, it seems to me that we ought to consult the President Judge of each county in the state of Pennsylvania, and have all the judges stand on the same footing. If His Honor, Judge McDevitt, who does not want to assume this task, can put the burden upon the Senior Judge of the Common Pleas Courts of Philadelphia county, then I think we ought to consult all the president judges throughout the entire state of Pennsylvania, if we want to be fair, and get an opinion from all of them. I think it is inevitable that putting the selection of these nominees for these per diem members into the hands of the judges is going to put this propositian right into politics, and I challenge any person in this House to refute that statement. I cannot say any more than has already been stated. I have, however, a very fine editorial which I would like to read into the record from the Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia, which is captioned,

"LIQUOR LEGISLATION."

There seems to be no motive behind the proposed drastic change in the liquor law except politics. As matters stand now, the Liquor Control Board manages the State Stores and issues all licenses to retail dealers. A bill in the General Assembly would take the privilege of issuing licenses out of its hands and give that power to district boards to be appointed by the Judges. There would be four licensing bodies in Philadelphia.

That would be a return to the old days when liquor was a strong influence in politics. The politicians have little or no control under present conditions. Employes of the State Stores are chosen from civil service lists. There is no pull involved in obtaining licenses. So the pending legislation was drafted to give them a hand in the matter.

In the days before prohibition, Pennsylvania had what was known as the Brooks High License Law. The saloons, wholesalers and brewers received permits from the Judges of the Courts of Quarter Sessions. Judges themselves are authority for the statement that they were subject to much pressure. Politicians and others concerned with obtaining liquor licenses interfered with the work of the courts, harassed the Judges and frequently sought to bring improper influence to bear upon them. The whole system was subject to criticism and talk of corruption was frequent.

Fault has been found with the present method of granting licenses. In many communities there are said to be too many of them, but economic conditions ought to remedy that complaint. Some barrooms have been located in residential neighborhoods, but that has always been a moot point about saloons. The objections to some bona fide clubs and one-man organizations operating as clubs are being cleared up. There have been fewer grounds for serious objections to the Control Board plan than to the old system.

But if district boards are to have power over licensing liquor selling, it will mean a lot of jobs. These will naturally go to the persons with political prestige and the former obnoxious political domination over liquor will return and naturally liquor dealers will strive for the upper hand in politics.

While the State Liquor Control Board has been criticized, it is fairly free from the type of influence that would weigh with the proposed district boards. If politicians and others interested in liquor did not hesitate to try to corrupt and otherwise obtain licenses from Judges in the old days, how much more will they be active in harassing the type of men who naturally would obtain the jobs of controlling privileges to sell alcoholic beverages.

Under no circumstances should Judges be brought into this business again. The issuance of all licenses should be retained under the jurisdiction of the Liquor Control Board. It is doing a good job which is improving constantly. It would be a mistake that probably will bring deep regrets if either major political party lends itself to throwing the retailing of liquor back into the hands of its henchmen.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I think this editorial of the Evening Bulletin states the situation clearer than I can. It is boiled down and hits the point as I see it as to putting politics back into the liquor business.

I should like to cover one other point that is mentioned in my amendment and that is about the right of appeal that says that a licensee who wishes to take an appeal to the courts must post a five hundred dollar bond, or cash. Now, under the present liquor law, under the law that will be amended if House Bill 1125 goes into effect, the licensee will still have to put up a two thousand dollar bond, and that bond can be forfeited for violation of the Liquor Control Act. Now we are going to say in addition to that, before he can go into court and have his appeal act as a supersedeas, so that he can continue his business, he must post five hundred dollars which will be forfeited if he does not win. Take the situation that we had in the western part of the state last week, when a very learned judge in Greene county construed a certain portion of the liquor control act in a way that it had not been interpreted before and of course, whether or not his interpretation is correct, it is the law as long as it stands, or until he is overruled. Judges are not perfect, they make mistakes. All licensees after this bill has been enacted would refrain from going into court for fear of losing five hundred dollars, and yet a judge comes out in 1939, after the act was passed in 1935, and interprets the law in a way in which he says, the right to go into court, whether it is the liquor business or any other business, is an American right which should be open to everybody alike and no man shall be penalized because he goes into court. By this bill he has something put before him which will deny him the right to go into court except under pain of losing a substantial sum of money. The courts ought to be open to everybody, and this Legislature of 1939, representing the people of Pennsylvania, should not close the courts to anyone, on pain of punishment if you do not win your case, whether it be the liquor business or any other business. We are confronted with a very vital fundamental issue in our American jurisprudence.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, since there are other members who want to talk on this subject, and in order to give them a chance, I will close by simply bringing to you this fine editorial in the Evening Bulletin, and I say to you, keep this eighty million dollar business out of politics, keep it where it is, keep the courts open for every man who wants to go in to them. If he goes in and if he loses the court has no right to assess the cost of the court action against him.

He should not be penalized before his case is determined in the court.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill and the two companion bills are designed to regulate the liquor situation of Pennsylvania. Recently Governor James appointed to the Liquor Control Board Dr. Hitchler. There is no question that the Governor had confidence in the gentleman, otherwise he would not have made the appointment. He made the appointment feeling that certain things ought to be done in connection with the regulation of liquor. I desire to quote from one of the Pittsburgh newspapers, the Sun Telegraph, from the April 13 issue, which, in part, reads:

"Dean Hitchler's background indicates that he is a good man for the post. Governor James knows him well, for they have been friends since childhood, and there can be no doubt that the new appointee is in sympathy with the Governor's desire for an improvement in conditions in the liquor trade."

The other member of the board is Mr. Wagner, a gentleman who had thirty-one years or more experience in the liquor business prior to the prohibition era and he knows the business of purchasing liquor better than any man in this Commonwealth, and is a man, I believe, who is honest, fair and impartial. The third man on the board is also capable.

Members of the House, if there was no thought on the part of the Governor when he made the appointment of Dr. Hitchler and he did not indicate anything about removing any of the other members of the board, I think that we ought to be back of the Governor and retain centralized control of liquor where it is now. To put the control of liquor legislation in the county boards would certainly lead to graft and political corruption.

I desire also to read an editorial that appeared in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin on May 2, and let me point out to those members who are not acquainted with the policy of the Evening Bulletin that the Bulletin is a conservative newspaper and independent. It is not dictated to and is not connected with any political organization and has no affiliation. I quote in part as follows under the heading of

"UNSOUND LIQUOR LEGISLATION:"

"It is an old political dodge to load desirable reforms with objectionable provisions that it is hoped to put over while public attention is distracted by the contemplation of the benefits promised. That appears to be the case with the amended liquor control legislation reported in three measures from committee to the House at Harrisburg."

"Then there are abuses connected with clubs to be looked after. A closer attention to the proprieties in the location of drinking places in residence neighborhoods is also desirable.

"The liquor legislation now before the House promises advantages to the public on those lines. But it also proposes to set up a series of fifty district boards to help administer control. It is in essence a county control system, although Philadelphia will have four boards and in some cases smaller counties will be lumped together to form one district. County intervention means politics, and politics in enforcement means in the end wide opportunities for graft.

"Pennsylvania has now an excellent control system administered by a State board whose methods are showing increasingly beneficial results. It should continue to be the sole administrative body, without addition of an expensive and dangerous county setup. The State can better forego the advantages of the measure of reform offered in other directions than sanction so dubious a change."

In addition, members of the House, as the bill was originally written and subsequently amended it reposed the authority to make the appointments to these county boards, first on the President Judge of the Court of Common pleas of Philadelphia County. The President Judge is Judge McDevitt. Since this bill was publicized in the newspapers and brought to his attention, he immediately made a public statement to the newspapers in which he criticized the bill and said it was illogical. The bill was amended to read so that the President Judge of the Board of Judges of Philadelphia County would make the appointments. The President Judge of the Board of Judges is Howard A. Davis of the Court of Common Pleas No. 3 of Philadelphia County. Judge Davis immediately made a public statement in which he said that judges should not be tied up with politics.

Members of the House, what are we going to do about these bills and particularly this provision? The President Judge of the Common Pleas Court No. 1 does not want it, the President Judge of the Board of Judges does not want it, and if you pass the bill in its present form, Judge Davis won't, at least he has indicated that he doesn't want the job of making these appointments. I therefore suggest to you members that instead of bringing about a situation which might embarrass this Legislature after we adjourn, we support the amendment striking out this particular provision, contained in Section four of the bill, which amends Section two.

Members of the House, Mr. Homer S. Brown of Allegheny County has already pointed out that there is no restriction on the number of employes. Another thing: What will this permit the employe to do when he is not holding hearings? The bill does say that he shall have such other duties as the board shall prescribe, but since the only purpose of the county boards or the district boards is to hold hearings and determine the matter of granting licenses, after those duties are finished, what else will he do? The act says nothing about it. Per diem men who receive fifteen dollars a day, if they only work one or two days a week, will receive their fifteen dollars a day, and then on the other days, all that they have to do is report to the office and they get their fifteen dollars a day. You can easily see what this will lead to. In the end you will have a situation where men will be appointed for two or three months, receive the emolument of fifteen dollars a day and then resign in favor of another man, and so on around until each one receives political graft. Members of the House, as I stated to you before, the matter contained in these bills is a question of great importance. I feel that the present board is competent and able to regulate the matter of liquor control and what we should do is to keep the control there, give the present members of the Board more authority in enforcing the law, and in addition to that, members of the House, I understand, and I am reliably informed, that at the present time there are approximately 180 or 190 enforcement men connected with the Liquor Control Board. These men must cover the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. You can readily see for yourselves that that number of men is insufficient for the complete and full control and enforcement of the Liquor Law. I feel therefore that we ought to increase the number of men in the enforcement division so that they can have more opportunity and more time to properly enforce the law; centralize the enforcement of liquor control so that we can know where we can go when something critical or something embarrassing arises. I therefore suggest that you put aside party politics, put aside partisanship, whether it comes from one side of the House or from the other side of the House, look at this fairly, justly and equitably, support these amendments centralizing the control of liquor. I say this to you, members of the majority side, if you have any confidence in the Governor and his appointees to the Liquor Control Board, you should all support these amendments so that we will know where to go when anything is wrong.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not in accord with the sponsors of the bill when by their inferences they attempt to mislead the House by stating that House Bill 1125 is a bill to promote enforcement of the liquor laws in the Commonwealth. I don't believe that the Republican organization in this House is content with the passage of the Van Allsburg bill on relief, placing relief into the realm of politics. They have once again attempted through House Bill 1125 to place the liquor business of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania directly into politics. What other purpose could the sponsors of this bill have than the inclusion of liquor in politics when they create in House Bill 1125 a district board. Nothing has ever been said, and I defy any member of the House to state on this floor, that the centralized control of relief in the Commonwealth has not been according to the rules of the game. What other purpose could the sponsors of this bill have than to rip out the centralized power of an eighty million dollar business and place it into the hands of district boards appointed by politicians. Much has been said this afternoon regarding the statement of the Judge of the Common Pleas Court in Philadelphia, and much has been said regarding the statements in the press this morning relating to the statement of Judge Howard Davis of Philadelphia. Even if the judges in Philadelphia are willing to assume the responsibility of the appointment of these boards, I would say to the members of this House that we ought to be against it. I think that in the prerepeal days, we heard enough of the courts being in politics. I say to the Republican membership of this House, if they want to see a return of the days of prohibition they ought to pass this bill, because this bill will give to every temperance society in Pennsylvania the right to demand the repeal of liquor in Pennsylvania.

By House Bill 1125 district boards are created; four in Philadelphia. We are going to give Howard Davis, although he doesn't want it, the power to create four boards in Philadelphia which will have the sole power of saying whether a man secures a license or doesn't secure a license. What other thought could the Republican party in the House have by including in this bill a provision such as this; what is uppermost in their minds but to give back to the politicians in Philadelphia the right to dispense liquor licenses? I say to you Republican members of the House, if you care the least bit about the welfare of your party, you will strike that provision from this bill with the amendment of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The bill also provides for an increase in license fees. I want to tell the Republican membership of this House, they are not kidding any member of this House or the people of the Commonwealth by this inclusion of an increase in fees. On the one hand you are going to raise license fees twenty per cent, you are going to boost the cost of administering liquor in the Commonwealth three times the amount that is being spent at the present time, and on the other hand you are going to diminish the number of licensees in the Commonwealth as explained by my colleague, Mr. Skale. You are not going to get any more money in by increasing fees, because you are going to decrease the licensees in proportion to what the increase in the amount of fees will amount to.

Then we come to the right of appeal. The Republican organization provides in this bill in order for the poor taproom owner, and most of them are very poor today, to defend himself or take an appeal in the courts he must put up five hundred dollars and this politically dominated liquor board in Pittsburgh, or Philadelphia or Reading may say to him, because he doesn't comb his hair properly, or he doesn't wear the right kind of a tie he can't secure a license. They are going to penalize that poor individual in every city in the Commonwealth by saying: "Mr. X, you must put up five hundred dollars in cash or bond." I wonder what the Republican organization has in the back of its mind in that respect? I wonder if in the near future, if this bill is finally enacted, whether or not we will be confronted with a situation whereby the Republican ward leader will go to his district board, which will be composed of politicians, and say to them, "Don't deny Mr. X the right to have a license, because Mr. X is a friend of ours and he doesn't have the five hundred dollars for the right of appeal?" I tell you, members of the Republican party, if you want the return of prohibition, this bill will give it to us; if you men are sincerely advocating the return of prohibition, defeat the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny. If you are sincere in the desire and in the belief that liquor control must be administered by a fair, impartial body, you will vote for these amendments; you will strike from this bill the right to create district boards, you will strike out the increase in fees which are unnecessary today in Pennsylvania and you will finally give to the people of Pennsylvania tighter liquor control laws and not looser ones.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to say at the outset that I do not rise in order to use up the time of the members of the House. The minority party has agreed to conform with the desires of the other members of the House not to debate at length all of these amendments and to expedite this liquor legislation as much as possible.

I rise at this time to defend this amendment which I think should be brought to the attention of the members of the House.

The first speech by the minority was made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Homer S. Brown, who is respected, and esteemed by each and every member of this House. He distinctly told you of the attitude of the judges of the various courts. You have heard the Representative from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, tell you something with reference to the courts of Philadelphia County. You have heard from these gentlemen just what effect these district boards will have—that you will place politics in the liquor business. There is no question in my mind whatsoever that Pennsylvania today has three fine men at the head of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board; there is no question as to the integrity and the ability and the conscientiousness of those three men, and there is no question in my mind but that they will attempt to do everything that is right within their power.

On the question of the district boards you have heard it said that this is not done with a political viewpoint. I want to say to the members of this House, if they feel that politics should not have any place in liquor enforcement, I have an amendment with reference to the district boards that will take out the question of politics. One of the amendments which I have offered, which will be read by the Clerk, says this, that the members of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board shall have the right of appointing two men to the district board and those men shall be one from each of the major political parties. In other words, I am saying in my amendment this: "We have seen fit to entrust an eighty million dollar industry to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, we think they are qualified, therefore if we must have district boards, then let the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board select the men whom they see fit" because after all, in the final analysis, we members of the Legislature and the citizens of the state of Pennsylvania hold the members of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board responsible for the effective enforcement of the act, and the way in which the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board enforces the act. I say to you, members of the House, if you are interested in good government, you should vote for this particular amendment. You have heard much said as to the question of supersedeas; you have heard various members attack the principle that you are attempting to enact into this bill wherein a person who desires to question a decision against him is forced to put up a bond of five hundred dollars. I want to say to the members of this House that they can't show me anywhere in the law of Pennsylvania anything as unethical as that. I say to you gentlemen that this State has derived more money from the sale of liquor than from any other thing in the past six years.

There is another amendment which I have submitted for the consideration of this House. Today, although men have invested quite a sum of money in their business, it appears that the time when they can actually earn a better livelihood than at any other time is on Saturdays. However, they are required to close their places of business at midnight on Saturday. I am proposing an amendment which would allow retailers to sell until one o'clock Sunday morning. You may say that is infringing upon the laws of the Sabbath. I say to you gentlemen you certainly would have enough time to go to bed, get up and attend your church if you felt like it. This amendment gives the man who is in business a legal chance to earn a few dollars which he needs at this present time. I cannot understand for the life of me why, when the Republican party is concerned so much about helping business, especially small business, it forgets the man who sells liquor, bearing in mind the interpretation of the courts of the rules and regulations of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, that you shall not primarily be interested in the sale of liquor in your business that must be a secondary matter, and for that you can ask the Chief of the legal staff of the Liquor Control Board.

There is something else, members of the House. The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board is entrusted with the enforcing and carrying out of this act yet the members of the majority party have not seen fit to call upon, and get the advice of the members of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board. I say to you if anything is a flagrant disregard of the Board members, it is the fact that the House of Representatives is passing enactments for the control of liquor in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania without consulting those men whose duty it is to carry out the provisions of the act. Gentlemen, that to me is something that I can hardly understand. Although you have placed men in control of this work whose character and ability is above reproach you say to them, "Although you are responsible for the carrying out of this act, we don't trust you, we will not take the advice you are willing to give, we will allow men who know nothing about the carrying out of this act, who have never been in the liquor business to come in and write into an act that which they think should be the law."

There is another amendment I have introduced and it applies to something that occurs very, very frequently during the summer, and it applies equally to the Democratic and Republican parties. I will take my county as an example. During the summer time, clubs hold picnics in Northampton county, both the clubs of Democrats and Republicans. They hold affairs which men running for public office and even the Chief executive attend. These affairs are illegal, but what happens? Nothing is done because the infraction is trivial and they permit the affairs to be held. I have proposed an amendment which will give the clubs an opportunity to hold three picnics a year on the premises on which they have a license to operate, but before they can do that they must apply to the Board for permission. They must pay a fee and the license for that purpose is good for only a period of twenty-four hours. I want to say to the members of this House, let us legalize something which is being done illegally in your county and my county. There is no use in your saying to me and my saying to you that that is not so. I say that ninety-five per cent of the counties in Pennsylvania hold such affairs on Sundays and other days of the week where intoxicating beverages are distributed. If we think that it is all right for these affairs to be held —if we think it all right to attend these functions, let us be men, let us make it legal. The idea that liquor legislation be a partisan issue does not appeal to me. All the members of the majority that were members in 1937, will recall that I was one of the men who backed what was then known as the bill to permit package sales in Pennsylvania and with the assistance of men like Representative Kane and other fellows, we defeated that amendment. That showed that the Democrats in 1937 did not make liquor legislation a partisan issue. I believe that today there are members of the Republican party who down in their hearts feel they should vote for some of the amendments I have introduced, but don't have the intestinal fortitude to stand up and voice their opinion. They are far worse than the Democrats were. In 1937 I stood in this very Hall and heard the minority leader say how the Democrats voted like a bunch of cattle, they voted when and how their dictator, David Lawrence, saw fit, yet today, the very thing that the then minority leader said was not right is being done by the majority party. I don't think it is possible that all the members who represent the majority party can have the same thought in the same way. I say, members of the House, let us forget that we are Democrats, let us forget that we are Republicans, let us remember the fact that we are here representing the citizens of the state of Pennsylvania, let us be men, let us vote our consciences for once in this Session of 1939.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in rising to comment on this bill I am afraid I will have to disagree with some of my colleagues on this side of the House. I do not favor nor do I approve a county board system. I feel that the system ought to be centralized in the state. However, I have confidence, I have respect for the members of our Board of Judges in Philadelphia. I feel that in order to avoid any accusation of politics, it would be wise under the present system, if there has to be a county board, to place the appointive power in the Board of Judges instead of placing the power of appointment in one particular judge. As I said a moment ago, I have the utmost respect for every member of our bench in Philadelphia, and I feel that they should not be accused of politics in this connection. I feel that the best way to solve this situation is by giving the entire power with regard to the district boards to the Board of Judges. I thank you.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentlemen on the other side who have debated the amendments seem to me most of the time to have their tongues in their cheeks. They have attempted to be very helpful to the Republican party in its approach to this program and at the same time their amendments when examined, would take out of the bill every feature we have recommended and written into this particular bill. They have also indulged in a great number of misstatements of fact. I don't know whether they read the bill or not, whether they understand its purpose. First of all I would like to say to you gentlemen that our approach to this problem carries out not only the platform of the Republican party but the mandate of the people which was given to us on last November 8th. Our platform provides, and that is the beginning of our approach to this problem on liquor control:

> "We pledge rigid and honest control of the liquor traffic. Licensing must be made more responsive to local needs and opinions, both for the protection of communities and of reputable persons engaged in this business."
> "We pledge close supervision of tap rooms and road houses for the protection of our young people and of the interests and rights of the public at large."

Members of the House we had that thought in mind when we approached this problem and attempted to solve it in this bill. We all realize, first of all, that there have been too many licensed establishments in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and that not only chislers but many types of individuals who really have no right to have licenses are engaged in the business. The purpose of this bill is to cut down the number of licensed establishments in the state of Pennsylvania, and to make the control and the enforcement of the liquor laws more responsive to local needs and local conditions. It is with that thought that we have provided for a district board in each district as set forth under this bill.

The members on the other side would have you believe that those district boards issue licenses. They do not. Those district boards, the personnel of which is determined in the first instance by the President Judges in the various districts, are appointed by the Liquor Control Board at Harrisburg. The Liquor Control Board at Harrisburg either selects the appointees from that list or they can reject the list, if you please, if they are not satisfied with them, if the President Judge of any particular county does not see fit to name nominees, then the board at Harrisburg can appoint two reputable and outstanding citizens in each county to advise the board. That is the purpose of this bill, to get away from remote control in Harrisburg and give our local communities something to say about who should have license and what particular place shall be licensed, keep licenses out of our residential sections, away from our schools and our churches, away from our hospitals and our public playgrounds. That is the purpose and intention of having district boards, not with the idea that they shall issue licenses, but merely to act in an advisory capacity.

Much has been said by the gentleman from Allegheny about the provision in the bill which requires a licensee whose license has been revoked by the action of the Liquor Control Board after a violation of the law to put up a five hundred dollar bond. Gentlemen, that is in keeping with all of the provisions of this act which tightens up on the control and enforcement of this law in the state of Pennsylvania. That provision has been misconstrued. In the first place, let me say to you that no one has the right to have a liquor license. It is a privilege which is given to a citizen of the state and that privilege may be surrounded by any regulation or restriction which the state wants to place on it. Therefore, a man has no property right in a license; he has a mere privilege, and the privilege to retain a license so long as he continues to keep the law. If he violates the law, his license is revoked and if he wants to appeal to the courts, we have given him a greater right of appeal than he has under the present law. We say further if a man wants to keep his licensed establishment open for six or eight months during the determination of that appeal by the courts, he shall put up a bond for the privilege of remaining open and doing business. We have approached that situation in a straightforward manner. We have taken out the back door approach which was put into the law in 1937. If a man violated the law his license was suspended for a certain number of days and he could come in and compromise with the board by the payment of ten dollars a day during the period of his suspension. Of course, only certain people were given that right of compromise and they paid for the privilege of being open. I say they should put up a bond if they have confidence in their case and want to appeal it to the courts, and that is why we put in that provision. I don't believe you can wrap the Constitution around it either. It applies to everybody in the State. If a man wants to take an appeal, if he wants to close his estabment after his license has been revoked, he can appeal to the courts while his establishment is closed and there is no necessity for giving a bond.

Much has been said about what some newspapers have said about this proposed law. I would just like to quote for a moment the last paragraph of an editorial which appeared in the Harrisburg Telegraph, and which is quoted from the Johnstown Democrat. The editorial reads as follows:

"The paramount issues, insofar as liquor legislation is concerned are these:

"A drastic reduction in the number of licenses.

"Legislation which will make it possible to eliminate the undesirable type of licensed place.

"Legislation which will insure the efficient policing of the liquor business.

"The protection of the legitimate club against the sweep of local option sentiment.

"Tell the average member of the average club Prohibition is a menace which hangs low upon the horizon and he will probably laugh at you. Nevertheless, that is a fact. Given four more years like the last four and prohibition, instead of being a menace will be a fact. The clubs and the retailers should not ask too much lest eventually they receive nothing."

Gentlemen, this bill that we have prepared is a sincere effort on the part of our Committee to tighten up on the liquor business in the state of Pennsylvania. Nothing in this bill disturbs the Pennsylvania Liquor Stores. I think that is a fine system. We know it has been copied by a great many other states and we believe that this bill, when it becomes a law, will give to all of the people of Pennsylvania a better system of liquor control and liquor enforcement. I therefore ask you to vote down all of the amendments which have been offered to this bill.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Curran, when he says we would try to destroy all of the features of the bill and accuses us of not reading the bill, I think he is in error, because I presented my amendments to the Chairman of the Liquor Control Committee and I presumed he presented them to the gentleman from Delaware several days ago, and we were in hearty accord in saving a good part of the bill.

I call the gentleman's attention to page 9, new paragraph (k) beginning with line 26, which of course is not disturbed by the amendments.

I call his attention also to page 16 of the same bill, beginning in line 7 down to line 27, which has to do with licenses wholesale purchase card and we intend to strengthen that, because we think it is a good provision. The only thing the amendment does to that provision is in line 17, page 16. The amendment provides two words shall be inserted so that it shall read as follows: "Any licensee who willfully and knowingly uses his purchase permit card" and so on.

How can he condemn all of the amendments simply because his mind is beclouded on the question of district boards. If it were possible that these amendments could be given serious consideration, either in the Committee or on the floor of the House, there would be some perhaps that would not touch on the district boards. There is an amendment that I don't think can be harmful to anybody. As it reads at present it says, "Any licensee who uses his purchase permit card." I think he ought to be given a chance and he ought not to be penalized unless it is proven that his card was used to defeat the purpose of the act, which would amount to defrauding the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. When the gentlemen says that the Constitution is being wrapped around the bill, I don't know what he is talking about. No one has raised a constitutional question here. Whether or not that is just something thrown out to act as a smoke screen I do not know, but if the gentleman from Delaware has any impression that I intended to cast any reflection upon the Republican party or any other party, I publicly ask his apology, because as I recall I said nothing in my remarks about any party and never have upon the floor of this House. Therefore, I say to the gentleman from Delaware perhaps it would be wise for him to read the bill and the amendments together, and if he does so he will not cast any reflection upon some of us on this side of the House.

I also call his attention to the statement prepared by the Liquor Control Committee of this House in which it designates the duties of the district boards, and one of them is that refusal on the part of the board to renew a license shall be final. No one says that district boards shall issue licenses, but when it refuses to issue a new license, then of course, that is almost tantamount to denying a license, because the Liquor Control Board will sustain the district boards.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think we attacked this problem with as much earnestness and with as much sincerity as the gentlemen on the other side of the House, and I personally feel if the gentleman believes it was a question of politics, he certainly is wrong in his opinion. Of course, when we read as to how the district boards can be selected, where the nominees can be submitted once and be rejected, can be submitted twice and be rejected, and then the board goes on and makes the appointment, the rather reasonable inference would be that where a Democratic judge presided, the probability would be that he would keep the appointments in his own party. However, I am not arguing that, it is immaterial to the bill. They can take that as an argument if they wish, but our position here is to save the liquor business for the citizens of the Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Furman, to preside.

MR. FURMAN IN THE CHAIR

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, when I said the amendments offered by the opposition, or by the minority, completely emasculated the bill, I meant all of the amendments as a whole. Of course, the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny merely took the heart and soul out of the bill and I still ask you to vote down all of the amendments.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Curran.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CURRAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman have an opportunity to read the amendments offered to House Bill No. 1125 by me?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I have not had the opportunity.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, then how can he make the statement that the amendments I offered will completely emasculate the bill, when he doesn't know what I have offered?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Northampton I would say that I have glanced at the amendments and they have been examined by one of the members of our Committee. When I speak of the amendments emasculating the bill I mean the amendments in their entirety offered by the minority.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, isn't it a fact that the way the bill is now written a new applicant for a license would have to be heard before the district board?

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, all applications, both for new licenses, transfers of existing licenses and renewals of existing licenses would be heard in the first instance by the district board.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, does the applicant have the right of appeal?
